Recover Stolen Zukor Jewels; 6 Held

$65,200 GEMS FOUND IN FLAT ON NORTH SIDE

Cafe Man and Wife Among Prisoners.

Working from the vaguest sort of clew, the police last night had recovered the $65,200 worth of jewels which were stolen early on the morning of June 14 last from the Blackstone hotel suite of Mrs. Adoph Zukor of Los Angeles, wife of the president of the Paramount-Publix Film corporation.

Six persons, four of them women, were under arrest as a result of the investigation of the burglary, which at the time it was committed the police characterized as the work of an unusually clever thief or ring of thieves. One other person, a man, is still sought. Two women, arrested with the six other suspects, were released last night after convincing the authorities of their innocence.

Tap Telephone Wires.

The arrests and recovery of the stolen jewels were due to the work of Sergt. Thomas Alcock, head of the detective bureau's jewelry detail. Assigned the case by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker and given the slender clew, Sergt. Alcock by tapping telephone wires and using other methods known to modern police science ran down the suspected gang.

Some aspects of the case were still veiled in mystery last night. While the investigators were convinced that one of the six prisoners was actually the thief in the case they were unable to say which one it was. It was explained that the arrests had been made before this point was settled to avert the escape of any of the six. The capture of the seventh suspect it is believed will clear up details which are still lacking.

Recovery of Jewels Revealed.

The jewels were recovered last Saturday in the apartment of James Weinberg, 33 years old, at 1710 North La Salle street, but this was not revealed until yesterday when an attorney for Weinberg, one of those under arrest, sought a writ of habeas corpus from Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court. The hearing was continued until 10 a. m. tomorrow after the state's attorney's office asked more time for investigation.

Weinberg, operator of a café at 847 North State street, told investigators that the jewels were left on a table in his establishment by two women, but the police said they did not believe this. The other prisoners, all arrested on Saturday, are:

DOROTHY JACOBS, 26 years old, who shares the Delaney woman's apartment.

Weinberg Under Indictment.

Weinberg, the police said, is under federal indictment in connection with the $250,000 mail robbery that occurred in the loop on Dec. 6, 1932. Edgar B. Lebensberger, owner of the 225 club, was also indicted as a result of this robbery and killed himself on the day of his indictment. Weinberg's connection with the robbery was not explained, but Clarence L. Converse, federal agent, joined Sergt. Alcock in investigating the jewel theft when he learned that Weinberg was a suspect.

Mrs. Weinberg, according to the police, has a record as a hotel prowler. They said that she was arrested in St. Louis in 1929 on a shop lifting charge and also had been under arrest in St. Louis and Kansas City on charges of hotel burglary.

Stolen Key Is Used.

A missing key was one of the mysterious elements of the jewel theft. Mrs. Zukor, visiting in Chicago, occupied a four room suite in the Blackstone. The suite had four doors on the corridor, one of which opened on Mrs. Zukor's bedroom, where she kept her jewels. Not wishing to use this door, Mrs. Zukor told the police, she put the key in the inside lock, thus making it impossible to open the door from the outside.

Sometime later her maid discovered that the key was missing, but she did not report its loss. That was on June 11. Three days afterward the jewels were stolen from the bedroom while Mrs. Zukor slept. She awoke about 4 o'clock in the morning, discovered

POLICEMEN DIG UP SOLUTION OF $5,000 MYSTERY

When Mrs. W. P. Baker, 55 South Deere Park drive, Highland Park, turned her automobile over to Jack Green, 23 years old, a garage employé, in the loop yesterday she left her purse on the rear seat. In it was a diamond ring valued at $5,000.

Green took the car to the garage, at 357 North State street. A little later, when Mrs. Baker reported her loss to the police and a squad was sent to the garage from the Chicago avenue station, it was learned that Green had gone to his home at 6028 Ingleside avenue. The squad, composed of Sergts. Thomas Lovell, George Green and William Thorp, followed and took him into custody.

After a long questioning, Green admitted that he had kept the ring and handbag, and had buried his loot under a tree near his home. Borrowing a spade, the squad dug down at the indicated spot and retrieved the ring. Green was held on a charge of larceny.

MAYOR PUTS BAN ON MISUSE OF SIREN ESCORTS

Sirens on police motorcycles will not be recognized or given special trafic privileges by either city or park policemen, according to orders issued yesterday by Mayor Kelly and concurred in by R. J. Dunham, president of the Chicago consolidated park district.

"The siren escort is a ridiculous thing," asserted Mayor Kelly. "The policemen mounted on motorcycles with the sirens screaming have been used by fellows who were in a hurry to get to the races or impress people with their importance. From now on the order is that these processions will not make any more headway than motorists without escorts."

The mayor said that frequently the siren equipped motorcycles were ridden by policemen from other towns or municipalities and that they had no special privileges on the city streets. The mayor's personal car does not carry a siren or an official badge.

Downs Ten Beers in "Marathon," Then He Dies

Garfield, N. J., July 16.—[Special.]—Conrad Dovak, who had been practicing in two or three saloons, offered to drink ten beers as fast as he could lift the glasses if some one would pay for them. Michael Piela bought the beers and the bartender lined up ten twelve ounce glasses. Dovak downed the first seven in rapid succession, but paused for breath several times over the last three. A few minutes later he collapsed and died.

Farley Tames Tammany as Dooling Wins

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Page 4.)

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Tammany Hall, shorn of much of its glory, bowed today to the will of James A. Farley, dispenser of federal patronage. The Hall offered its token of fealty to the national administration by the election of James J. Dooling as its new leader. That was done by acclamation.

Mr. Farley, who combines the position of postmaster general with those of the chairman of the Democratic national committee and the New York state committee, had issued a homely edict which had been all too intelligible to the practical members of the executive committee of Tammany.

Farley Tames Tammany.

"No Dooling, no jobs," he had announced in effect, and, sighing, the New York machine had surrendered. It marked the first time since the civil war that Tammany had been in line with a national administration. Cleveland and Wilson had been fought and so was President Roosevelt under the Curry régime, but the urbane Mr. Farley had changed all that.

Since the age of 21 Dooling has been engaged in Tammany politics. His father, the late Peter J. Dooling, was a district leader and the son succeeded to his father's position in the Fifth assembly district, a west side stronghold of the organization. Dooling was a graduate of Fordham Law school, practices law, and is a banker.

Recalls Jimmy Walker.

Reminiscent of the lamented James J. Walker, the jaunty mayor whose hasty resignation was followed by voluntary exile in Europe, is this new boss of Tammany. He is only 41, the youngest Tammany leader ever elected. His garb is snappy. He grins easily, and is known as a good fellow.

As he emerged from the squat, red brick and limestone structure on Union square which is the new Tammany hall, Dooling was welcomed in riotous fashion by the crowd of idlers always lounging near the doorway.

"It is indeed a great privilege," he said in his prepared statement, "to lead an organization I have served for the past 20 years. It is the duty of a political leader to work for good government in his community and to do his utmost to see that fit men are appointed to office.

"It will be my sole and constant aim to serve the democracy and therefore the people. I make no promises nor pledges. I will work to restore harmony in the party and direct my conduct so as to receive the support of all good Democrats. In making decisions, I will be guided by the advice of members of the executive committee and of other loyal Democrats."

The statement concluded with a ringing tribute to the national and state administrations.

"I am in hearty accord with the splendid policies of President Roosevelt and of Gov. Lehman," asserted Mr. Dooling. "I will fight with all my strength to uphold these policies."

One Candidate Out.

Until a few days ago, there were two other candidates with a chance for victory as Tammany chiefs—Stephen A. Ruddy and Edward J. Ahearn. Then Ahearn withdrew in favor of Dooling. Ruddy, branded as unacceptable to Postmaster General Farley, was not given much consideration.

So the vote today, by resolution, was by acclamation. Certain leaders, resentful of Mr. Farley's intrusion into Tammany affairs, despite the announced "hands off local politics" of the national administration, were not put to the embarrassing necessity of recording their vote.

It was announced at the meeting that John F. Curry had resigned from the organization. Curry was deposed as leader three months ago after a campaign led by Dooling to "clean up" the party, a move which was admittedly directed by Farley, who is said to desire the governorship.

AUTO PLUNGES INTO LAKE; TWO RESCUED BY KILTED SOLDIER

After a struggle in which Private Sidney Knight of the 48th Highlanders, kilted regiment from Canada, proved himself the principal hero, two young men whose automobile ran off a road and plunged into the lake south of the Naval armory, were rescued early today. The armory is at Randolph street extended.

The car occupants were Gerald Steiner, 29 years old, and Herbert Johnson, 31 years old, the driver. Both are clerks employed by Harris, Burrows & Hicks, brokers, and both reside at 10 West Elm street. They had just left a friend belonging to the Highlanders at the armory, having driven him home from a party on the World's Fair grounds when the car ran off the road.

The water at this point is about 10 feet deep. Steiner and Johnson went out through the right door of the car, a coupe, and were struggling in a dazed condition when Knight, who was on guard duty, saw them. He promptly plunged in and assisted them into a boat which arrived from a yacht in the harbor a few minutes later. He then dove down to the car to see that no one else was inside.

GOVERNOR SAYS ALIENS LEAD IN SAN FRANCISCO

Demands Public Be Protected.

Sacramento, Cal., July 16.—(AP)—Gov. Merriam tonight insisted, in a statement from his office, that order in the general strike must be preserved. He denounced the leaders as communists and declared that the rights of the citizenry must come first.

He declared that the workers themselves are being imposed upon by professional agitators, whose aim is revolution, "violent, bloody, and destructive."

"Critical and far-reaching developments caused by the general strike of workers in and around San Francisco are of such general public importance as to prompt a brief statement on the situation from me," he said.

"Before discussing the strike situation, however, and the events leading up to the walkout of thousands of workers, I want to urge the necessity for maintaining a spirit of public calm under any and all circumstances. Order must be preserved, and so far as possible, every citizen must be permitted to go about his ordinary business.

"Ample assurance has been given me that the people as a whole are definitely and aggressively supporting me in safeguarding the rights and lives of those living in the areas directly affected by the general strike.

No Hasty or Unjust Action.

"I propose no hasty, no unjust, no unnecessary action, but under the authority vested in the governor I shall act with the utmost vigor and decision.

"A general strike such as that now existing in this state is far more than a dispute between a group of employers and a group of workers; it represents an effort by one group to accomplish its purpose at the expense of the people themselves.

"This, of course, the people cannot endure; for regardless of sympathy for the interests either of one side or another in any dispute involving the rights of the employer and employé, the public stands first.

"Without regard to the merits originally involved in the dispute between striking longshoremen and shippers, the present general strike imposes undeserved and intolerable hardships upon the general population.

"More, by its very nature, the general strike challenges the authority and the ability of government to maintain itself, to protect the persons and the rights of citizens, to fulfill each and all functions necessary to the maintenance of law and order.

Hits Food Stoppage.

"There has been an interruption not only of the usual and essential transaction of public and private business but an attempt has been made—with partial success—to prevent the transportation of food and other necessaries of life into the area where the general strike exists.

"Such overreaching methods are not only a menace to the liberties, the lives, and the well being of the people, but are calculated to react with marked disadvantage to the just claims of those in whose name they are invoked.

"Let me say here, and with such emphasis as I have at my command, that I do not regard the general strike in this state as a true reflection of the attitude of the workers themselves, or of their regular leadership.

"From the inception of the strike of longshoremen and through many weeks of fruitless efforts to reach a settlement fair to all, the fact has been increasingly evident that destructive and subversive influences have been working against an agreement on any basis whatsoever.

"This should be evident to all, for the average American worker is industrious, law-abiding, self-respecting, and quickly responsive to the dictates of fair play. Had there been no outside and alien counsels provoking distrust, discord, and bitterness in this situation, a settlement would have been reached long before this, and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Recognized Even by Labor.

"This unfortunate and almost unbelievable condition has been recognized by leaders and members of organized labor. In certain instances the efforts of radicals to dominate labor's affairs have been formally denounced and repudiated. A more active and intensified drive to rid this state and nation of alien radical agitators should be undertaken by the workers themselves if they are to enjoy the confidence of the people.

"Fully as much as the employers in this state, the workers have been handicapped and exploited by known communists and professional agitators—men and women who cloak their

VIGILANTE DAYS RETURN TO CITY OF GOLDEN GATE

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
(Picture on Back Page.)

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—Vigilante methods, for which San Francisco repeatedly has been famous, were revived today when Mayor Angelo Rossi named a committee of 500 citizens to obtain and distribute food and other vital necessities.

Volunteers in numbers were appearing all day at city hall to turn in their names. Sub-groups were being formed to handle the distribution of such commodities and services as gasoline, fresh foods, trucking, and general distribution. Civic clubs and business organizations sent in offers of aid.

It was expected that drivers for produce and food trucks would be recruited from among business men and others outside the strikers' ranks, should the promised relaxation by the strikers not be carried out to the complete satisfaction of the citizenry.

Tells of British Strike Collapse.

San Francisco newspapers today were filled with accounts of the general strike in England in 1926, and the fashion in which it collapsed as a result of the coöperation between government and volunteer groups of the population.

Ferries, telephones, telegraph, newspaper, electric light and power and water utilities are all operating, and the tieup in its most essential aspects concerns the matter of the movement of foodstuffs into the strike area.

The city is well stocked with groceries and staple foodstuffs, according to a survey made by city officials. Some foodstuffs began moving in the early forenoon in trucks under military guard, but mostly they were filled with provender for the militiamen, although a few trucks of perishables were seen in the produce district.

Military occupation of the entire city is expected within the near future.

All Must Have Passes.

At 9:30 this morning the troopers, began to take over the commission area bounded by Sacramento, Drumm, Jackson streets and the Embarcadero. Persons in the district without passes were warned to leave.

Four generals were in charge of the troops. They were Generals David P. Barrows, Seth Howard, W. E. Mason, and R. E. Mittelstaedt, whose rank was raised from colonel to brigadier general.

The area went under military occupation for the protection of foodstuffs. A tour of the district at noon found it almost deserted save for the soldiery and some of the commission merchants and employés. The ancient Barbary Coast, which sought to open up after repeal but was shut down again with its row of new bedizened dance halls, was deserted except for a few passing automobiles.

As to the federal troops, rumors popped up from time to time that they were to be ordered out, but they lacked foundation.

Have Plans All Ready.

United States army forces in the Presidio, however, are reported in readiness to step in, if called, under a plan of operation that was adopted some time ago for use in any emergency. In case the strike should produce violence and get out of hand, the expectation is that a call would be made for aid of federal troops. The last time the city was under military rule was during the fire and earthquake of 1906, when the army at the Presidio took charge. Officers said any

UNIONS RELAX TIGHT HOLD ON BAY DISTRICT

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—Despite the presence of 7,000 National Guardsmen and 2,000 policemen, violence and bloodshed started today as the pall of a general strike settled down over San Francisco's business.

A crowd of 1,500 twice attacked a grocery store this afternoon, smashing the windows and making off with food. Two policemen and two communists were injured in a raid in Oakland. Four, including two women, were arrested.

Business men today sent an appeal for martial rule both to Gov. Frank F. Merriam and to Washington. Gov. Merriam this evening declared that violence and interference with normal life would not be tolerated. There was no step, however, toward declaring martial law.

Ask Roosevelt to Act.

The San Francisco board of supervisors, city-county governing body, adopted a resolution requesting President Roosevelt to come to the strike crippled community and attempt to "overcome the present impasse."

Martial law for the entire city within 24 hours was urged in a resolution adopted by the North Central Improvement association, a civic group.

Car Workers Back on Job.

The grip of the strike was loosened slightly late today. The joint strike committee, under the leadership of Harry R. Bridges, late this afternoon urged the workers of the municipal owned car lines to go back to work. These never had struck officially—they merely did not appear for work this morning. The independent lines' workers, however, were not mentioned in the request and still are striking.

Shortly after the call the municipal lines opened. Many downtown workers and professional men, forced to walk to their offices and stores this morning, were able to ride home tonight.

Hugh Johnson on Scene.

The steering committee of the strike likewise opened channels allowing a wider distribution of essentials than had originally been planned.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, flew here from Portland, Ore., late this afternoon, declaring immediately upon his arrival that "the strike must stop."

Gen. Johnson arrived at Crissy field, army airport at the San Francisco presidio, after a short stop at Oakland, but announced he had no statement to make. He left for a hotel in an army automobile to confer with city authorities. He said that if he was "unable to do anything" he would leave for Los Angeles.

Seek to Set Up Stores.

Strike leaders promised that ample food supplies would be allowed to enter the city. They first announced their intention of setting up their own supply depots where citizens could purchase fresh foods and meats, only to meet opposition by Mayor Angelo Rossi and state authorities, who insisted such a procedure would be revolutionary.

The entire commission district was an armed camp. Troops barricaded streets, set up machine guns on the roofs of strategically located buildings, and army tanks pushed their noses into the streets at intervals.

Bridge Builders Join Strike.

The "neutral" citizenry was tense with excitement throughout the day, and many, unable to contain their curiosity, made their way into the streets to see for themselves what was doing. There were many fights. Stores were ransacked and homes were broken into and wrecked. Union pickets "warned" white collar workers not to go to work this morning, and numerous battles resulted.

About 2,700 men working on the 75 million dollar San Francisco-Oakland bridge were the latest to join the strike. Their presence swelled the ranks of the strikers to more than 100,000 in San Francisco and its suburbs, while 40,000 more are scheduled to go on a general strike in Alameda county in the morning. Many unions there "jumped the gun," however, and were already on strike, paralyzing commerce and industry.

The strategy committee, which originally had limited the number of restaurants to remain open at nineteen, late today announced it would sanction the operation of a larger number, sufficient to take care of the demands of the public. It likewise revised its previous plans to permit an enlarged flow of meat, bread, vegetables, milk, ice, and other necessities.

Preparations by city and state authorities to keep these vital services in operation already had been well organized before the strikers announced relaxation of their rigid clamp on everything, and supplies soon were reported moving into the city.

Residents Fear the Worst.

Uncertainty appeared on every hand as anxious residents fearfully waited for the consequences events were shaping. A great community was unbalanced by the terrific blow organized labor had dealt to business.

Most of those in the streets were pedestrians, for the shortage of gasoline and the strike of street car men and taxicab drivers left the streets empty of vehicular traffic.

Military occupation of the city for the first time since the fire of 1906 is expected by some officials. Trucks filled with soldiers with steel helmets rumbled all day long along the Embarcadero, fringing the water front.

At the Presidio, military headquarters here, seasoned troops of the regular army stood ready for a call. Five hundred men of the 30th infantry were reported ready for duty and officers said 300 more soldiers could be mustered almost immediately if they were needed.

District Attorney Matthew Brady announced that all persons arrested for rioting or other disorders during the strike will be given summary trial. He said he would request judges not to allow more than three days for preparation for defense.

"This entire situation will be changed," he said, "should martial law be declared. Summary trial before a military court may then be the fate of many an arrested person."

Senator Wagner Leaving for West.

In Washington the announcement was made that Senator Wagner of New York was leaving this afternoon for Portland to act as a mediator in the longshoremen's strike which is considered the core of the now widespread labor controversy.

Thousands of persons mopped their sweating brows as they were forced to walk to office or shop through silent city streets that appeared almost eerie without the usual clatter of street cars and the roar of motor trafic. Many of the perspiring pedestrians carried their lunch in a bundle under their arm, for only 19 of the city's 2,000 restaurants were still open.

Bicycles and roller skates were resorted to by numerous grownups as they hurried along, brief cases and lunches in hand or strapped to their "bikes." It was a long walk for many and they had to get up early to tramp the miles that separated them from their work.

Workers Crowd Hotels.

Hotels were crowded to overflowing by downtown toilers who had decided to remain in the business district over night rather than trudge the long way home and back. Newspapers, banks, and business concerns quartered employés in hotels to avoid interference with normal operation.

One observer walked a dozen blocks and spotted only five trucks in operation. Two of them were delivering bread, two were milk trucks, and one was collecting garbage. These were among the "essential services" given exemption by the strike committee from the general order to organized labor to cease work.

The few private passenger automobiles that were on the streets were loaded down with passengers who had "thumbed" a ride to relieve their weary feet.

"Ask" Liquor Stores to Close.

Among the few establishments remaining open were the liquor stores, but they were due for a jolt from the strikers. At the headquarters of the International Longshoremen's association it was announced that a committee had been formed to visit San Francisco liquor stores and "request" them to stop sales.

In Oakland creosote bombs were hurled through the windows of stores and homes. Numerous trucks bearing food were overturned. Service station operators were threatened and stones hurled through their windows.

The mayor mobilized a committee of 500 prominent individuals to engineer the distribution of necessities. A committee of strikers also made plans to feed residents by establishing depots where all fresh provisions except meat would be sold.

The strikers also organized a "police" force to preserve order among union men. Unionists were threatened with disciplinary action from their locals for any acts of violence.

With gasoline a highly precious fluid, the only fuel being dispensed in the city was at a municipally operated central station, where city police, fire and health departments, and hospitals and physicians were supplied.

Portland Voting on Strike.

Portland, Ore., July 16.—[Special.]—Portland's various unions will start voting today on the question of calling a general strike, it was announced by labor leaders.

Meantime the harbor was deadlocked and not more than a few hundred gallons of gasoline were left in the city and adjacent territory for the motoring public. Arrangements were made for a supply of fuel for the emergency vehicles of police agencies and physicians.

Surveys in Oakland today showed a shortage but not so severe a one as in San Francisco.

Fresh meat and vegetables were practically non-existent. All butcher shops and meat counters were closed.

Several chain stores were open but proprietors were uncertain what they would do tomorrow. Continued delivery of milk, bread and ice was promised by union leaders.

Plans were perfected for delivery of necessary foods for public relief institutions and hospitals.

Restaurants began closing today. Millions of dollars of food in storage remaineed unavailable for lack of transportation.

A meeting of all union business agents in Portland was called for tomorrow afternoon. Labor leaders promised to give at least 24 hours' notice in case a general strike is called however.

Map shows location of San Francisco, where general strike has choked business, and its relation to other important centers in vicinity.

SEATTLE UNIONISTS FIGHT TO PREVENT ANY GENERAL STRIKE

Seattle, Wash., July 16.—[Special.]—Seattle, scene of the general strike of 1919, today found its labor leaders fighting to prevent the spread to this city of the general strike in effect in San Francisco and threatened in Portland, Ore.

Despite the efforts of those laborites who remember the experience of 15 years ago, J. C. Bjorklund, western district secretary of the International Longshoremen's association, said tonight he feared the general strike would, if not settled soon, "spread to Seattle and all along the coast."

Some groups also were ready to make a fight for general strike authorization at the meeting of the central labor council Wednesday night.

Meanwhile the fuel shortage grew more acute in Seattle with the marine strike tying up oil tankers. Most apartment houses were without heat, and hot water service to tenants was curtailed to two hours or less in the morning and the same time in the evening.

8,000 Pecan Shellers on Strike at San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex., July 16.—(AP)—Eight thousand pecan shellers, most of them women, struck for higher wages today, paralyzing San Antonio's pecan shelling industry.

The strikers are demanding that shellers now paid 2 and 3 cents a pound be raised to 5 and 6 cents, and that machine operators, who crack pecans, be raised from 25 and 30 cents to 50 cents or more for cracking 100 pounds of the nuts. The union says the hours are 14 to 18 a day for an average of 20 cents.

SPREAD STRIKE TO EVERY PORT, SAYS RED PAPER

Daily Worker Appeals to Communists.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Communists of the United States were urged today by the newspaper Daily Worker, organ of the communist party U. S. A., section of communist internationale, to spread the San Francisco strike to every American port.

The newspaper, in a first page editorial under the caption "For Victory of the General Strike," declares:

"In every port in the United States the communists should take the lead in the most energetic campaign to extend the dock and seamen's strike to cover the whole country.

Asks All to Join.

"Now is the time for the east, south, and gulf ports to join their brothers and win for themselves recognition and better conditions.

"Defeat the terror and provocation and lies of the bosses!

"Spread the marine strike to every port!

"Act now to insure the victory of the general strike—which will be a victory for the entire working class of the United States!"

Assails Strategy Committee.

Daily Worker charges that Edward D. Vandeleur and his strategy committee tried to avoid and impede the strike and asserts that unless the workers through a "broad rank and file general strike committee" take the strike conduct of the strike into their own hands they are in for "the most rotten treachery."

Every A. F. of L. union and workers' organization is called upon to flood Gov. Merriam and Mayor Rossi with resolutions of protest and the strikers with resolutions of sympathy and solidarity. The editorial also urges sympathy strikes wherever possible.

Strike Echoes in New York.

The executive committee of the American Steamship Owners' association will meet tomorrow afternoon. It will discuss demands by labor organizations for a general conference on the questions of recognition, higher pay, and better working conditions.

If a strike should follow it would affect 15,000 workers, including tugboat operators, those engaged in oceanic and coastwise shipping, on the regular harbor craft.

Pickets of the Marine Workers' Industrial union called on longshoremen here to refuse to unload the Grace liner, Santa Paula, from the Pacific coast, charging that the ship was loaded by nonunion workers. The longshoremen are on strike at San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, and other ports.

Leaders of the Marine Workers' Industrial union agreed at a membership meeting today to present the question of calling a strike to its members on Wednesday night.

GOVERNOR CALLS SAN FRANCISCO STRIKE REVOLT

Communists Impose on Unions, He Says.

sinister purposes under hypocritical appeals for human rights, but whose actual purpose is revolution, violent, bloody and destructive.

"It is the plotting of such alien and vicious schemers—not the legitimate and recognized objects of bona fide American workers—that has intensified, magnified and aggravated our labor problems.

"The principles of collective bargaining, the right of workers to organize, the justice of laws governing hours of labor and conditions under which labor shall perform its services, are definitely a part of our economic and social establishment.

"Such questions are not here involved. My concern at this time is to provide protection for all who may be menaced by any misdirection or violent action arising from a conflict for which the general public is not responsible and of which it has become an innocent victim.

Concern Is for Innocent.

"My concern is the feeling of many thousands of men, women, and children whose ordinary sources of supply have been temporarily cut off.

"It should be borne in mind that no violence occurred in the maritime strike at San Francisco until an effort was made by the police to protect trucks loaded with shipments that had remained on the docks for many weeks.

"It should likewise be remembered that I did not order the California National Guard to proceed to the San Francisco waterfront until I received notice from an alien, speaking in behalf of the striking longshoremen, that further operation by the state of California of its state owned belt line railroad along the state owned harbor would not be 'permitted.'

"When this defiant message first was delivered I sent back an appeal for abandonment of such an impossible and intolerable challenge of the government's authority. In response I received an even more insolent warning to abandon further operation of the belt line railroad during the existence of the strike.

Summarizes Activities.

"Before I signed the order instructing the National Guard to take necessary steps for the protection of life and the maintenance of order along the waterfront the following, among other things, occurred:

"Strikers stopped the state's belt line trains, pulled engineers and firemen from their posts, threatened them with bodily injury and used other methods of intimidation.

"Following my assurance to strike leaders that I should operate the railroad at all costs, a freight car operating on the state owned belt line was burned.

"Then followed the bloody conflict between strikers and the San Francisco police. Two men were killed outright, two others died from their injuries, nearly a score were severely wounded, and more than 100 persons were sent to the hospital.

"With the arrival of the National Guard, rioting ceased and order was restored. Under thoroughly trained and thoroughly competent commanders, the National Guard has protected life and maintained order up to this time without the shedding of blood and without imposing any hardships or indignities upon any individual or group.

Sends More Troops.

"Acting according to my own judgment, and in response to an appeal from the municipal authorities of San Francisco, I have sent additional troops into San Francisco and other points where public peace and order have been threatened.

"If the troops now in service prove inadequate I shall take whatever steps may become necessary to serve the general good.

"I repeat, the present walk out does not raise any question as to the right of any man or group of men to strike. That right is recognized. It does not present to me any question as to the merits of the dispute between any group of workers and any group of employers. Such disputes are subject to settlement by mutual agreement, by mediation or by arbitration.

"It is my earnest hope that reason and restraint will dominate the activities and the deliberations of the strikers themselves.

"The steps that I have taken are not discriminatory—they are not directed against any peaceful, lawful action or assemblage.

Seeks a Speedy Peace.

"Anything that I can do to bring this unfortunate dispute to a speedy, equitable conclusion will be done. To such a desirable end all good citizens should strive; for the stupendous costs of this strike are felt and shared by the workers, the employers, and the general public.

"In conclusion, I want to say that there must be no misunderstanding of my position in this matter.

"Without unnecessary gestures or explanations, I propose to meet the crisis which the people have been called upon to face.

"Every branch of the law enforcement machinery of the state has been called to coöperate with me in carrying out my duty. A workable system has been developed in which farm supplies and other food stuffs shall be moved under guard into the strike area.

"Proper protection will be afforded those engaged in distributing these necessaries to the people. It goes without saying that only those who undertake by violence or attempts at intimidation to interrupt this essential service will stand in danger of arrest or injury.

"It might as well be clearly understood now, however, that I propose to maintain order and to enforce the law. Force will be used only where the authority of government is challenged and where fully justified.

Asks All to Help.

"I call upon all good citizens, regardless of their individual interests or sympathies, to aid me in serving to the state and the people of California at this time.

"Let us be temperate in speech and in action; but above all let us be true to the standards and traditions of an Americanism that counts no cost too great for the protection of the principles and ideals which have governed our people for more than a century and a half.

"With good will, strong hearts, and balanced judgment, this present crisis will be brought to a quick and satisfactory conclusion. I ask your active and moral support."

HOW STRIKE AFFECTS ESSENTIAL SUPPLIES TOLD IN SUMMARY

San Francisco, Calif., July 16.—[Special.]—Some of the high spots of the general strike here and in bay district cities follow in the order of their importance to the beleaguered communities:

Food Shortage—No fresh fruit, vegetables or meat. Many stores closed after supplies were sold out. Transportation of supplies from points outside city effectively throttled. Canned foods on shelves rapidly diminishing and sales of other rations limited by grocers to a few pounds per customer.

Gasoline—All service stations in city closed except three which are municipally controlled. Fuel being provided only to police, fire, health and physician's emergency cars. Thousands of private cars stored for duration of strike.

Transportation—Labor leaders instruct workers of municipal street car lines to return to work. Operation resumed late in day. Privately owned lines and taxicab service cut off.

Restaurants—Only 19 of the city's 2,000 restaurants in operation. Strike committee permitted the 19 to remain open to prevent starvation among strikers and others.

Garbage—Though somewhat slowed down, garbage was being moved when strike committee exempted garbage trucks from general walkout following Health Officer J. C. Geiger's warning that bubonic plague and an epidemic of rats might result.

Beer and Liquor—Beer supply very low and liquor stores requested to close. Bartenders on strike.

Barber Shops—Tonsorial service terminated as barbers join strike.

Telephone, Electricity, Water and Gas—Still in operation.

Funerals—Special permits for union herse and hack drivers being issued by strike committee.

VIGILANTE DAYS COME BACK TO SAN FRANCISCO

Citizens Organize to Supply City.

call for federal troops would have to come from President Roosevelt and the war department.

At a conference of naval and marine corps officials at Mare Island navy yard preparations were made to move sailors and marines into the strike area if Washington so orders. Officials said there were 200 marines and 1,200 sailors available from the cruisers San Francisco and Cincinnati and several destroyers.

Meanwhile the "vigilante" committee of 500 named by Mayor Rossi began to function. Volunteers in numbers were driving to the city hall all day long and turning in their names.

Subgroups were being formed covering all vital essentials, gasoline, food supplies, trucking, and general distribution. Civic clubs and business organizations sent in offers of aid. Drivers for produce and food trucks may be recruited from among the business men and others outside the ranks of the strikers.

On the Embarcadero, from time to time, a two truck caravan of meats and canned goods drove in under military escort, with a truck in front and one behind filled with soldiers in steel helmets. Mostly they were carrying supplies for the soldiers.

Night clubs closed at midnight. Curtains came down at the movie theaters. A snuffer was placed on the celebrated night life of San Francisco.

In San Francisco, one of the greatest "restaurant cities" in the world, known in verse and story for its viands, only 19 restaurants were operating under accredited cards issued by the union.

Merchants Stand in Doors.

Merchants stood in store entrances and customers seemed few and far between.

Beneath the situation is a struggle between the conservative element in organized labor, which has built up San Francisco as one of the greatest organized labor cities in America in the last fifty years, and a minority of radicals, some of them communists, who appear to have gained the saddle.

Conservative labor men say the riotings and shootings of July 5 would not have taken place had it not been for the activities of a small crowd of radicals who were out inciting violence.

The strike committee contends that the strike is called as an answer to attempts by some employers to use the National Industrial Recovery act as a weapon against organized labor. With the general strike clamped on, the longshoremen's strike for recognition of the union and control of the "hiring halls," where stevedores are hired to load and unload cargoes, seems to have dropped out of sight.

The employers say they gave recognition and agreed to submit all issues in controversy to arbitration. The agreement, signed by national officials of the longshoremen's association, was overridden by the men.

Blame Outside Influences.

The infiltration of more than 1,500 outsiders, strangers of radical tendencies from other ports, into the longshoremen, who, when the port was going strongest, numbered only about 2,500, is held by many to be the reason for the overthrow of the agreement, with apparent aim of keeping trouble stirred up.

In its framework appears much evidence to support the charges made by most of the newspapers here and by conservative union men and leading citizens, that the longshoremen's strike was inflated and kept from arbitration by a radical element, a small but intensely active minority, as part of a concerted plan to precipitate a general strike up and down the Pacific coast and in industrial cities east of the Rockies to plunge the country into widespread industrial trouble of revolutionary proportions.

Labrador Woodsmen Strike; Police Ordered to Scene

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, July 16.—Fifty policemen will leave tomorrow by steamer for the Alexis river, ten miles north of Battle Harbor, Labrador, to enforce order in a strike of woodsmen. The strikers were employed by contractors of the Labrador Development company. Concessions to cut wood for export were granted to this and other syndicates by the royal commission government established by Great Britain last February in Newfoundland, to relieve unemployment and reduce the debt.

STRIKE EPIDEMIC FINDS NEW DEAL WITHOUT REMEDY

Trouble Expected, but Not So Serious.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Administration recovery agencies stood by comparatively helpless today while labor unrest fomented under the New Deal boiled up in San Francisco and a dozen other centers throughout the country.

Strikes during the summer months were looked for as an inevitable part of the shaking down process incident to the ushering in of the "new economic era" in which labor should exercise new rights and new powers.

But the general strike in the metropolitan area of one of the country's largest cities and strikes and threats of strikes in numerous other localities have set Washington officialdom worrying more than a little. Indications are, however, that for the time being at least the administration will let the violent tangle of troubles work themselves out, federal help being offered only at points where it proves feasible.

President May Step In.

It has been suggested that the one means to a quick peace would be for President Roosevelt to put in a personal appearance at San Francisco. He used his authority and persuasion to settle difficulties in the soft coal, steel, and automotive industries. But, to date, no plans have been made to change the original schedule which will bring the U. S. S. Houston with the President aboard to Portland, Ore., Aug. 3.

The only color of White House intervention came from the departure of Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York for Portland to act as mediator of the longshoremen's strike in that area. The services of the senator, who was head of the old national labor board, were requested by the longshoremen's board and announcement of his departure was made through the White House.

Two other officials were on their way to the Pacific coast also at the request of the longshoremen's board. Joseph S. Myers, labor department conciliator at Dallas, Tex., and P. A. Donoghue, chief examiner of the national labor relations board, were en route for San Francisco to assist in the work of the mediators whom the President set up as a special board to work for arbitration and peace.

Secretary Perkins Silent.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins kept in touch with the strike situation through Assistant Secretary McGrady, but maintained a hands-off policy and declined to make any public comment.

From the war department came a denial that federal troops had been asked for. In a critical emergency a corps area commander may use federal troops to protect federal courts, officials and property without sanction from higher up. But consultation with the war department is customary.

Though Gen. Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, was due to arrive in the strike area today, the NRA was described as without an opening through which it could intervene in any way.

There is no shipping code. The one prepared after lengthy negotiations was sent back by the President about a month ago for revision, probably to be split up into divisional codes according to the several and highly diversified types of activity making up the industry.

Even were there a shipping code, it was pointed out, the NRA still would have no means of applying pressure on the strikers. The NRA is not a system which works both ways. It is directed solely at employers.

U. OF CALIFORNIA CANCELS SPEECH BY GEN. JOHNSON

Berkeley, Cal., July 16.—(AP)—Following refusal of Berkeley police to give him protection University of California authorities announced today the cancelation of a meeting at which Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, was to have spoken here tomorrow.

The officials gave no reason for the cancelation but it followed shortly after the police department's refusal to assign men to protect the federal administrator to and from the campus where he was to speak on "Business and Government."

He was to have received an honorary Phi Beta Kappa key.

CROWDS FLEEING STRIKE THRONG TO LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—People deserting San Francisco have been arriving here all day and all night, the tide of travel moving by bus, train, plane, and private autos.

Every public transportation arrival from the bay city was filled to capacity. Hotels in downtown Los Angeles and Hollywood enjoyed an unexpected surge of patronage as a result.

MARKET STREET LIKE CENTER OF A GHOST CITY

Tanks, Soldiers and Curious in View.

Army tanks, machine guns, barricades, bayonets, violence, fear, uncertainty, and frustration leered through streets noted as strongholds of gayety. "The city that knows how" was in its blackest eclipse since the devastating earthquake and fire of 1906.

The famous Market street was a two mile long canyon of commercial vacuity.

Rooftops on the seven hills of the city were filled with countless curious, watching, waiting, unable to go on with the regular tempo of life.

The Embarcadero, five mile long thoroughfare fringing the waterfront, was turned into an ultimate line of "defense" by 4,000 National Guardsmen.

Plan to Block Area.

From that famous street the guardsmen began pushing into the industrial section of the city, erecting barricades as they went. The object apparently was to block off the commission house district, so that life's necessities could be landed behind the lines by ferryboats.

Tanks could be seen poking their deadly noses from strategic points. How many were behind the guard lines was not known.

Machine guns were everywhere along the waterfront and in the commission house district—mounted at strategic places on the Embarcadero and on the roofs of produce buildings. They spoke silently but eloquently of Acting Governor Frank F. Merriam's avowed determination to move food to the people despite the blockade of strike pickets against incoming trucks.

Policemen walked in pairs or in squads. On riot calls they dashed to the scenes of trouble in great numbers, ready for anything.

See Bizarre Signs.

Promenading citizens, bent on watching the spectacle of industrial blight, were treated to a bizarre form of entertainment in the signs on tightly closed business places.

"Out of soap," one barber shop sign said.

"Closed for the duration," a restaurant ambiguously proclaimed.

"I've gone fishing; why don't you?" offered another place.

The closing of laundries developed a run on men's shirts and collars.

Two stores reported an unusual demand for roller skates. One young woman wanted a pair so she could skate to work today and for transportation to a party tonight.

Eggplants Most of Stock.

The biggest food market in town had only two dozen eggplants, six ears of corn and one watermelon for its entire fresh vegetable stock.

One big store had a good supply of tinned sardines. A run developed when downtown buyers discovered the fact.

Strikers were reported making the rounds of retail stores and tobacconists, ordering them to close. Banks kept open, but large commercial business was at a standstill.

You could buy diamonds but not doughnuts.

Regular liquor stores began closing after a strike committee started a canvass and "requested" them to stop business.

Chinese laundries, blissfully unconcerned over the strike, finally began to close when committees visited them.

WAR OF MACKEREL FLEET IS BROUGHT BEFORE UNCLE SAM

Gloucester, Mass., July 16.—(AP)—The menace of gunplay on the high seas hung over the faction torn mackerel fleet of this famous seaport tonight.

Capt. John Morash of the schooner Leretha complained that his schooner was overhauled 12 miles off the coast by the schooner Natalie II. and he was ordered, at gunpoint, to put his ship about. Morash did, and today this port was in a turmoil and its mackerel fleet of 60 ships tied securely to the wharves.

Capt. Morash, 6 feet 3 inches, took his case to United States officials at Boston. He was offered a coast guard boat as an escort, if necessary.

UNION OFFICIALS SURRENDER FOR FLOGGING QUIZ

Steve Sumner, Jack Smith, and James Kennedy, officials of the milk wagon drivers' union, surrendered in the Fillmore street court yesterday on disorderly conduct warrants issued in connection with the flogging of five nonunion employés of a dairy last week. Later the three officials were questioned by Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney.

"This office will never tolerate such actions by any union," Gilbert informed the labor leaders.

"We know nothing of the occurrence," Sumner replied. "You know I wouldn't whip men to make them join a union and neither the union nor I would allow such a thing to be done. It hurts union labor. Our union worked with the state's attorney in fighting racketeers and we are law abiding."

The three were named in warrants because previous to the flogging they called on the owner of the dairy and advised him to unionize his dairy.

LOS ANGELES REGIMENT GOES TO STRIKE ZONE

Los Angeles, Calif., July 16.—[Special.]—The 160th Infantry, a Los Angeles regiment of the state's National Guard with one pounders and machine guns, as well as gas bombs, was enroute to San Francisco today. Col. Harcourt Hervey is in command of 1,032 men and 60 officers. A radio broadcast from police headquarters had summoned all police officers who were members of the 160th to report at once to the armory.

BRIDGES, STRIKE LEADER, CAST AS MAN OF MYSTERY

Sharp Voice Carries in Noisiest Crowds.

HARRY R. BRIDGES

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—[Special.] — Harry R. Bridges, radical leader of the Joint Marine Strike committee, and the man to whom principle responsibility for the general strike is credited, has been a figure of mystery among even his own followers here.

A thin man of medium height, with jet black hair and sallow complexion, he is sharp featured, with large dark flashing eyes and a sharp voice which carries before even the noisiest crowds.

Silent on Citizenship.

While commonly referred to as an Australian alien and a communist, he seldom talks about his naturalization status, and when asked he smiles slightly and, as he does in many other situations, changes the subject.

In addressing crowds he speaks fast, but frequently stops while he searches for words.

While many members of the strike committee profess a suspicion of him, he manages to lead them in any mass vote.

His first citizenship papers were taken out at New Orleans July 13, 1921, federal records show. In these he gave May 7, 1920, as his date of entry, saying he entered at this port as a deserting seaman. He failed to file second papers within the required period, but in 1928 appeared here and on Aug. 9 filed a new application for citizenship.

Active in Promoting Strike.

In this second application he said he arrived here April 12, 1920, at the age of 20, but made no mention of jumping ship. He said he was a member of the Sailor's union, but did not name his ship.

Bridges has been active in promoting the general strike, several weeks ago having caused a circular letter to be sent out to all unions by the longshoremen's strike committee, of which he also is chairman.

DRUG STORE MANAGER ROBBED.

DEPUTIES HURL GAS TO ROUT KOHLER PICKETS

Cars of Coal Dumped to Block Tracks.

Kohler, Wis., July 16.—(AP)—Police used tear gas late today in an ineffectual attempt to disperse strike pickets who waylaid six coal cars approaching the Kohler company plant, headed by former Gov. Walter J. Kohler.

Although routed momentarily by the fumes, the pickets surged back to block the cars with railroad ties. After that youths in the crowd opened the hoppers. The coal in four of the cars piled up on the right of way.

Toss Gas Bomb Back.

Village Marshal Hack Case and a half dozen special deputies, who hurled the gas, were routed in turn when a picket retrieved one of the bombs and tossed it back at the officers.

Strikers seemed satisfied with the results of the first day of the blockade, in which they turned back an interurban car carrying plant employés from Sheboygan and barred most of the office personnel from the grounds. About 1,000 pickets, displaying American flags, pictures of President Roosevelt and painted slogans, paraded constantly about the limits of the four blocks long plant.

Kohler company officials made no further comment on the strike, in which union No. 18545 of the American Federation of Labor demands its recognition as collective bargaining agent under the NRA, a 40 hour week, and a minimum hourly wage of 65 cents for common labor instead of 40 cents. Arthur Kuhn, union president, announced the strikers will make no concessions in these demands.

Asks for Orderly Picketing.

Anton Brotz, a Kohler plant official and president of Kohler village, which has come to be known as the "model village" because of the previous harmonious relationship between employer and employés, issued a statement today urging village residents to observe the laws covering peaceful picketing.

The message followed the morning turmoil in which Chris Leining, 40, of Sheboygan, was clubbed over the head as he and other pickets sought to bar office workers from reporting. Pickets, who said August Miller, a deputy sherif, wielded the club, pommeled Miller before he was rescued by other deputies. Neither was seriously injured.

WOMAN IS HELD AFTER BOSTON STRIKE MEETING

Boston, Mass., July 16.—(AP)—Two persons, a man and a woman, were arrested outside Faneuil hall on charges of circulating "inflammatory literature" as members of local unions affiliated with the International Longshoremen's association conducted a massmeeting tonight to discuss their attitude toward the San Francisco strike.

The meeting broke up without definite action, although John J. Doolan, international vice president of the union, said later: "The sentiment of members is to support the San Francisco strike."

HOUSEWIFE'S LIFE AN UNHAPPY ONE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Most of Trouble's in Her Department.

San Francisco, July 16.—(AP)—Not much real hardship yet—but inconvience aplenty was the lot of the San Francisco housewife today in the general strike. Here are some of the "why's":

She couldn't get any groceries delivered.

If she trailed to the store on foot, she couldn't buy any meat, butter, or eggs, any fresh vegetables, or fruit.

She couldn't use the family car, because her husband used it to get to work—if he still had any gasoline in the tank.

Canned Vegetables for Baby.

There were no vegetables to strain for the baby's diet—but the canned kind she fortunately had stocked up on.

The laundry bundle she prepared from long habit and put on the front porch stayed there untouched.

The washerwoman didn't arrive.

She tried to order a few needed household things from a department store, but was told deliveries were being made by mail only—and that perhaps after tomorrow there would be none.

Her things didn't come back from the cleaners and she could get no idea when they would.

Birthday Party's Off.

Little Marjorie was tearful because it was her birthday and there was no promised movie to go to, and her party had to be called off because the children couldn't come, and there wasn't enough butter in the house to make the cake.

Son Joe was grumpy because she wouldn't let him beg a ride downtown to "see what it looks like," and because the boy he phoned to make a tennis date said he wasn't going to walk all that way to the courts.

Spark, the spaniel, rolled a reproachful eye at a skimpy portion of canned dog meat, and as for the Jones' Great Dane—he has become a major problem.

Beauty Major Sufferer.

The housewife couldn't go downtown to keep her appointment at the department store beauty shop, and she found the one in her neighborhood closed. [Later she found out the president of the beauty shop association announced all 600 shops belonging had been ordered closed, because some shops reported bricks had been thrown through windows.]

Her gas heater was giving unlimited hot water, but some of her apartment friends told her by phone the fuel oil was almost gone and they were to be on rations tomorrow.

Milk and bread still were available, but she couldn't find out how long they might be.

FINES 2 FOR DISORDER AT FAIR.

Glenn Weaver, 28 years old, of South Bend, and R. J. Allen, 26 years old, of Sacramento, Cal., were fined $5 each yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli for becoming disorderly in the Streets of Paris concession at the World's Fair Sunday night.

TRUCK DRIVERS VOTE TO STRIKE IN MINNEAPOLIS

Last Minute Proposals for Peace Fail.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 16.—(AP)—Minneapolis union truck drivers voted by acclamation tonight to strike at midnight, confirming previous action taken by the union.

Efforts to avert the strike failed following refusal of twenty-two employers of the city market district tonight to accept a peace proposal offered by Gov. Floyd B. Olson and E. H. Dunnigan, federal conciliator.

Demand Higher Wages.

The drivers are demanding higher wages and the right to represent "inside" workers. The market district has been the hub of the differences with employers.

Although the 22 employers rejected the peace proposal, they submitted a counter suggestion.

Carried to the final strike meeting with union leaders preparing to append their recommendations to it, the employers' counter proposal set forth their previous attitude of holding to their own interpretation of the regional labor board's recommendations, which have been disrupted by the drivers and employers alike.

The employers' answer, addressed to Dunnigan, said in part:

"We cannot accept the proposed settlement of the existing controversy on the basis set forth in your letter. We offer as a counter proposal the following:

"We will arbitrate wages for truck drivers in accordance with the order of the regional labor board.

Offer to Arbitrate.

"We will arbitrate wages for all other employes not covered by the order of the regional labor board, but these employes shall be classed in one group and to be known and designated as warehouse employés, and shall not include salesmen nor office employes.

"Determination of the right of local 574 [drivers' union] to represent our warehouse employes shall be by comparison of payrolls with paid up union membership as to this date; majority rule to govern."

Details of the proposal from Gov. Olson and Dunnigan still were kept secret, but they were believed to involve a wage adjustment for employes in the city market, focal point of the union's attack.

CAPTURE TWO WOUNDED MEN; SUSPECT HOLDUP

Monroe, Mich., July 16.—(AP)—Three men, two of them wounded, and their woman companion, found with a quantity of money and five revolvers in an automobile near the Ohio state line tonight, were being questioned here about the $19,000 robbery of the Page Dairy company in Toledo earlier in the day.

The arrests of the suspects was announced here by Deputy Sherifs Walter Komesteller and Walter Feltz. The prisoners gave their names as Arnold Perry, 25, Toledo, O.; Carl Lewis, 20, Chicago; Sam Kauffman, 25, Chicago, and his wife, Esther Kauffman 23.

The deputies said they caught up with the quartet on U. S. 23, four miles north of the Ohio state line, near Samaria, Mich.

They said that Kauffman was suffering from a bullet wound in the left shoulder and that Lewis had a scalp wound. Authorities said Lewis claimed as his a bloodstained straw hat found this afternoon by a farmer near Samaria.

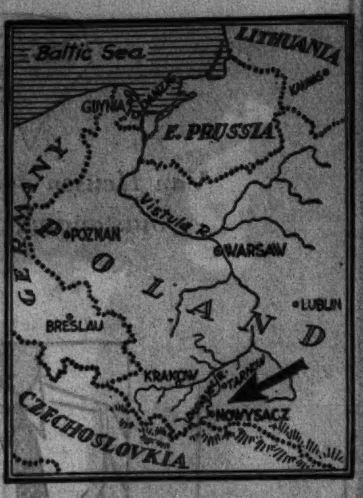
CCC TO ENROLL 3,000 MORE IN COUNTY TODAY

A supplementary enrollment of 3,000 in the civilian conservation corps will start this morning in fieldhouses at Gage park, Union park, and Welles park, especially for youths whose families are just able to stay off the relief rolls.

Leo M. Lyons, Cook county relief administrator, in announcing the new program yesterday, said its aim is to help many families in the low income groups maintain their independence. Applicants will be required to tell the income of each member of their families and to agree to allot to their families $25 of their $30 monthly allowance.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 years, unmarried, and citizens of the United States. They must be able to perform physical work outdoors. There are at present 15,500 young men from Cook county in the CCC.

Many Die in Floods



WARSAW, July 16.—(AP)—Many persons, including a number of children, were reported drowned today as a result of floods in the district of Krakow, in southern Poland. Whole towns and villages were inundated when the Totreg and Dunajec rivers overflowed. Bridges collapsed and all means of communication between Nowysacz and Crytica were disrupted, making further checkup on those drowned impossible.

TEXTILE STRIKE STARTS TODAY IN ALABAMA MILLS

22,000 Involved; Plants to Close.

Birmingham, Ala., July 16.—(AP)—Twenty-two thousand textile workers, more than two-thirds of those employed in Alabama's 50 cotton mills, are scheduled to go on strike tomorrow morning. They demand a permanent 30 hour week, pay increases, and changed working conditions.

Mill operators intimated they would close the plants indefinitly.

John Dean, international organizer of the United Textile Workers of America, went to Huntsville, Ala., tonight to establish strike headquarters.

3,800 Workers Walk Out.

The first of the proposed moves came tonight as 350 employés of the Avondale Mills textile plant walked out. Later 3,500 workers walked out of three Huntsville, Ala., mills, a few hours after similar action had been taken at mills in Birmingham and Gadsden, Ala.

Immediately following the walkout of the night shift mill officials announced indefinite closing of the mills, affecting an additional 350 employés who work on the day shift.

Decision to strike, made by local organizations at the various mills, was ratified at an executive session of delegates yesterday and the Alabama state textile council was given authority to fix a date for the walkout.

For 30 Hour Week.

Demands of the strikers include a permanent 30 hour week, a $12 weekly minimum wage scale, elimination of the "stretch-out" system by which the number of looms per employé is increased, reinstatement of jobs eliminated by the "stretch-out" system, reëmployment of workers discharged for union activity, and recognition of the United Textile Workers of America for collective bargaining under the NRA.

WILLIAM HARMON MADE NEW HEAD OF ST. CHARLES

Boys' Home Action After Citizens' Charges.

William T. Harmon of Jacksonville, a commissioner of the Little Nineteen Athletic conference and former athletic director of Illinois college there, yesterday was appointed managing director of the St. Charles School for Boys. His appointment, announced at Springfield by A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, becomes effective Aug. 1. Mr. Harmon replaces Robert H. Havlik, who was appointed director of the institution Feb. 1, 1932.

Selection of Harmon to direct the correctional institution followed a mounting storm of protests from Fox river valley residents during the last two years. Escapes from the reformatory have been numerous. In one week last May there were 25.

Serious Charges by Citizens.

Serious charges by leading citizens of Geneva, St. Charles, and neighboring cities that immoral practices were prevalent among inmates, and that the employé personnel was incompetent, irresponsible, and often delinquent, resulted in numerous protests to Gov. Horner. A delegation of the Chicago Boys' Brotherhood Republic, a self-governing organization, recently conducted a survey of the institution, and then appealed to the governor for action. An investigation was promised.

Upon receiving word of his appointment, Mr. Harmon announced he intended to use military discipline in governing the 470 boys under his jurisdiction.

"I believe in using firm discipline," Mr. Harmon said, "but I am also not one of those who believe this is the only kind of life saver. I have had four or five years' military training, and I have also spent twenty-three years in coaching and teaching work. I do expect to adopt a firm discipline at the school, although my knowledge of it at this time, of course, is still limited.

Will Have Open Mind.

"I expect to arrive there with an open mind, as well as certain convictions, which I will retain until circumstances indicate others should be adopted."

Mr. Harmon was asked if he intended recommending a change in the type of delinquent sent to the school. Recent surveys of the institution revealed that many mentally defective boys are sent there instead of to homes for the feeble minded. In a report this spring, Havlik charged this was the reason for the large number of escapes, although he asserted the condition of the reformatory was better than those in adjoining states.

"The whole matter of changes in the type of inmates as well as the present personnel is under investigation, and nothing definite is ready for announcement yet," Mr. Harmon said.

RELIEF STRIKERS DEMAND CASH IN PLACE OF FOOD

Benton, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—Ninety-three relief workers in Valier, Coello, Buckner, and Orient went on strike today in response to a countrywide strike call issued by the Illinois Workers' alliance with headquarters at Staunton, Ill.

Cash budgets are demanded instead of orders for merchandise, budgets to run from $55 to $106 per month, according to size of family, these sums not to include medicine, dental or hospital bills.

"We are against any and all form of self-help. We want work, homes, wages, and security, not peonage and peasantry at subsistence levels. Don't ask for rights; take them," literature distributed by the alliance says.

The Franklin county branch of the organization has also registered a protest against Rosco Webb, chairman of the county relief programs, and asks his resignation. The protest to Webb says in part: "We demand a sufficient participation in the wealth which we and our people have created so as to insure to us a decent standard of living."

"To this as willing workers we are entitled whether we are employed or unemployed. Our patience and humility are exhausted and we approach the time when we will find it literally necessary to remind you that we are human beings and our anger is fast rising."

Authorities have not decided upon a plan of handling the situation, but if necessary may adopt the same program as used in recent mine outbreaks, that of enlisting the aid of citizens of Franklin county in preserving order.

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN ZUKOR JEWELS; 6 HELD

Cafe Operator and Wife Among Prisoners.

their absence and noticed the door opening on the corridor was ajar.

The police surmised the thief had entered the suite on June 11, while Mrs. Zukor and her maid were away, and stolen the key, later returning to commit the theft.

Mrs. Zukor, joined by her husband and son from New York, departed the night after the burglary for Los Angeles after giving the police what information she could.

Sergt. Alcock entered the case at this point. His investigation centered on the missing key until, a few days after the theft, word reached the police that someone was trying to dispose of some valuable jewels. This was good news to the sergeant.

Clever Work by Police.

Although the informant was unable to supply the name of the person who wanted to get rid of the jewels for a consideration, Sergt. Alcock managed to tap telephone wires that gave him further clews. He is reported to have listened to a number of phone conversations in which the speakers were trying to find a market for the stolen gems.

Investigators said also that an effort was made by the persons who had the jewels to approach the insurance company which had written the theft policy covering the jewels. All these efforts failed.

On Saturday, deeming the time ripe for action, Sergt. Alcock and his men walked into the Weinberg-Vestal apartment. On the dining room table were the jewels and in the place the police arrested Weinberg and Vestal and their wives.

Had Jewels in Vault.

Vestal told the police, they said, that, acting on Weinberg's orders, he had taken the gems from a safety deposit vault on the north side and had placed them on the dining room table a few minutes before the policemen walked in. From this the investigators concluded that an arrangement for disposal of the jewels might have been upset by their arrival.

From the Weinberg-Vestal apartment the police went to the home of Miss Delaney and Miss Jacobs and took them into custody. The connection of these two women with the case was not made clear last night.

The two other women taken into custody, but released last evening, are Estelle Melton of the Croydon hotel and Mrs. Jean Edgell of the Seneca hotel. They explained that they were merely visiting the apartment of Miss Delaney and Miss Jacobs when the arrests were made.

Weinberg's Story to Police.

According to the police, Weinberg told the following story after his arrest:

"I was sitting in my cabaret one night and I noticed two women come in. They sat down at a table. They had a package with them. Shortly afterward I heard one of them say, 'O, gee, here come the dicks.' They both ran out the back door, leaving the package on the table. I kept it, thinking they would come back."

The two men whom the women referred to as "dicks," Weinberg said, were not detectives, but proved to be two thirsty patrons who wanted beer. Weinberg did not explain, however, the police said, why the jewels were in his apartment when he was arrested or why they had been in a safe deposit vault.

Last night Weinberg refused to talk at all, declining to answer the questions of Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty at the detective bureau.

Woman Tells of Gems.

Mrs. Vestal, according to Assistant State's Attorney Dougherty, proved to be the most talkative of the prisoners.

Questioned by Mr. Dougherty, she said she had seen the stolen jewels in Mrs. Weinberg's bedroom the morning after the hotel burglary. She denied knowing how they came there.

"Mrs. Weinberg called me into her room," the prosecutor quoted Mrs. Vestal as saying, "and said, 'Look at these. Did you ever see anything like them?' I agreed they were beautiful, but didn't ask where she got them.

"Some days later my husband and I went to Lake Geneva on our honeymoon—we were married July 3. While we were there Mr. Weinberg called us back. He asked us to rent a safety deposit box. Mrs. Weinberg had a safety deposit box in the loop, but seemed to be afraid to use it."

Stolen Jewelry Described.

The stolen jewelry consisted of a necklace made up of 79 graduated pearls and a large marquise diamond snap, valued at $60,000; a platinum diamond and colored stone carved brooch, set with three rubies, three sapphires, two cabochon rubies, three diamond cabochon emeralds, three square emeralds, one carved emerald crown, 24 square diamonds, and 212 round diamonds, valued at $3,000; a platinum diamond dinner ring, worth $1,100, and a pair of diamond studded lorgnettes, valued at $1,100.

Prosecutor Dougherty last night dispatched a telegram to Mrs. Zukor in Los Angeles, notifying her of the recovery of her jewels and asking her to be in readiness to come to Chicago to testify.

HITLER FORBIDS VON PAPEN TO SEE HINDENBURG

How Chancellor Tricks President Revealed.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 16.—President Paul von Hindenburg, who is spending the summer on his far away estate at Neudeck, East Prussia, knows only what Chancellor Adolf Hitler wants him to know of happenings in Germany. Like all dutiful German citizens, he reads the German papers and accepts what they tell him.

The case of Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen clearly illustrates the situation. Five times Von Papen tendered his resignation to Hitler in the last two weeks, and each time the chancellor refused it. When Hitler flew to Neudeck to confer with Von Hindenburg, he is said to have submitted Von Papen's resignation to the president. The chancellor told the vice chancellor that Von Hindenburg had refused the resignation.

Ordered to Stay in Office.

Von Papen asked to be released from his post. The shooting of his adjutant, Herbert von Bose,, the execution of another aid, Edgar Jung, caused him great grief. He offered to remain in the cabinet as minister for the Saar, but this request also was turned down. He was ordered to remain vice chancellor.

Von Papen tried to appeal to Von Hindenburg, but it was all in vain. The vice chancellor's friends volunteered to call on the president, but they were not allowed to see him. Though related to the Von Hindenburg family, they were unable to break through the heavy cordon of secret police and chamberlains guarding the president.

Letters sent to friends who are spending the summer at Neudeck with the president were not received. Only news approved by the chancellor and his representatives on duty at Neudeck is allowed to reach the president and his household.

President's Son Fearful.

Von Hindenburg's son, Oscar, whom the politicians used in the old days to get in contact with the president, sees to it that Hitler's will be done at Neudeck. Well informed circles understand that Oscar von Hindenburg felt the ground shake under his feet in the June 30 bloodshed. He was a close friend of former Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher, who was killed with his wife.

Von Hindenburg's son also was compromised in the trial of his one time friend, Dr. Guethner Gereke, whom a Nazi court sentenced to two years in prison for alleged graft in connection with campaign funds intrusted to him during the Von Hindenburg presidential campaign. To avoid difficulties the younger Von Hindenburg keeps "undesirable news" from his father—partly because of the president's health, he has told his associates. The president's health is better, but he must be spared from shock. The president termed Von Papen his "comrade" and it is feared that news of his attempted resignation might upset him.

Move Von Papen's Office.

A foreign correspondent who tried to see Von Papen by calling at his office today was turned away by Black Hussars standing guard at the entrance.

Von Papen's office has been removed from the building of the vice chancellery, which is being turned into extra quarters for guards for Hitler's chancellery, located next door. The vice chancellery's documents were moved to an empty apartment above the Von Papen residence. Sentinels also are on guard there.

Margaret von Stotzingen, the vice chancellor's youthful private secretary, who spent a week and a half in prison, still is in a hospital recovering from the ordeal. None of her friends has seen her.

SIR JOHN SIMON GUARDED AFTER MURDER THREATS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 16.—Extensive precautions are being taken by Scotland Yard to protect Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon following several threats against his life which were contained in letters and telephone messages. A special police guard is stationed at Sir John's Surrey home at Walton-on-the-Hill, while a watch is also being kept at his town house at Kensington, West London.

The latest threat was telephoned to Lady Simon at the country home by an unknown man who, after charging that Sir John is "leading the country to war" said:

"He is a marked man. There is nothing for it but to wipe him out, and wipe him out I will before I have done."

Similar telephone calls were reported to have been received at Simon's town house. Police were informed and immediately action was taken to guard against the threats being put into effect.

MORE BOMBS POP IN AUSTRIA AS ZERO HOUR NEARS

Dollfuss Under Fire of Nazis and Socialists.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, July 16.—More bombs exploded in Vienna and various other Austrian towns today as Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' political enemies—Nazis and Socialists—continued to wage a harassing guerilla warfare against him, in the hope of gradually wearing down the resistance of his dictatorial government. Only two days remain before the hangman is to be turned loose on persons possessing explosives.

There were several bomb explosions at Loeben. Incendiary fires burned around the stadium and military barracks in Vienna. The Neuberg woods, near Vienna, were set afire, with $50,000 damage.

Dollfuss Leaves City.

Four were arrested after a Nazi attack on militiamen at Kathback, near Linz, and 32 Nazis were arrested for holding secret military maneuvers at Strebersdorf. Josef Trinkwalder, Innsbruck journalist, was arrested for throwing a bomb at the Mosem church Sunday.

A Socialist circular issued today charges that the killing of three Socialists in a woods near Kaltenleutgebn yesterday resulted from gendarmes and Fascist volunteers firing into a massmeeting of 3,000 Socialists "without any warning whatsoever."

Chancellor Dollfuss was away from the city accompanying his family to the frontier. They are going to visit Premier Mussolini at Riccione, Italy, and Dollfuss will join them next week. Vice Chancellor Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg, too, was away, reported to be sun bathing on the sands at the Lido, Venice.

Socialists Revive.

During the last five days of grace all Austrian newspapers are printing the official proclamation threatening death by hanging to all persons found possessing explosives after noon July 18. But few bombs are being turned in, either because the possessors are dropping them into the Danube to escape detection or because they fear the wrath of their comrades more than the gallows. There are rumors that a campaign of terrorism by matches and kerosene will follow the expiration of the ultimatum.

Some facts indicate that it is the Social Democrats and not the Nazis who are giving Dollfuss his greatest embarrassment. However, it is of greater prestige for the government to war against the Nazis than the Socialists. Whatever is the case, Socialist pamphlets and literature are finding their way back into circulation. Police have confiscated 4,000 copies of the Arbeiter Zeitung, Socialist paper now being printed in Czechoslovakia by Dr. Otto Bauer and smuggled in here.

In Floridsdorf, Socialist workers' center, scores of big posters with the picture of Karl Seitz have been scattered about. Seitz was Socialist mayor of Vienna until February and since has been in jail. Economics also are bearing heavily on the situation. Rents have been raised in various city owned model apartment houses. Tenants held protest meetings and many arrests were made.

HUNGARY SUPPRESSES NAZIS FOR CAUSING 'GENERAL TROUBLE'

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BUDAPEST, July 16.—The minister of the interior will publish tomorrow an order dissolving the Hungarian Nazis. The party is accused of starting military organizations and storm troops and causing general trouble and uneasiness. All police commanders have been ordered to close Nazi offices and suppress the party's public activities. The Nazi party has never been popular in Hungary and has split into different groups. Their activities have been considered mostly bolshevik, demanding the dissolution of the great estates of the aristocracy.

Austria Obtains Right to Use Trieste as a Free Port

ROME, July 16.—(AP)—An Italo-Austrian accord for the port of Trieste by which Austria obtains the right to use Trieste as a free port for her own merchant fleet was published today by the Official Gazette. Austria has been granted a stretch of harbor line to use for loading and unloading. Her ships must observe the same port regulations as those which govern Italian ships.

You Can Have a Good Head of Hair

YOU were born with the scalp structure necessary to grow hair. Your hair DID grow, until some disturbance causing dandruff, itching scalp, or falling hair made it impossible for your hair-growing structure to continue to function normally.

Remove the cause of stunted hair growth and your hair will continue to grow. Thomas treatment does precisely this. It overcomes the conditions which cause dandruff, scalp itch, and falling hair. It revitalizes your scalp—makes it vigorously healthy, and permits hair to grow again on thin and bald spots. Come in today for a Free scalp examination and see for yourself what this reliable 16-year proved treatment is doing for thousands of others and what it can do for YOU.

HITLER TO RENEW HUNT FOR STORM TROOP 'TRAITORS'

Moral Conduct of Leaders Will Be Probed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 16.—Gen. Kurt Daluege, chief of police of Prussia and right hand man of Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering, who was entrusted with the reorganization of a large part of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's 2,500,000 Storm Troopers, today announced that the moral conduct of each Storm Troop leader and his administration of funds will be scrutinized in the course of the next few weeks. Gen. Daluege succeeded the executed Carl Ernst as commander of 100,000 Berlin Storm Troopers.

To insure what he calls a fair and unprejudiced investigation the general, aided by a committee of former police officers, personally will examine Storm Troop leaders who were compromised by associating with the chieftains executed in the suppression of the revolt. Some are suspected of having participated in "treasonable" activities.

Seeks Posts for Veterans.

By examining all appointments to executive positions in order to weed out the favorites of the group of homosexuals who directed the Storm Troops Gen. Daluege hopes to find jobs for "veteran Storm Troopers who have been loyal to Hitler ever since the National Socialist movement began."

Der Angriff, the official Nazi organ which is edited by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, today made an effort to make clear to the population the necessity of the bloody "purge" of June 30. The newspaper charged that Herr Uhl, commander of a Storm Troop regiment, who, Hitler said, was hired to assassinate him, was a notorious murderer.

"Among Uhl's papers a photograph was found which shows him as a murderer," Der Aangriff said. "He had himself photographed with a wide grin on his face, a pistol in his hand, and his foot on the chest of a Storm Troop leader whom he had shot to death."

New Attack on Jews.

The same edition of the newspaper launched a new attack on Jews by publishing advance reports of material which will appear in a forthcoming issue of the Nazi satirical weekly (Stinging Needle). The material was designed to prove by the Bible that the Jews are bloodthirsty.

Der Angriff headed its article, "Jews as Pacifists." After citing numerous Old Testament passages, it summed up the number of "victims" of the Jews as "107,570." This figure, the article said, did not include "mass murders" in which the Biblical chroniclers gave no estimates of the number killed.

Student Revolt Against Hitler.

BERLIN, July 16.—(AP)—An open revolt of Goettingen university students and a staunch attack on the Nazi antifraternity movement were fresh contributions today to the general discontent in Germany.

At the same time it was revealed that the national leader of a Catholic Youth organization, Adelbert Probst, was killed several days ago "resisting arrest."

In the revolt at Goettingen, the first instance of the kind under the Hitler regime, 1,000 fraternity men battled with Brown Shirted Nazi students in defense of their ancient colors.

The fight broke out after the fraternity men held a meeting at which they protested vigorously the dissolution of the ancient university societies. Fire hoses were turned on the combatants and finally order was restored after the arrest of ten leaders.

Circular Tells of Death.

Difficulties with the Catholics were emphasized by the revelation of Probst's death in a circular issued by the Catholic Youth headquarters in Duesseldorf, and it was regarded as likely that the Vatican will delay any acceptance of the recently agreed-upon interpretation of the concordat.

Probst was head of the "Deutsche Jugendkraft," an organization which was dissolved in Grenzmark province June 22 as the aftermath of the killing of a Nazi official.

The circular announcing his death said that early in July he was visiting President-General Ludwig Wolker of the Catholic movement in the Harz mountains. Secret police asked him to accompany them for a hearing, the circular said, and nothing was heard of him for several days.

After persistent inquiries the German secret police headquarters in Berlin telephoned to Duesseldorf that he had been shot while attempting to escape.

Vatican Attacks Hitler's Speech.

VATICAN CITY, July 16.—(AP)—The Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, today made a bitter attack against Chancellor Hitler's radio speech on the recent executions in Germany.

Quoting Hitler's phrase that what was done was done for reasons of state and for the decorum of the country, Osservatore Romano says that reasons of state and the decorum of the country would also have required the most detailed explanation of the events, an explanation which Hitler did not give.

"In fact," said the newspaper, "the motive on which the government decided on the arrest of responsible persons and their execution without trial were not sufficiently given.

"A trial, however summary, would have been more useful for these two objectives than any posthumous statement against the responsible persons in defense of the repression used. If the methods of 1934 had been used when Hitler tried his Munich putsch of 1923, the heads of National Socialism would not have been in a position to carry out their proposals for German restoration."

GERMAN CITY REPORTS 190 STERILIZATIONS AT A COST OF $16,800

ESSEN, Germany, July 16.—(AP)—The report of the local "eugenics court" was made public today, revealing that 190 sterilization operations have been performed on the court's orders since it began operations early in the year.

The operations cost the state 42,000 marks [about $16,800], but the report stated that this will be more than offset in the future by elimination of the expense of caring for the congenitally unfit.

The Essen report was one of a series of local reports of the courts, and the report for the entire nation will be given out in about a month.

50 CITY LEADERS ORGANIZE TO CUT AUTO DEATH TOLL

'Civic Emergency,' Mayor Says, Taking Helm.

BY HAL FOUST.

A "Keep Chicago Safe committee" was organized yesterday afternoon at a meeting of fifty civil and political leaders in the city council chambers. Mayor Kelly, who called the meeting, was chosen chairman of a campaign to reduce the motor toll, which this year is exceeding last year's trafic fatality record by more than 20 per cent.

"The situation is a civic emergency," the mayor said. "Obviously there must be something wrong with our present methods of trafic control. There is something wrong either with our system of regulating trafic or with the way our regulations are being enforced, or there is a lack of cooperation on the part of both automobile drivers and pedestrians.

Courtney Pledges Aid.

"Certainly some sort of action is necessary when year after year more than 1,000 of our citizens are killed annually in automobile accidents. Every preventive measure possible must be employed to stop this."

"My office, too, has been studying this appalling automobile death rate," added State's Attorney Courtney. "Relief can be obtained from education and enforcement. It really simmers down to a question of enforcement because the public knows what the rules and regulations are. My office will support the police."

"Much can be done without a hard boiled police drive," advised the mayor. "It's not my idea to see how many tickets can be issued to the motoring public. I'm thinking of such things as regular inspections of automobiles, tests for drivers, and the like."

Keep Up War on Fixing.

"Get rid of ticket 'fixing' and you'll win the sympathetic support of the motorists," suggested Si Mayer, president of the Automobile Club of Illinois.

"We're doing all we can to eliminate 'fixing,'" Mayor Kelly declared, "but you can't get rid of the human element."

Subcommittees were chosen on police activities, drivers' school, speakers, publicity, movies, schools and churches, radios and bulletins. These will meet in the mayor's office at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to map the details of the campaign.

George W. Fleming, former Kiwanis governor, was elected as secretary of the committee. Vice chairman appointed are: Barnet Rodes, state tax commissioner; Charles M. Hayes, Chicago Motor club; W. H. Cameron, National Safety council; Roy D. Keehn, major general of Illinois National Guard; Ald. John A. Massen [48th], chairman of the city council trafic committee; Wallace Clark, realty operator, and Mr. Mayer.

Five Safety Court Delays.

In the new Safety court, created a week ago as an agency for reducing the motor toll, Municipal Judge Edward S. Scheffler was absent from the bench yesterday morning. Judge Frederick W. Elliott sat for him and the court's record for convictions slumped.

Eight defendants, including one woman, were arraigned on charges of driving while intoxicated. Five were granted continuances and three were discharged. The woman, Mrs. Eleanor Strom, 34 years old, wife of a tavern proprietor at 2115 North Damen avenue, was among those given continuances.

In two of the dismissed cases the judge mildly reprimanded the police for failing to testify that they had smelled an odor of liquor on the defendants' breaths.

The testimony in one of these trials was that the defendant staggered and that he talked incoherently, but the policeman had not smelled liquor.

Mother Pleads for Boy, 55.

In the third case discharged Frank McIntyre, a Michigan farmer, 55 years old, admitted that he met some friends and did some heavy drinking Sunday while in Chicago to meet his 75 year old mother to take her back to their farm. She pleaded for clemency.

Mrs. Elsie Brooks, 38 years old, 5439 Kimbark avenue, was arrested last night on a charge of driving while intoxicated after her automobile collided at Garfield boulevard and Stewart avenue with a car driven by Herbert Coxhead, 8130 South Ada street. Coxhead's wife, Elizabeth, and his son, Ernest, were injured. Mrs. Brooks, held in the Hyde Park station in default of bail, will be arraigned in the Stockyards court this morning.

Marie Griffith, 8 years old, 2202 North Clark street, was drowned yesterday when she fell from a dock at Webster avenue into the lake. The girl was accompanied by her half brother, Robert Huffman, 6.

The two children had walked out on the pier used by pleasure boats. Henry Nathanson, 14, 808 South Spaulding avenue, summoned Lincoln Park Policeman Charles Erickson when he saw the girl tumble into the water. A rescue squad worked for three hours but were unable to revive her.

CUBAN SOLDIERS PREVENT ATTACK ON U. S. ENVOY

HAVANA, July 16.—(AP)—Guards stationed at the home of Jefferson Caffrey, United States ambassador to Cuba, fired upon four men prowling in the bushes about the house, it was revealed today. The men fled as soon as the soldiers opened fire. The guards did not leave the grounds in pursuit of the prowlers, fearing the whole affair a ruse to leave the home unguarded.

The incident, which occurred several nights ago, came on the heels of rumors that certain radical elements were planning another attack on the American ambassador. It is understood he has been receiving anonymous letters to that effect. One of the guards stationed about Caffrey's home was killed when a group of terrorists attacked the house on May 27.

Vandals Wreck Doors of South Side Flat Building

The Englewood police were summoned early today to investigate the breaking of doors at two entrances of an apartment building at 5959 South Morgan street, owned by James Ragen, 10756 South Seeley avenue, publisher of the Scratch Sheet, a racing form chart. Witnesses said bricks had been hurled against the doors by the occupants of a large automobile. Tenants of the building said a stench bomb had been tossed into a hallway on Sunday.

BANDITS POSE AS POLICE; HOLD UP TEN MOTORISTS

Three men, riding in an automobile, wearing tin stars and representing themselves as detectives until they dropped the disguise and became plain robbers, last night held up ten motorists on the south and west sides, obtaining a total of $63.05 and a watch.

The victims and their losses were: Harry Malek, 3511 West 58th place, 90 cents, and Harry Drence, 3506 West 60th street, $1.25, at 56th street and California avenue; Albert Novak, 6128 South Whipple street, 90 cents, at 61st street and Washtenaw avenue; Henry Stroh, 5658 South Wood street, $2, and Henry Prokes, 5622 South Paulina street, a watch, at 56th and Wood streets; Allen Walters, 708 East 72nd street, $2, at 55th and Lincoln streets; William Keesler, 2808 West 64th street, $30, at 63rd street and California avenue; Oscar E. Siren, 4501 Malden avenue, $7, at 68th street and Oakley avenue; Ben Freemen, 3829 Rokeby street, and Miss Jean Quirin, 845 Sheridan road, a total of $19, at 13th street and Spaulding avenue.

Evanston Swimmers See Man Drown; Body Found

The body of Douglas MacMartin, 31 years old, 2721 Reese avenue, Evanston, was recovered from Lake Michigan off Garrett place, Evanston, last night by Wilmette coast guards. Other bathers saw the man sink, but the body was not found until the coast guards arrived. It was believed the victim suffered a heart attack while swimming.

PEDDLER HELD AS SUSPECT IN HUNT FOR MISSING BOY

Partially Identified as Strange Itinerant.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—A man tentatively identified as the peddler who frightened housewives of Hartsdale Manor in Westchester county last week was detained today for questioning in the disappearance last Thursday of 21 month old Robert Connor.

The man, who admitted having canvassed in the vicinity of Hartsdale Manor some time before the Connor baby vanished, identified himself as Harry Lee Forestier, 51 years old.

Denies Knowledge of Case.

He was found on Staten Island, and after questioning by city police he was taken to Greenburgh, in which Hartsdale Manor is situated. Police said he had spent some time in mental institutions.

He denied knowledge of the baby's fate and said he had not even known of its disappearance until told by the police.

At Greenburgh, after a tentative, but apparently satisfactory identification of Forestier as the peddler whose rambling "sales talk" worried Westchester housewives last Thursday, the man was taken to Hartsdale Manor to be identified by one of the women to whom he had attempted to sell cosmetics.

Plan To Continue Quiz.

Later he was to be taken to the office of District Attorney Frank H. Coyne of Westchester county in White Plains, where federal agents, New York City and state police and Chief Philip J. McQuillan of the Greenburgh police planned to continue the questioning.

Forestier's detention, and the sentencing of Bernard Seidenberg, 19, to three months in the penitentiary for sending an "annoying letter" to Charles H. Connor, father of the missing baby, were the only tangible developments today.

During the day 143 men and boys trudged through a square mile of tangled woodland in the vicinity of the Connor home in another vain search for the missing youngster.

CEREMONY OPENS SACRAMENTO AND HUMBOLDT LINK

Opening of a boulevard improvement that now links Humboldt boulevard with Sacramento avenue through Palmer square, thus eliminating a hazardous circuitous route around the square, was marked yesterday by a formal ceremony in which west park commissioners and civic leaders participated. Many accidents occurred in the roundabout route. A simpler project, now under progress, will open Kedzie avenue through the square shortly. The work was started under the Civil Works administration.

RAREST, HEAVIEST AND COSTLIEST MATERIAL FOUND

First Real Evidence of Element No. 93.

LONDON, July 16.—(AP)—A pinch of yellow salt, made largely of something science hitherto supposed likely to exist only in stars, has been extracted from pitchblende in Czechoslovakia.

This salt, 115 milligrams, or about enough to season a breakfast omelet, is the rarest, newest and scientifically the most precious stuff in creation. Its basic substance is reported to be the heaviest material ever found.

The salt is the first tangible evidence of the existence of the long-sought and long-doubted element No. 93. Fermi, the Italian scientist, recently announced he had created artificially a heavy substance, that appeared to be element 93, by bombarding uranium, the heaviest known element, with neutron rays. Fermi's artificial substance mostly disintegrated in 12 minutes. There was not enough to weigh or measure except by atomic calculation.

Form of Actinium.

The Czechoslovakian matter, as announced by Dr. O. Koblic in the British official scientific journal, is somewhat different in nature. It is not only tangible, but does not belong to the uranium family. It is a hitherto unknown form of actinium.

At the top of all the different kinds of matter, the three heaviest are uranium, actinium, and thorium. Each is radio-active—that is, it disintegrates ultimately into lead. There are 15 stages in uranium's disintegration, 15 different forms which it assumes as its substance changes in spontaneous radiation, or rays; one of these 15 is radium.

Actinium and thorium each take 10 stages in disintegrating. The father of this actinium family is a heavy element named protactinium, which is element 91, next in heaviness to uranium, which ranks as element 92.

It was supposed that element 93, heavier than uranium, might well be the next step above uranium in nature's combination of basic materials. But the Czechoslovakian discovery indicates the heavy 93 stuff is more closely associated with actinium than with uranium.

Dr. Koblic states that it is probably the parent of protactinium. These different families, uranium, protactinium and so on, are distinguished by chemical differences. For example, the actinium family when it gets down to lighter substances includes manganese.

The main reason why scientists for years have thought there might not be more than 92 basic elements has been the failure to find anything heavier than No. 92.

Companion of Radium.

Physicists, however, had calculated that within the hot interiors of stars solid matter might exist "in a different state." Particularly it was thought that in star interiors matter might be packed more closely, and so form substances heavier than uranium. Support for this exists in the belief that the companion star of Sirius appears to contain substance weighing a ton per cubic inch.

The pitchblende from which the yellow salt was extracted produces radium. Dr. Koblic estimates that this pitchblende contains one per cent of the element 93. This is held by scientists to be a surprisingly high percentage. The amount of radium is smaller. But the high percentage can be explained, physicists say, by the possibility that the new element is rather "inert"; that is, does not disintegrate rapidly enough to call attention to its presence.

FAIR WILL ADMIT PUPILS UNDER 18 FOR 25 CTS. TODAY

Attendance Yesterday Sets Monday Record.

BY EARL MULLIN.

High school students under 18 years of age get a break at the Fair today. They will be admitted to the Fair for 25 cents. If the idea is greeted with sufficient response, Major L. R. Lohr, general manager, said, the reduced rates for youth will remain in effect every Tuesday.

With attendance and receipts now increasing steadily at the Fair, officials believe that everything possible should be done to encourage boys and girls to avail themselves of its educational advantages. Thursdays have already been set aside for children under 12 with a 5-cent admission.

Hope for Tuesday Record.

With the young folk of the county pouring into the Fair today officials are confident of breaking all Tuesday attendance records. All Monday attendance records were broken last evening. At midnight the official clocking was 74,672.

The total attendance last Monday, the biggest paid attendance so far on that day, was 67,552. The record of Monday attendance at the Fair, with one exception, shows a steady increase. In order of date the figures are 24,627, 26,138, 41,040, 53,362, 32,655, 63,469, 67,552.

Optimistic Over Prospects.

"There is no accurate method of gauging future atendance," Major Lohr said, "but so far we are optimistic over prospects. If there is an upturn in the market, or some other thing which will create a feeling of optimism, our attendance should soar in later months. At the present time a slight feling of foreboding and unrest is being reflected in our admissions. Public sentiment is like a pendulum. From a feeling of overoptimism we have swung too far in the other direction. It is bound to swing back toward the optimistic side, but just how soon no one knows."

Just as the attendance at the Fair is altered by public sentiment, so does it reflect public sentiment, officials pointed out. In this regard not only are officials at the Fair watching the attendance curve, but economists throughout the middle west, and to some extent the nation as a whole, are watching it closely in the belief that the steady rise in the curve, to a great extent, shows a lessening of apprehension among the people.

RUSSIAN ENVOY HAILS GOOD WILL PLANE'S FLIGHT

Alexander Troyanovsky, soviet ambassador to the United States, speaking yesterday at a luncheon of the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion, hailed the proposed "trade recognition flight" to Russia as a contribution to mutual understanding between his country and the United States. Defective radio apparatus forced postponement of the take-off of five flyers in a Sikorsky sesquiplane, scheduled for Sunday evening, until late this afternoon.

"Although some of you may not agree with the political system of the soviet union," the ambassador said, "I hope that in the future through such mediums as this flight we may have a better mutual understanding between the two great nations. The flight will be a demonstration of American progres in aviation, as well as a gesture of friendship."

The plane, according to Lieutenant Commander William Alexander, chief pilot, probably will start for New York on the first leg of its around the world flight from the Navy Pier basin about 5 p. m. today. The plane is to cross the Atlantic by way of the Azores and stop at Paris and Berlin before touring Russia and returning home across the Pacific.

WORLD'S FAIR NOTES

An exhibit of the personal belongings of the late Rudolph Valentino, idol of feminine motion picture fans, has been opened in the Italian village at the Fair by the Valentino Memorial society of Chicago.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans and his wife and daughter, Augusta, spent the day at A Century of Progress yesterday. "It's a great Fair," the mayor said, "much better than last year." The Walmsleys, motoring through to Wisconsin for a short vacation, are guests at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The animal vogue has reached the Colonial village and three lambs now gambol on the village green. Seven dogs, two horses, and a monkey complete the domestic animal show to compete with villages that have featured their animals.

A new electrically operated motion picture camera for amateurs, wired for sound and equipped with a microphone, is displayed in the electrical building.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. today will present their "strolling minstrel," Gene Jerome, on the Avenue of Flags before the Sears' exhibit. Playing a piano accordion and singing popular ballads, he will appear daily from 3 to 6 p. m. and again from 7 to 9 p. m.

Some 160 members of the One Hundred Car club of the Ford Motor company arrived in Chicago last night over the Michigan Central from Detroit for a visit to the Fair.

Yugo-Slav day will be observed at the Fair July 29, which is also Jewish day. Ceremonies will be held on the stage of the Lagoon theater.

Joe Jemsek of Cog Hill Golf club is the "Sky Ride golf champion" as a result of his winning drive from a tee on top the 650 foot east tower of the Sky Ride yesterday. He drove a golf ball 501 yards into lake Michigan. Nine professionals of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association participated.

United States District Judge Edgar S. Vaught of Oklahoma City, who sentenced Machine Gun Kelly, yesterday visited the Fair en route to Grand Rapids to attend the international Lions convention. He was the guest of Harry A. Snodgrass, manager of Wilson and Company Fair buildings and a personal friend of the judge.

500 Commonwealth Edison Workers Get Service Badge

Five hundred employés of the Commonwealth Edison company, who have completed from 10 to 40 years of service, were given gold service badges last week. Their combined tenure of service was more than 7,000 years. Five men were awarded forty year badges. They were: Thomas J. Boland, 5320 Lynch avenue; Carl W. Klusman, 7100 Sheridan road; Charles A. Lind, 1413 Norwood street; Martin J. O'Malley, 839 West Garfield boulevard; and Ernest F. Smith, 106 Park avenue, Glencoe.

MONKEY STAGES JUNGLE SCENE IN STATION HERE

Eludes Firemen and Police After All Day Chase.

A small yellow and brown Indian monkey darted back and forth among the girders of the trainshed of the Polk street station yesterday. Expressmen stopped their trundling trucks to gaze upward and enginemen leaned from their cabs to marvel at the agility of the animal. Passengers twisted their necks to look at a sight rarely seen outside of a jungle.

Policemen held out bananas coaxingly in their efforts to lure the monkey down into their hands. The fire department sent over a ladder truck and 10 firemen to clamber over the roof. The Illinois Humane society sent over a delegate. Frank Buck sent over his head henchman, Joel Brown, who is in charge of all Buck's monkeys at the Fair.

Eludes All Pursuers.

But the monkey eluded them all. He ran from one side of the loft to the other. Occasionally he would tantalize all pursuers by scampering out on the roof, racing along and then reappearing on the inside at a distance from his pursuers.

The monkey, one of a shipment of 15 sent Frank Buck for his wild animal exhibit at the World's Fair, escaped at 5 p. m. Sunday from his crate in the railroad station by pushing aside a bit of wire netting.

It left its perch for a few hours Sunday night, as a train dispatcher discovered yesterday morning when he opened his office door and saw it peering in his window, but scurried aloft again when chirruping noises, supposedly the sort to which monkeys respond, were directed at it.

Frisky Early In Day.

Early in the day it was quite frisky. But as morning waned into afternoon and afternoon into night the monkey became weary. But it still traversed the girders too fast for human pursuit.

Finally Joel Brown arranged on the roof what he says is the only successful monkey trap, the kind used by Buck on his own expeditions.

First of all he brought up another Indian monkey in a cage. Beside the cage he put a crate, its lid uplifted and supported by a stick. Fastened to the stick is a string, with a half-peeled banana attached to the end of it in the cage. Strewn over the floor of the crate was rice. In one corner was a little pail of water.

When the monkey reaches in for the banana, the string pulls the stick and lets down the lid. This threefold lure of food, drink and companionship has never failed, Brown says, and he expects the monkey to be in it this morning.

JAILED FOR PURSE THEFT.

Ray Fields, 25 years old, who gave his address as the Y. M. C. A. hotel, was sentenced to 30 days in the Bridewell by Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday. He was accused of stealing a girl's purse containing $2.93 in the Merchandise Mart.

Here are a few DON'TS about Laxatives!

DON'T take a laxative that is too strong—that shocks the system—that weakens you!

DON'T take a laxative that is offered you as a cure-all—a fat reducer—a treatment for a thousand ills. A safe laxative is intended for one purpose only—to relieve constipation.

DON'T take a laxative or cathartic that you have to take several times a day over a long period of time.

TAKE EX-LAX—THE GENTLE, EFFECTIVE LAXATIVE

You take Ex-Lax just when you need a laxative—it won't form a habit. You don't have to keep on increasing the dose to keep it effective. Ex-Lax is effective—but it is mild. Ex-Lax doesn't force—it acts gently yet thoroughly. It doesn't gripe. It works over-night without over-action.

● Children love to take Ex-Lax because it tastes just like delicious chocolate. Grown-ups prefer to take Ex-Lax because they have found it to be thoroughly effective—without the disagreeable after-effects of harsh laxatives.

For 28 years, Ex-Lax has had the confidence of doctors, nurses, druggists and the general public alike, because it is everything a perfect laxative ought to be.

At any drug store—in 10c and 25c boxes.

WATCH OUT FOR IMITATIONS!

Ex-Lax has stood the test of time. It has been America's favorite laxative for 28 years. Insist on genuine Ex-Lax—spelled E-X-L-A-X—to make sure of getting Ex-Lax results.

2 AGREEMENTS STIFFEN COUNTY FINANCIAL BASIS

Tax Objection Tieup Cut By $12,000,000.

Indications appeared yesterday that the county's financial condition is about to be restored to a firm basis after three years of recurring crises. Loop bankers announced that they would purchase $3,000,000 in 1934 county tax anticipation warrants and tax objectors agreed to release some $12,000,000 held up by the county treasurer through the filing of objection suits.

The objection suits involved the tax rates for 1932. Taxes were paid under protest by some 50,000 taxpayers. County Treasurer Thomas D. Nash was unable to disburse more than 75 per cent of such funds, on the theory that he would be liable under his bond for the return of the money in the event of an unfavorable court ruling.

Judge Urges Release.

The 25 per cent which he withheld to cover the rate protest has amounted to approximately $30,000,000. Yesterday attorneys for the tax objectors appeared before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki in the county court and asked a continuance to August 2, on the grounds that they needed that time to prepare arguments.

Judge Jarecki granted this but suggested that a stipulation be signed to release a part of the money now held. The lawyers then agreed that the treasurer could disburse 85 per cent of the total, instead of only 75 per cent.

Informed of the stipulation, County Treasurer Nash said he was desirous of releasing the money to the various local governments but wanted first to study the agreement in detail before taking any action and to make certain his responsibility in the matter.

Report Warant Agreement.

Should the treasurer decide to release the money, the county, city, board of education, parks, and other local governments will share in the disbursement according to their tax rates.

The announcement that the bankers had agreed to purchase the warants was made by Emmett Whealan, president of the county board, and Deputy Controler Michael J. O'Connor before the county finance committee.

Mr. Whealan pointed out that the bankers had agreed to purchase the warants on the stipulation that the county issue not more than $5,200,000 in tax warants or 56 per cent of its tax levy. This was a victory in the county's negotiations as the bankers had first declined to buy the warants unless the issue was held to 50 per cent.

Virtually on Cash Basis.

The cash derived from the sale, Mr. Whealan explained, will be used to pay up the salaries of county employes who are two and a half months in arrears in pay and to clean up $134,000 in 1932 debts and $1,000,000 in 1933 obligations. The payment of salaries will be made in a series of paydays over a period of several weeks.

"The sale of these warants virtually places the county on a current cash basis," Mr. Whealan declared, and added that administrative costs in the various county departments had been reduced 49.9 per cent.

The proposed sale of the warants will be confirmed today at the regular board meeting.

COURTNEY WARNS POLICE CAPTAINS ON AUTO THEFTS

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 34; recovered, 32; stripped, 2. (From police records ending at midnight Sunday.)

District police captains were warned yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney that they would be held accountable for the showing of their districts each month in cleaning up the auto theft racket. Courtney acted after noting from the records that more cars had been stolen and fewer recovered in June than in May.

"Through close coöperation between the police and state's attorney several rings of auto thieves have been broken up," he said. "There is going to be further improvement. We shall expect continued coöperation on the part of the police, and the captains whose districts show good improvement will be given credit. Those whose districts fall behind will be invited to the state's attorney's office for an explanation." Mr. Courtney also gave credit to Judge Joseph A. Graber in the new Auto court, whose summary sentences of auto thieves have materially reduced the number of thefts since last winter.

Eight hundred and forty auto thefts were reported in May, with 978 recoveries, and 885 thefts in June with 783 recoveries.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

That Timothy Perfume.

July 16, 1934.

Of all the fields on the farm, none is going on the air with as fragrant odors as now come from the freshly cut hay field. While I was hiking around yesterday afternoon I came to a good sized tract of timothy hay. Part of it had been cut and was curing. The fragrance of this field was so rich and so alluring that you just wanted to sit on a fence down wind and enjoy it. When I walked through this field I was reminded of the sweet grass which Indians use to make baskets. In the timothy there was a sprinkling of wild carrots and black eyed Susans.

In this hay field I found a couple of very much worried lambs. They had no business in this field and they seemed to know it. Instead of enjoying a good meal these fat little animals kept running up and down the field along the fence on the other side of which the rest of the flock of sheep were peacefully grazing. When I sat down for a few minutes next to the fence, the lambs made a wide circle around me and began to look for a way to escape. Life in a big field away from the rest of the gang no longer had any glamor for them.

Rawlings tells me that nearly every day one or two lambs will find some hole in the rail fence through which they can get out of the pasture. Then, just as soon as they are out, they get lonesome and want to come back, exemplifying the farm saw about how the next pasture always looks greener and more attractive until you get into it!

Several more crops on the experimental farm have been "laid by." These have grown so high that they will receive no more cultivation. The last and final attack on the weeds around the plants has been made and now it's up to nature to complete the job without any further human help.

Among the test crops which have been laid by are the blackeyed and whippoorwill cowpeas. They were cleaned up and now are on their own. The test plot with the huge sunflowers also has been laid by. Other test plantings which can be worked have just been cultivated.

All the drouth resisting hybrid corn has been cultivated for the last time, but the late corn still is being gone over. Herman Guenther hitched up Rock, Jack, and Gene yesterday to "manicure" eight acres of this late corn.

The rains that have helped the experimental farm recently put a little extra power and pep into the hydraulic ram which pumps water to the barns near Louis Thurow's house. This ram, which works 7 days a week, week after week, to keep the water tanks full around the barns, is fed by water from a spring hole.

The level of the water in this spring fed pool was reduced quite noticeably during the days of the drouth. Now it is up again, so there is plenty of water to go into the pipe that leads down to the ram.

Midsummer also has brought another change to this spring pool. A big crop of ducksmeat, a tiny floating plant which mallards, teal, pintails, and other puddler ducks like to feed on, is now developing. It is spreading all over the surface of the water.

Visitors to the farm invariably are interested in this hydraulic ram, which is a sort of perpetual motion machine. Paul Sleezer, the official guide for the experimental farm, is on duty at the headquarters house, always ready to take visitors down to see the ram in operation.

FEAR WITNESS HANDICAP IN RELIEF FRAUDS

Prosecutors Allege Aiding of Accused.

Fear that the state may be handicapped in the prosecution of some future relief fraud cases because of a situation existing in the Illinois Emergency Relief organization, was expressed yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin and Assistant Attorney General Harry Muskat. Both prosecutors are assigned to such cases, Mr. Mukat representing the relief commission at the trials.

According to the prosecutors, the situation arose during the recent trial of Louis Gillman, former head clerk at the Lawndale relief station, who is serving a one year term in the Bridewell for conspiracy to defraud the commission of $2,727. Two others, Matthew Mertz and Mrs. Mary Bartuska, were sentenced to serve one year and six months terms, respectively. Each was fined $500.

Testimony Aids Defense.

Three employés of the commission who are still on the pay roll took the witness stand in Gillman's behalf and gave testimony said to be helpful to the defense. They are James J. Stahl and Roy A. Ferris, who are themselves investigators of relief frauds, and Miss Marie Prefer, a stenographer. All of them "went out of their way" to aid Gillman, it is said.

Because of these happenings, the prosecutors object to the present possibility that the employés, particularly the two investigators, may be necessary witnesses for the state. The state could not feel secure if compelled to rely on their testimony, said Mr. Sherwin and Mr. Muskat.

"I wouldn't have them as investigators in any case I was connected with if I could help it," Mr. Sherwin said. "If they appear as witnesses in any future case—that is, if they continue as commission employés—I shall take affidavits from them on their evidence. Then I will have such evidence re-investigated.

Just Inviting Trouble.

"To keep them on the pay roll to investigate other cases would only be inviting trouble, it seems to me."

Mr. Muskat revealed Stahl is scheduled to testify for the state in one pending relief fraud case, as is E. M. Horton, who resigned as chief investigator for the commission just prior to his appearance for the defense in the Gillman trial.

"It would be very difficult, in view of this unpleasant situation, to prosecute future cases in which these witnesses in the Gillman case were called upon to testify," said Mr. Muskat.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the commission, said he was awaiting a transcript of the testimony in the Gillman trial, which he wants to read before acting on Mr. Muskat's recommendation to discharge the employés. The transcript is expected by Mr. Reynolds today.

SURVIVOR OF RIDE TAKES THE STAND AT TRIAL OF TWO FOES

John Joseph French, 4903 Lake Park avenue, survivor of a gangland "ride," hobbled on crutches into the Criminal court of Judge Grover C. Neimeyer yesterday and testified against his two alleged assailants, who are on trial accused of assault with intent to murder. They are Edwin Cusack, a former policeman, and James McCarthy, owner of a garage at 3136 South Wabash avenue.

Cusack and McCarthy were recently convicted before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan of intimidating a government witness, and were sentenced to seven years in Leavenworth penitentiary. Judge Sullivan also recommended that state charges be filed against the pair. This was done and they were indicted by the county grand jury.

After speedy selection of a jury yesterday French took the witness stand. He repeated the story he told in the federal court. French said he was a witness against Cusack, McCarthy and others who were charged with stealing from an interstate shipment of liquor. To silence him, he said, Cusack and McCarthy enticed him into an automobile, shot him and left him for dead in the Calumet river on the far south side.

SECY. WALLACE'S HI-PRICED MILK ROUSES PROTEST

Consumers Are Forgotten, Congressmen Declare.

Several Chicago congressmen who have returned from Washington were outspokenly critical yesterday of "Wallace's "hi-priced milk," a phrase used by Congressman Fred A. Britten in discussing the action of the agricultural adjustment administration that led to an increase in the cost of milk to Chicago consumers.

The AAA is under the jurisdiction of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace of Hi-Bred corn fame. It was the AAA that ordered distributors, effective July 1, to pay farmers $2.25 instead of $2 a hundred pounds for milk sold for use as fluid, which was immediately followed by a raise in price to consumers from 9 to 10 cents a quart and from 6 to 7 cents a pint. The increase to the farmers amounted to .53 of a cent a quart.

In granting this increase—and a previous one on June 1 from $1.75 to $2 a hundred pounds, which was a large factor in the retail price of milk going from 8 to 9 cents a quart at that time—AAA officials said the advance was necessary because of drouth conditions. They stated that pasture lands had dried up, forcing farmers to extra expense to buy feed for their cattle.

Congressmen Hit at AAA.

The congressmen, however, pointed out that later reports showed that the rains during June practically ended the drouth, and that corn never looked better and pasture lands were coming back in fine style. They declared that the reasoning of the AAA officials was illogical.

"If the balance of the presidential cabinet showed the same enthusiasm in their departmental activities as Secretary Wallace shows with his Hi-Bred corn and hi-priced milk," observed Congressman Britten, "the entire presidential family, including Mrs. Roosevelt and her socialistic settlement in West Virginia, would be hitting on all fours.

"In the case of Mrs. Roosevelt's enterprise the taxpayers foot the bill through the United States treasury while Secretary Wallace's endeavors are costly only to the consumer direct. And in the case of Wallace's hi-priced milk, those families with children who need the milk for health are hit the worst.

"The AAA has been a complete failure. It is picking up all sorts of theoretical ideas to give the farmer more money without giving any thought to the consumer, and a great injustice is being done to the milk consuming public. The AAA should be thrown into the waste basket."

Assails Nature Tinkering.

Congressman Patrick H. Moynihan spoke ironically of the nature tinkering activities of the AAA as evidenced in the destruction of pigs and curtailment of farm production.

"The Lord has taken care of the drouth," he said, "but apparently the AAA hasn't recognized that fact. Its manipulations in the Chicago milk market follow the same line as lots of other fool things that it has ordered."

"I don't think that the increase is fair to the city consumers," said Congressman Leo Kocialkowski.

Congressman Harry P. Beam said that while the farmer deserves a fair return for his milk, more than that should not be given at the expense of the consumers in the metropolitan area.

FARMERS TESTIFY AGAINST DAIRYMAN IN CONTEMPT CASE

Ruling on whether Lloyd V. Shissler, former operator of the People's Dairy company of Cicero, is in contempt of court was put over until this afternoon by Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday. Shissler is charged with ignoring an injunction restraining him from violating the agricultural adjustment administration's milk marketing agreement.

The government, with the testimony of two AAA investigators and four farmers, sought to show yesterday that in spite of Shissler's allegations that he had turned over his business to his son he actually continued operating it.

The injunction, restraining Shissler from violating the milk code, was issued on May 10. Shissler later presented an affidavit alleging that he had sold his business on March 17 to his son, Harry B. Shissler, and therefore could not be cited for contempt.

The farmer witnesses testified that they had dealings with Shissler, representing the milk company, as late as May 11 and 12. The government rested its case after this testimony.

Shissler himself then took the stand and repeated the assertion that he had no interest in the company after March 17. He will be cross-examined today by Attorney Francis X. Busch, special government prosecutor.

U. S. RULE TODAY ON DISCHARGED COACH WORKERS

The national labor board in Washington is scheduled today to declare effective its order that the Chicago Motor Coach company restore to their former status fifteen employés who were discharged several months ago.

This order was issued July 7, but was held in abeyance for ten days at the request of the coach company's officials. John A. Ritchie, president of the company, at that time was in a hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Mr. Ritchie, who has returned to his duties, declined yesterday to discuss the stand that will be taken. It was learned on good authority, however, that he has sent to the labor board a letter asserting that the fifteen men were let out because of inefficiency, and declining to take them back. The labor board has taken the position that the discharge of these men was in violation of the National Recovery act provisions relating to free organization and collective bargaining.

It was not indicated what action the board would take to enforce the order, but there is a possibility that the Motor Coach company will lose its Blue Eagle.

DIVORCED BANKER OF BATAVIA WEDS AURORA WOMAN

Residents of Batavia learned yesterday that Herbert T. Windsor, 64 years old, president of the Batavia National bank, and Mrs. Jessie Willis of Aurora were married in Wheaton on July 7. The ceremony was read by the Rev. George A. Curran of the English Lutheran church.

The banker's former wife, Mrs. Julia C. Windsor, to whom he was married for forty-three years, won a divorce June 25 on a charge of desertion.

JUNE DE LONG ADMITS UNTRUTH IN MORALS CASE

Tells Why She Wanted to Take Own Life.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—June De Long, chief prosecution witness in the morals trial of Dave Allen and Gloria Marsh, "remembered" on the witness stand today that she had not told the truth last Friday when she testified she never had been arrested on morals charges in Los Angeles.

"I felt I had disgraced myself enough already," Miss De Long said. "I didn't believe it would be interesting in this case what happened to me in 1930, and didn't want to tell."

The four women on the jury looked at the dejected witness, dabbing at the corners of her eyes with her hands, with faces not devoid of sympathy as the cross-examiners dragged the witness back over the road of challengeable testimony.

Men Jurors Look Uneasy.

Even the men jurors looked uneasy as Miss De Long testified without raising her eyes from the floor and the other girl in the case, Gloria Marsh, from her seat at the co-defendant's table, betrayed emotions which caused her nervously to take off and put on her long white cloth gloves, while every bit of color save a dab of beauty shop pink fled her chalky face.

Only Allen, for years head of Central Casting bureau, supported by the major movie studios of the Hays association, and who was the arbiter of employment for some 15,000 movie extras, looked on apparently unmoved. Deputy District Attorney Arthur Veitch opened the subject of Miss De Long's prior testimony and her reason for it with the request that the court allow the woman to "state a correction and an explanation."

Defense Attorney Objects.

Geisler objected further, but Superior Judge Rey Schaer allowed the witness to go ahead. Geisler then cross-examined her as to whether she realized the nature of an oath and said: "Do you know that when you swore to your answers in this case the other day you committed perjury?"

"I don't know; I didn't know," the witness said. Then as the questions proceeded she said in a thin voice:

"That's why I wanted to commit suicide."

Geisler forced Miss De Long to testify she had been arrested in Los Angeles in March, 1930, and fined $25 on a vice charge.

Tells Allen's Account.

Joseph Taylor, chief of detectives of the Los Angeles police department, testified shortly before adjournment and related Allen's own account of the De Long apartment episode made to him in police headquarters. Taylor said that Allen told him that about three hours before Mrs. Owings came to June De Long's apartment April 26, Miss De Long had asked Allen to her apartment to hear "something important."

"He told me he went," Taylor said, "and the two girls already were there. Allen told me he was drinking a highball when the third woman—Mrs. Owings—walked in and said, 'Well, I guess I know some people that will get a lot of work from now on.'"

LONDON POLICE ARREST TRUNK MURDER SUSPECT

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 17 (Tuesday).—(AP)—A man known as Toni Mancini was arrested here early today and held in connection with the Brighton trunk murders.

BRIGHTON, England, July 16.—(AP)—Local police and Scotland Yard tonight pressed a nation-wide "hue and cry" for a stuttering waiter "with well greased hair" after a new trunk murder was discovered here, complicating an old mystery in a manner seldom found outside fiction.

Scotland Yard cautiously refrained from positively connecting a woman's body and the head and arms of a woman found last night with a torso discovered June 18, although the arms and head were said to have been tentatively connected with the earlier crime.

Legs Found in London.

In that case, the entire body of the first woman victim now has been discovered, though not identified, since legs were found in King's Cross station in London. The Yard officially referred to the two cases as "Brighton trunk crime No. 1" and "Brighton trunk crime No. 2."

The waiter, who was known as "Toni Mancini" had been questioned before the finding of the second body in a trunk in a lodging house cellar. Later he was seen walking toward London.

The second victim was tentatively identified as Mrs. Violet Saunders, a professional dancer whose stage name was Violette Kaye. She was 42 years old, but looked much younger.

Find Hammer and Saw.

A full description of the missing waiter was broadcast throughout Great Britain, and police felt certain that he would be apprehended.

While police kept many details of their investigation secret, it was understood that the trunk in which Mrs. Saunders' body was found contained a tray which might have been taken from the trunk in which the torso was discovered in the Brighton railway station.

In the cellar was a hammer, with which it was said Mrs. Saunders might have been killed, and a hacksaw such as might have been used to dismember the other body.

FINED FOR POSING AS COP.

Theodore Jasek, 27 years old, 823 Windsor avenue, was fined $100 yesterday by Judge Alfred O. Erickson on a charge of impersonating a policeman.

GUN GANG TAKES $2,800 FROM TWO PRESERVE POLICE

Sergt. John Synkowski and Patrolman Harry Hubbard of the forest preserve police, who had been collecting Saturday and Sunday receipts from golf courses and swimming pools in the preserves, were robbed of $2,800 yesterday by five armed men. The holdup occurred in Thatcher road near North avenue, River Forest.

The policemen were driving in Thatcher road on their way to the Oak Park Trust and Savings bank to deposit the money when the bandits pulled up beside the police car and, with shotguns leveled, forced it to a halt. After they had seized the money the robbers took the policemen's revolvers and automobile keys. All five gunmen were in shirt sleeves and wore handkerchiefs over the lower parts of their faces.

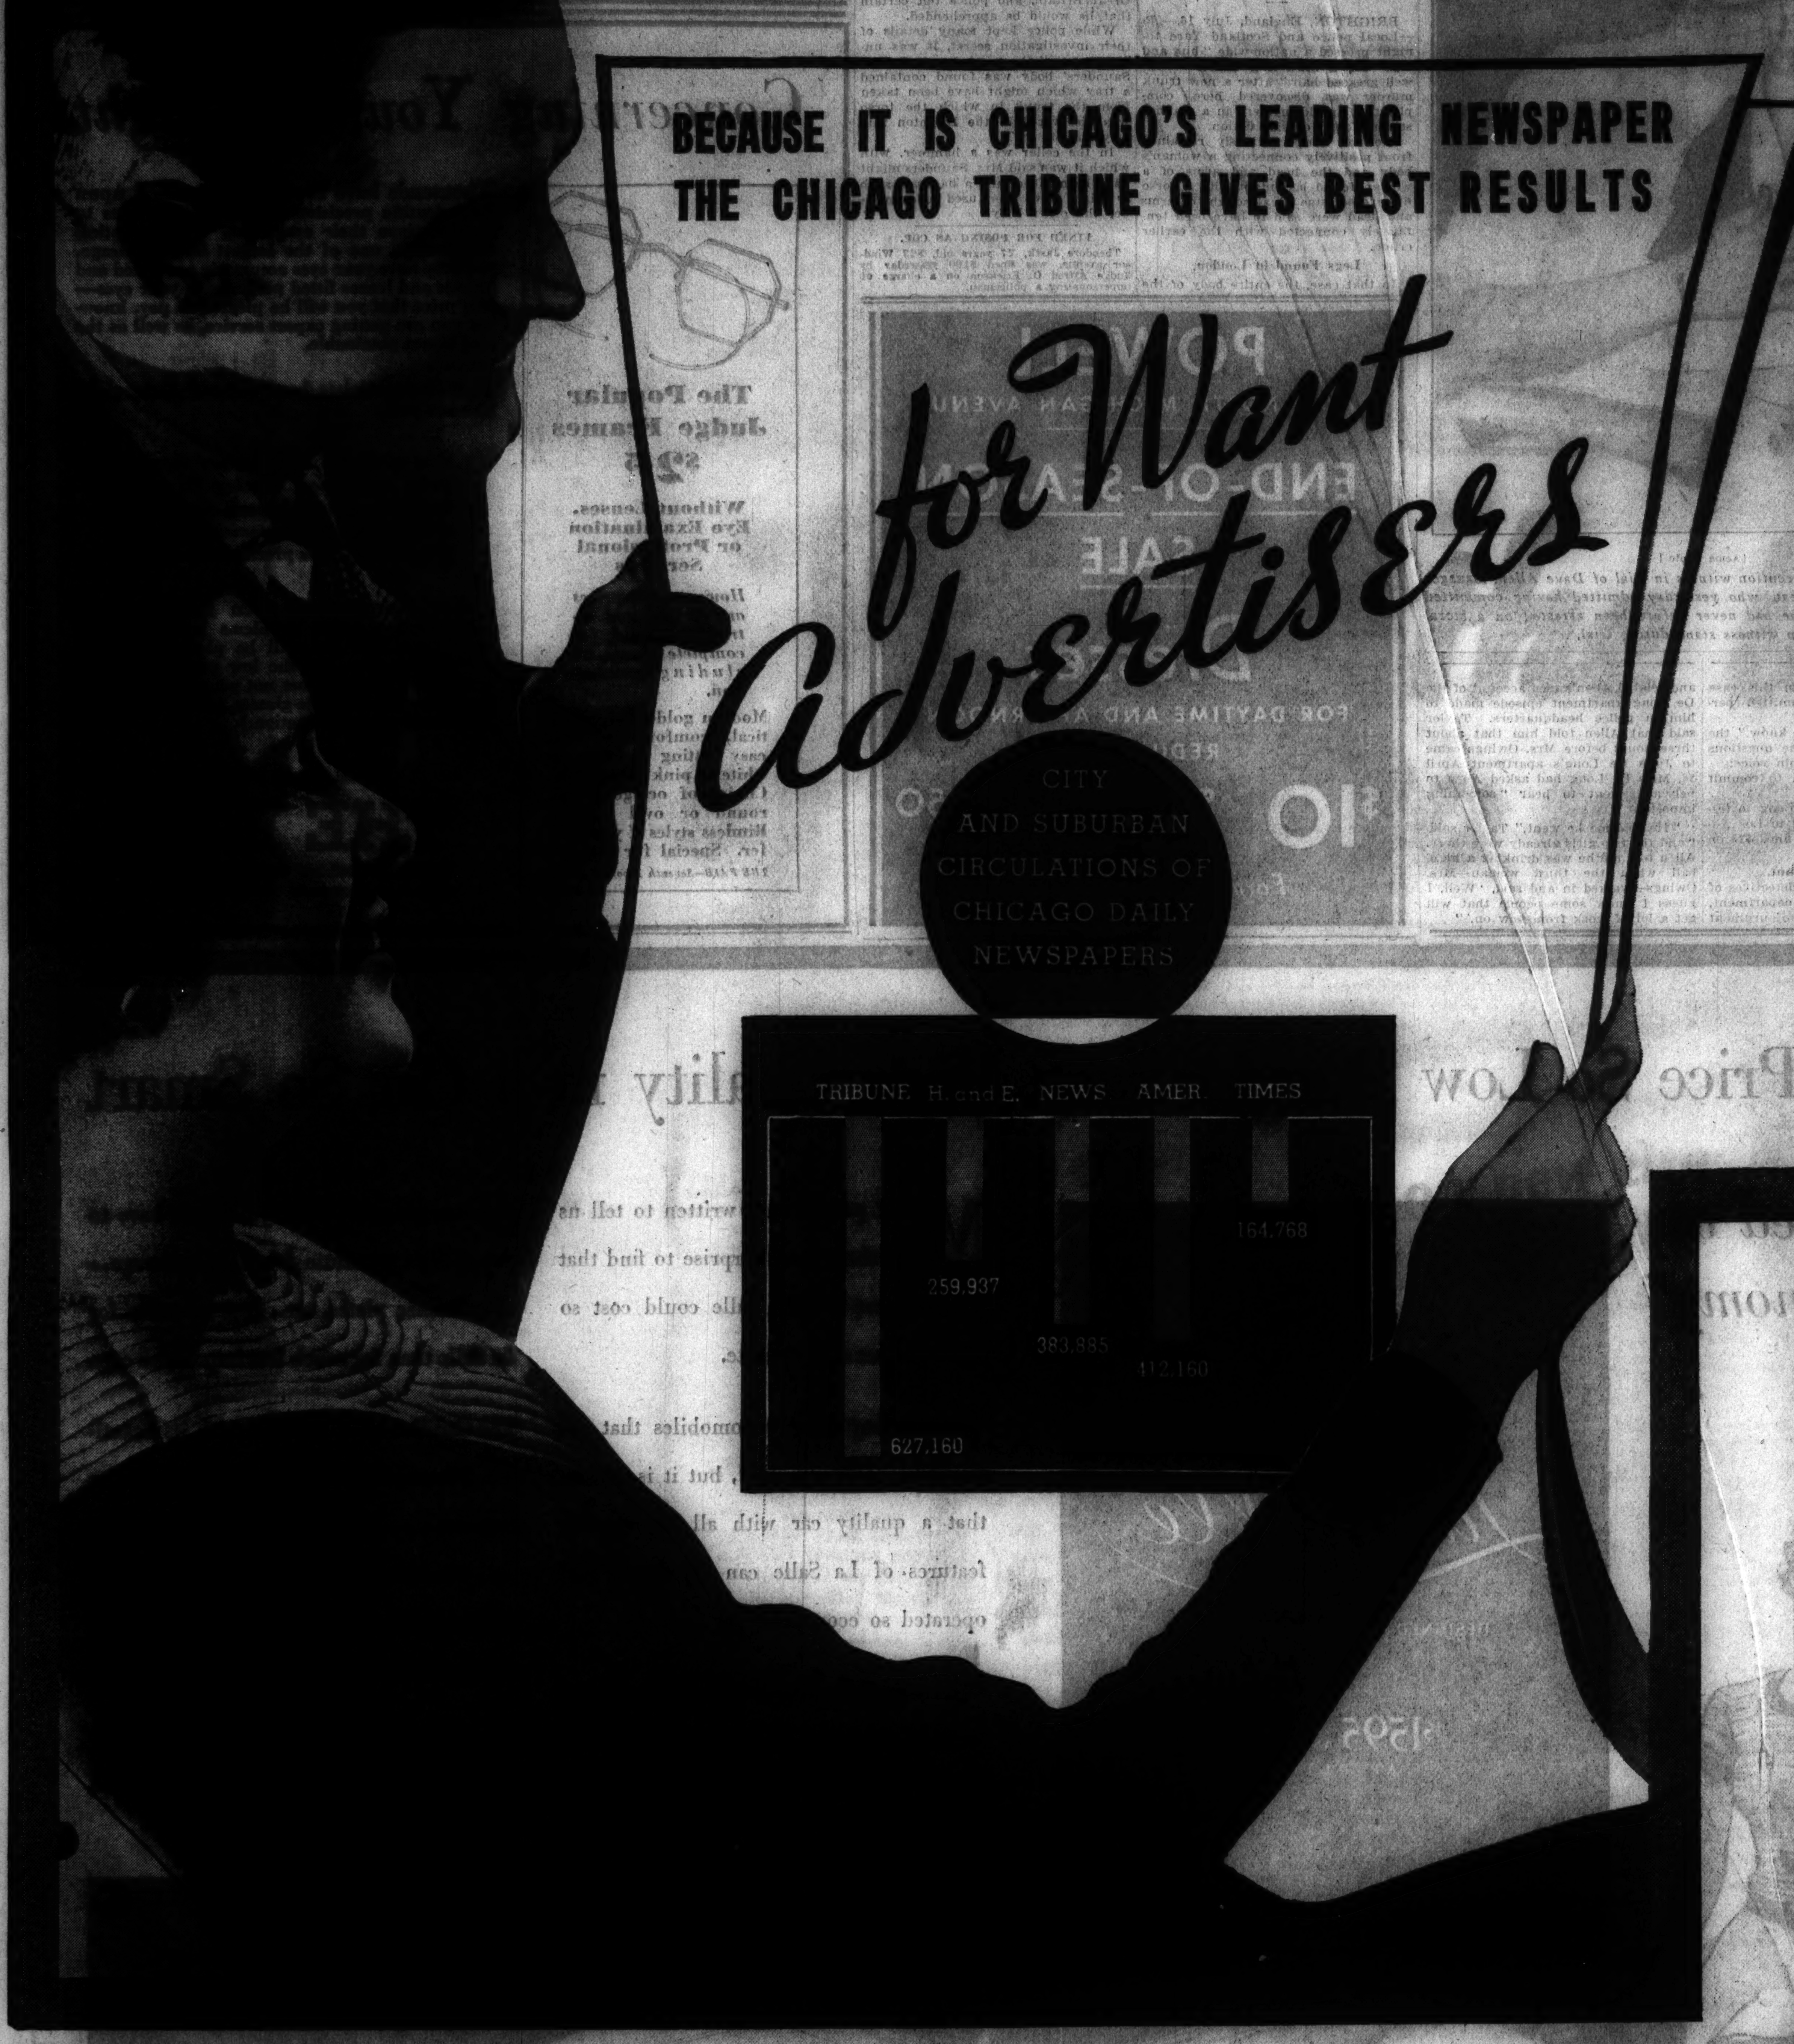
BECAUSE IT IS CHICAGO'S LEADING NEWSPAPER THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE GIVES BEST RESULTS



Rooms!

"I have been using Tribune Want Ads for five years to rent my rooms. They always bring me the most reliable tenants. Recently I had a room vacant, and my Tribune Want Ad brought 15 replies. I rented the room."

MRS. A. ARICO

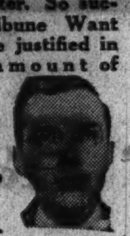
Refrigerator & Summer Cottage!

"Recently I had two want ads in the Tribune. One offered to sell a refrigerator, and the other to rent a Wisconsin summer cottage. The two ads pulled almost one hundred inquiries. I sold the refrigerator early the day the ad ran. I rented the cottage for two months soon after. In addition, I have helped some of my neighbors rent their cottages to people who answered my ad."

MRS. OTTO WOLFF
10611 Avenue "H"

Apartments!

"The most valuable asset an apartment building can have is the quality of its tenants. To maintain the high standards of our apartment building we use Tribune Want Ads to find tenants of excellent character. So successful are Tribune Want Ads that we are justified in increasing the amount of space we use."



V. J. DUGGAN, Mgr.,
Nine-Ten Lawrence Apartments
910 Lawrence Ave.

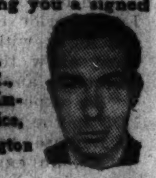
Furniture!

"We sell home furnishings and household appliances, using want ads to get customers. Our experience with newspapers leaves no doubt in our minds which newspaper is the 'world's greatest.' The Tribune, time and again, pulls far better than any other Chicago newspaper."

GERALDINE KELMANSON
3310 Ogden Ave.

Employment!

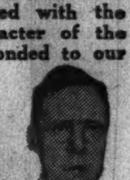
"We opened a new employment agency in Chicago on June 11. Naturally we had secured clients prior to our opening, and our big problem was getting the type of employes they wanted. We needed to get in touch with people of the highest type in large numbers. Your solicitor persuaded us to use two ads in the Tribune exclusively on the day we opened. We were swamped with applicants for the jobs we offered! Such results made a deep impression on us, and we are sending you a signed contract."



GEORGE J. FREITAG JR.,
Great Lakes Employment Service,
166 W. Washington Street

Drug Salesmen!

"Our organization is new. Naturally we have to have the best type of salesmen if we are to succeed. To get the men we needed we advertised in the Tribune. Our want ad brought twenty-two men to see us. We are well pleased with the type and character of the men who responded to our ad."



J. R. BROWN
Bro-Wen, Inc.
180 N. Wacker Dr.

Real Estate and Dogs!

"Recently I had two want ads in the Tribune on the same day. One offered to sell a 6-room house. The other offered cocker spaniel puppies for sale. The real estate ad pulled 8 inquiries. Within a week I sold the house to one of these prospects. The ad offering the puppies sold five of them. One inquiry for a dog came from Iowa."

C. ARTHUR BENEDICT
717 Brewster
La Grange, Ill.

Automobile!

"On June 6 we advertised a 1931 Franklin town sedan in the Tribune. The ad pulled about 17 inquiries. One came from a man in Gary, Indiana, who asked us to drive the car over to him. We sold the car, and I believe if we had had others of the same model to sell we could have sold at least six more. We have used Tribune Want Ads for twenty years, and during the last year and a half, exclusively."

POPE DODGE
South Shore Buick Co.
7320 Stony Island Ave.

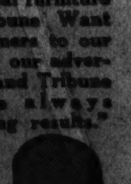
Apartment!

"We have always used the Sunday Tribune to rent our apartments. It reaches prospects in other neighborhoods as well as those living in the immediate vicinity of our building. Last Sunday our want ad brought five replies, and we rented a seven-room apartment."

MRS. D. GURSKIS
6619 S. Rockwell St.

Furniture!

"Our store is located on the far west side away from the business opportunities of heavy Loop traffic. Yet business is good. Real furniture values plus Tribune Want Ads bring customers to our door. We check our advertising carefully, and Tribune Want Ads have always brought gratifying results."



W. J. JOHNSON
Mgr. Johnson Furniture Co.
4636 W. Washington Blvd.

Real Estate!

"June 17th I ran two want ads in the Tribune, one offering to trade a 90-acre Wisconsin farm for a hotel, or other comparable city property, and the other offering to trade an apartment building for out-of-town buildings. The farm ad pulled 38 inquiries; the apartment ad, forty-five. In each case I closed a satisfactory deal."

WM. H. JORDAN

Motorcycle!

"I owned a motorcycle which I no longer used. Although the machine was in good condition, it was an older model, and I had my doubts about finding a buyer for it. I decided to try selling it through Tribune Want Ads. This was my first experience with advertising. My want ad brought 16 replies, and I sold the machine. This experience gave me an idea of going into business for myself, and with the help of Tribune Want Ads, make some money."

R. DELAMATER,

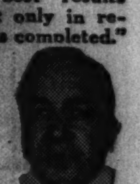
Real Estate!

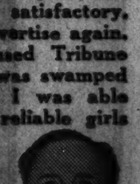
"We offered a 5-room brick house for sale in a Tribune Want Ad. The ad ran two days. Eighteen prospects called. We sold the house to one of them for cash. We have used Tribune Want Ads for thirty years, and we have always obtained the best results from them, not only in replies but in deals completed."



L. VACEK
Vacek & Co.
1751 W. 47th St.

Employment!

"Several weeks ago I placed a want ad in a Chicago newspaper offering jobs to waitresses. I got few replies, and they weren't satisfactory. So I had to advertise again. This time I used Tribune Want Ads. I was swamped by applicants. I was able to select two reliable girls easily."



E. KLEIN
Klein's Restaurant
304 W. Jackson Bl.

Auto Credit!

"I wanted to dispose of my $150.00 equity in a new Ford. Having used Tribune Want Ads successfully for other purposes, I offered the credit for sale in the Tribune. Six prospects answered the ad, and one of them bought the credit the day after the ad ran."

BEN OGRONITSKY,

Housekeeping Rooms!

"To get tenants for our housekeeping suites, we ordered a want ad to run seven times in the Tribune. During the week the ad ran we rented 15 rooms!"

E. SCHMIDT
3815 Rokeby St.

Truck!

"When I wanted to sell my '29 Chevrolet truck I ordered a want ad in the Tribune. The ad ran three days. Twenty-two prospects called. One of them bought the car the day the last ad ran."

L. J. LASTOVKA
Berwyn Auto Supply Co.

Candy Store!

"I wanted to sell my candy and ice cream store. I advertised in two other papers before I tried Tribune want ads. Neither paper got results. But my want ad in the Tribune pulled 30 replies. One of these prospects bought my store."

A. RYFELDT
2407 N. Lawndale Ave.

Automobile!

"We advertised for three days in another Chicago newspaper in order to sell a '33 Pontiac coupe. We got no results, so we ordered the same want ad to run in the Tribune. The second day the ad ran we sold the car to a prospect who saw the ad in the Tribune."

SIDNEY GOLDSCHLAG,
Sherman Auto Sales,
7130 S. Halsted St.

Housekeeping Rooms!

"I offered to rent a 2-room housekeeping suite and a single sleeping room in a Tribune Want Ad. I rented both the suite and the single room the day the ad ran."

MRS. C. H. DONALDSON

Found!

"Our pedigreed police dog, valued at $150.00, strayed away. I immediately ordered a want ad to run in the Tribune Lost & Found column. The ad ran four days. On the fourth day the dog was found four miles from home! It is interesting to note that 30 people who had found lost dogs called me."

MRS. F. A. McNALLY

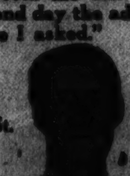
Boats!

"I wanted to sell my 16-foot Chris-Craft. A want ad in the Tribune pulled 24 replies from prospects. Two days after the ad ran, one of them bought the boat at the price I asked."

B. E. PADORR
2541 W. Congress St.

Machinery!

"My first experience with want ads was with Tribune Want ads. I ordered a want ad to run in the Tribune to sell 13 small rotary converters. I had 20 phone calls, and a number of letters, some from as far away as New York. I sold the converters the second day the ad ran at the price I asked."



W. OOMENS
3523 W. Medill St.

Business!

"My partner and I decided to quit business and dispose of our liquor store. We placed a want ad in the Tribune offering the business for sale. Between 15 and 20 prospects called, and we sold the business the day the ad ran."

HARRY SHERIDAN

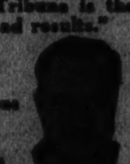
Radios!

"We have been using Tribune want ads regularly for the past eight years. It is one investment that we know pays dividends. For example, after our most recent offer appeared in the Tribune, we sold our entire stock of auto and midget radios. The Tribune is the best for want ad results."



O. P. STURM
Sturm Travel-Tone Mfg. Co.

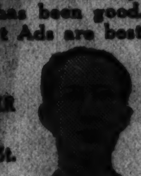
House Rented!

"I used Tribune Want Ads to rent a 6-room cottage. Between 25 and 30 prospects answered the ad. One of them rented the house the day the first ad ran."

EDWARD HARDING
2323 Flournoy St.

Paints and Varnish!

"We have two paint stores, one on the south side, and one on the northwest side. To advertise these stores, we have been using Tribune Want Ads. Our ads appear in the Business Directory. Business has been good. Tribune Want Ads are best for results."



ALVIN KROMER

Automobile!

"I wanted to buy a small car cheap. Failing to find what I wanted at the price I wanted to pay, I decided to use Tribune Want Ads. My ad pulled fifty replies, and I bought a good car for the money I wanted to pay."

HUNT FOR HEIRS TO $100,000 OF MYSTERY COUPLE

Search Bares Romance of 1893 World's Fair.

Search for heirs to a $100,000 estate left by the late Harry Baker and his wife, Nellie, of Houston, Tex., was directed to Chicago yesterday. Unless heirs are found before September, the estate, consisting entirely of liquid assets, will escheat to the state of Texas.

Jerome Dealey, special representatives of the Texas attorney general's office and of the Guaranty Trust company of Houston, arrived in Chicago yesterday to make one final effort to find any heirs the Bakers may have. Neither Baker nor his wife left any written record of their life before they came to Houston in 1900, but from conversations they had with friends there Dealey said he is convinced both lived here at one time.

It is also possible, Dealey said, that Baker may either have been an assumed name or Mrs. Baker's maiden name, which they took in an effort to disguise their true identity.

Describes Growth of Estate.

When Baker arrived in Houston, Dealey said, he had $300 and soon lost that. His first job was with a produce house as egg candler and packer. Later he rose to the position of general sales manager. Through investments in oil and his savings he amassed his fortune.

Baker once told an acquaintance that he was "born in a barrel," Dealey said, leading to the belief that he was a waif. He was born in Philadelphia about 1868, but spent his boyhood on the Baltimore water front, where he earned a living opening oysters.

The Houston census records show that Baker married in 1897, presumably in Chicago. Efforts to trace the marriage record have so far proved fruitless, Dealey said. He believes, however, that Baker and his wife visited the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893. Mrs. Baker was a waitress before her marriage, according to Dealey.

Courted at Aunt's Home.

Little is known about her origin, the Texan said, but she is known to have been of Welsh descent. Baker courted her here at her aunt's house, she told friends. In the evenings, after their marriage, Baker would add to his earnings by playing the French horn in a band. He must also have attended meetings of the Knights of Pythias, Dealey said, since a friend discovered that he had once been a member of that society.

Although the Bakers had no children, he was a great benefactor of Houston orphans, Dealey said. At one orphanage Baker was known as the "sucker man," since he always arrived with a pocketful of all day suckers for the children. Mrs. Baker was president of the Houston Parent-Teacher association at the time of her death. Baker was once street commissioner of Houston. They died in 1928, within two months of each other.

Dealey asked that any one recognizing the Bakers from their photographs communicate with him at the Hotel Sherman.

CULVER FIRE CHIEF KILLED IN CRASH ON WAY TO GRASS BLAZE

Culver, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—Fire Chief A. B. Cromley, 38, was killed and a former fire chief and three other firemen were injured today when their fire truck skidded and overturned on a newly oiled road. They were speeding to a blaze among the cottages on Lake Maxinkuckee, located a short distance east of here.

Chief Cromley was driving the truck at a speed of about 50 miles an hour when it got out of control. Witnesses said the heavy machine skidded and rolled for nearly 30 yards, finally coming to a stop right side up. Cromley's neck was broken. Former Chief Arthur Fishburn received a possible skull fracture and Firemen Ed Boberg, Jack Taylor, and Carey Cummins were cut and bruised.

The truck, which was the only piece of fire fighting apparatus owned by Culver, was demolished. It had been purchased only a short time ago.

JUDGE OFFERS FREEDOM TO 15 IN ALIMONY ROW

Some fifteen men, now inmates of "alimony row" in the county jail, will have their chance to gain freedom today when they appear before Judge Rudolph Desort. The judge explained that since hot weather has arrived he would give the prisoners an opportunity to show good faith. If they will agree to make alimony payments, or show a good reason why they actually cannot, there will be a good chance for freedom for them, Judge Desort said.

POLICEMAN HERO RESCUES WOMAN IN BLAZING HOME

Policeman Harry Catron of the Maxwell street station suffered a broken ankle yesterday while rescuing a colored woman from a blazing tenement house at 1226 West 13th street. Catron, who lives at 6554 Champlain avenue, went to the scene when the alarm was turned in, and saw the woman trapped on the second floor. He fought his way up the smoldering staircase and started down with the woman. Near the foot of the stairs he was struck by a blazing beam, as one wall collapsed. Despite the broken ankle, he dragged the woman to safety. He was taken to the county hospital.

JOHN G. SQUIRES, FORMER BANKER, IS FOUND GUILTY

Issued State False Report —Faces 1 to 10 Years.

John G. Squires, former president of the Citizens State bank, 3229 Lincoln avenue, was convicted yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Criminal court of issuing a false call report with intent to deceive the state auditor. A motion for a new trial was made and continued until Sept. 10. Squires faces a prison sentence of from 1 to 10 years if his motion is overruled.

Third Defendant Dead.

A third defendant, named in the indictment, Charles E. Schick, former vice president of the bank, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the gas filled garage at the rear of his home after the bank closed and the state had pressed charges against him.

Assistant State's Attorneys Leslie Curtis and Richard Devine presented evidence that the call report prepared for the state auditor Dec. 31, 1931, and approved by Squires, was false. It listed as an asset $502,546 due the bank from the Central Republic Bank and Trust company.

Alleged False Figures.

In reality, the prosecutors charged, the amount due should have been listed as $83,000.

The bank closed May 25, 1932, with a loss of $1,500,000 to depositors. Judge McKinlay heard the case without a jury. Squires was allowed his freedom on bail pending hearing of his motion to vacate.

CRIMINAL COURTS.

James Caspero, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Edward Giachetti, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Henry Benante, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Steve Gregory, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Eric Nyberg, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 year in the bridewell by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Frank Amato, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Benny Serritelli, rape, sentenced to 3 years in the penitentiary by Judge Michael Feinberg.

Ban Bathing at Points in Des Plaines, Deer Park

Swimming at dams No. 1 and No. 2 in the Des Plaines river and at Deer park in the forest preserves was forbidden in an order issued yesterday by Emmett Whealan, president of the county board. The order was issued at the request of Supt. Charles G. Sauers, who is investigating reports of sickness caused by bathing in the water.

Federal officials yesterday took charge of the investigation of the shooting Saturday night of two state highway policeman, Gilbert Cross, who is in a critical condition, and Fred McAllister. The U. S. authorities acted after a still and 16,000 gallons of mash ready to be made into alcohol were found in a barn a short distance from the scene of the shooting, near Higgins and Wolf roads.

Three automobiles were parked beside the road and the policemen stopped to investigate. McAllister called out: "What's the trouble there?" A blast from a machine gun was the answer and the three cars scurried away, a woman at the driver's wheel of one.

Find House Girl Asleep.

Lieut. James Meyering of the county highway police went to investigate after McAllister had driven his more dangerously wounded comrade to the Des Plaines Emergency hospital. A flash that Dillinger and his gang were responsible was quickly discounted when the still was discovered.

Margaret Pedro, 19 years old, was found sleeping in a farm house near the barn. She said she was hired two months ago to do housework for Edward Butenschoen, tenant farmer.

Butenschoen was taken into custody at his home in Des Plaines. He said he had rented the barn six weeks ago to three men he believed to be Italians and who told him they wanted it for storage space. He denied knowing that it housed a two story still and said he received $25 a month rent.

Shortly afterward the police rounded up five suspects, whose names were given as follows: Angelo Galasso, 7039 Grand avenue; Carmen Castaldo, 2729 Flournoy street; Charles Angelo, 2207 North Marmora avenue; James Magglore, 5249 Harrison street, and Samuel Washington, a Negro, 1322 West 13th street.

Governor Cheers Wounded.

Curiosity gave three youths a bad half hour when police seized them as they approached for a private investigation of the still, about which they had read in the newspapers. Chief Howard Becker of Des Plaines was convinced by their story and released them. They were Samuel De Mosa, 20 years old, of Chicago, and John Pietrzak, 21, and Thomas Stopa, 19, of Cicero.

Governor Horner visited the wounded policemen at the Des Plaines hospital yesterday and assured them the best of surgical and medical attention. He ordered their removal to the Passavant hospital and directed Dr. Frank J. Jirka, chairman of the state board of health, to take charge of the cases and to call in specialists.

Then the Governor conferred with State's Attorney Courtney, E. C. Yellowley of the federal alcohol tax unit, and Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago office of the department of justice.

Purvis agreed to join state authorities in a campaign to stamp out unlawful operations in the region south of Des Plaines, where several more stills are understood to be running.

Mr. Horner placed all the forces of the state at the disposal of the United States in the expectation that a roundup of the still operators would bring Saturday night's machine gunners to justice.

He instructed Chief Taylor of the state police to put 20 men on the case.

Again and again, in the flood of letters which greeted the spectacular new "G-3" All-Weather tire, appeared a host of friendly protests that ran like this:

"43% more non-skid mileage is all wrong. You have 75% more than ever before."—from a Chevrolet dealer in North Carolina.

"These tires will give me at least twice the tread mileage that I ever received before."—from a Goodyear user in Holyoke, Mass.

"We consider this tire far superior to any other make and we think that 43% more non-skid mileage is too conservative."—from a Plymouth-De Soto dealer in Du Boise, Pa.

Tests that wrecked brakes

The truth is, that famous figure of 43% more non-skid mileage came from the toughest tests that Goodyear engineers could devise.

They ordered the test fleet to speed up to 50—jam on the brakes—speed up to 50—jam on the brakes—a test ten times as tough on a tire as ordinary driving.

KEEP CHICAGO AHEAD.

The civic committee Keep Chicago Ahead, one of Mayor Kelly's constructive proposals for the recovery and renewed progress of Chicago, has been carrying on an effective campaign that is gaining recognition from the more alert and public spirited members of the business community. But its management reports that financial support is not as general nor as substantial as this important activity requires and, we will add, deserves. The appeal for more adequate funds should be promptly and substantially answered. Every business enterprise in the city is concerned in the success of this campaign and is and will continue to be benefited by it.

Chicago has suffered in recent years from a distortion and exaggeration in publicity of which no other city in the world has been made the victim. It has been a peculiar experience not easy to account for but to be frankly faced. We have known that the sensationalizing of events in Chicago's underworld of crime and corrupt politics and in the municipal administration which ruthless politics demoralized for nearly half a generation was not a fair report of the realities. We have known that Chicago was not what outside opinion was sedulously educated to believe. But Chicago has needed publicity for the truth and has been very slow to provide it. Mayor Kelly and his committee propose to provide it and the community owes it to its own material interests as well as to its own justifiable civic pride to give the effort liberal support.

Chicago has only to let the facts be known to dissipate the cloud of unjust disrepute from which it has suffered. The Keep Chicago Ahead committee is at work on this service. The revival of Chicago in its governmental affairs and social conditions is well on its way and will continue. Its character for initiative, energy and civic spirit is asserting itself. Its natural advantages of location and climate, the resources its progressive citizenship has been energetically developing have established it as one of the world's centers of civilized achievement, one of the greatest of markets, one of the greatest resorts for the seeker of pleasure, refreshment or knowledge..

This it is the privilege of the Keep Chicago Ahead committee to make known. The time is propitious, for in the Exposition of 1933 and 1934 Chicago has given an extraordinary demonstration of its quality. A future of greater achievement lies before us. It is for us of this generation to do our part toward realizing it and justifying by our own courage and accomplishment the courage and faith of our forbears.

MR. RICHBERG ON ANARCHY.

Mr. Donald Richberg, general counsel for the NRA, says: "We cannot preserve the constitution of the United States as a charter of political freedom by construing it as a charter of economic anarchy."

What is economic anarchy? If the phrase means anything at all as a term of reproach it means economic disorganization. It means that a woman who wants to buy a loaf of bread doesn't know where to look for it and a man who wants to sell a bale of cotton cannot so much as guess where to find his customers. It means the disorderly flow of goods to market and violent and senseless fluctuations in price. It means that the bakeries today will turn out five times as many loaves as they will sell. It means that manufacturers cannot count upon the arrival of raw materials. It means that railroads transporting shoes from St. Louis to Chicago will send them by way of Boston this week and by way of San Francisco next.

Mr. Richberg ought to return to Chicago for a few days to visit the Fair. There he could observe numerous evidences of the "economic anarchy" he reviles. He could study automobile manufacture, for example. He could learn that the hundreds of materials of which automobiles are made come in a steady stream from every quarter of the globe, in quantities which seldom vary more than a few per cent from the precise amounts required. He should familiarize himself with the astonishing orderliness within the "anarchic" automobile business; and then he might go on to discover that the orderliness within the industry could not obtain if there were economic disorganization in the larger economic sphere outside the factories from which the factories draw the materials to be fabricated into motor cars.

Mr. Richberg is a good deal less than candid. What he resents he calls anarchy, but it is really freedom. By contrast, the system of control which he has helped set up is truly anarchic in its consequences, as witness the bloody strikes which NRA has encouraged and the disorganization of markets attributable to monopoly prices fostered by NRA.

Mr. Richberg would have come close to the truth had he said: "We can preserve the constitution of the United States as a charter of political freedom only if we construe it as a charter of economic freedom." The desire for economic freedom was perhaps the strongest influence in achieving political freedom in the eighteenth century. Conversely, Lenin, Mussolini, and Hitler destroyed political freedom because they desired to destroy economic freedom. Mussolini, for example, deprived members of the Italian trade unions of the right to assemble because he proposed to lower workmen's wages and could not do so if they could organize their protest. The government in which Mr. Richberg is a cog is seeking to suspend the great liberties in the bill of rights (as witness the struggle against the freedom of the press) in order to impose an economic tyranny. As long as men may speak, write, and assemble freely, and as long as they cannot be jailed without a jury trial, economic tyranny cannot be imposed. That is why the New Dealers, and Mr. Richberg among them, are continually seeking to destroy the political liberties of the American people.

INSTRUCTION FOR SAFE MOTORING.

The fatal casualties on the highways occurring in the last few days, as well as the sharp increase of motor accidents this year, emphasize the urgent need of a radical change in our treatment of highway conditions. The most important requirement we think is clear. The rules of the road must be taught and then strictly enforced. Most motor accidents are the result of a disregard of regulations which is not intentional but the result of ignorance. In this belief we have urged a campaign of public education. This campaign should engage the efforts of the motor industry, motor clubs, the press, and civic agencies. But the most effective education can and should be carried on by the police. By firm and tactful supervision, warning and instruction in the actual circumstances of the highways, improvement in driving habits will soon appear. All sensible motorists will welcome it and also approve more drastic treatment for deliberate and more serious offenses.

A MILE-A-MINUTE TO MILWAUKEE.

The railroads operating between Chicago and Milwaukee have instituted a new train schedule in which the running time between the two centers is reduced to ninety minutes. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, long an advocate of speedier passenger service, wishes to offer its congratulations to the lines involved.

Following closely upon the announcement that the western carriers will continue their reduced passenger fares for another year, this shortening of schedules greatly strengthens the impression that the railroads are taking up the cudgels in a determined effort to halt the flow of passenger trafic to other media of transportation. They have one unquestioned point of superiority over the bus—speed of service. Their outstanding handicap in meeting the rivalry of the air lines is a lack of that same time saver. By shortening running schedules the railways accentuate their advantage in one field of competition and minimize their disability in the other.

Practically mile-a-minute time to Milwaukee is an excellent start, but it should be followed by similar speeding up of schedules all over the country. And no doubt this will be done. By means of reduced rates, faster schedules, and experiments with modernized equipment, notice has been served on competing agencies of transportation to be on their toes, for the railways are on their way.

AUTO FERRIES ON LAKE MICHIGAN.

[Grand Haven Tribune.]

An automobile ferry of new design for operation on Lake Michigan between Chicago and Benton Harbor or Michigan City as a means of avoiding trafic congestion along the southern rim of the lake has been suggested by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. A similar service between Grand Haven and Milwaukee ought to be considered also.

It has come to our attention several times during the recent reorganization of Lake Michigan shipping that there are very few boats capable of carrying automobiles. The Ludington car ferries accommodate many automobiles, carrying them to Manitowoc and other points, and some of the passenger boats, such as the Missouri, are specializing in automobiles [particularly the new ones], but where is there a boat on this lake built especially for auto carrying? Lake Michigan has had few new ships for many years, during which time the nature of travel has changed greatly.

What motorists want is not some lumbering car ferry, not a ship such as those employed now to carry passengers and package freight, but a boat somewhat like the ferries which carry automobiles across the Detroit river. Of course the Lake Michigan ferries would have to be much larger and equipped to cope with the storms and severe weather. Also, they ought to be faster than the present boats and ferries. With a half dozen of these ferries plying between here and Milwaukee daily, motorists could enjoy a pleasant lake trip, avoid a long drive around the lake, and travel from east to west by the shortest possible course.

We are heartily in accord [illegible] THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's proposal to modernize our lake shipping. The reason that shipping has declined on Lake Michigan is because new money hasn't been used to keep the boats up with changing trafic needs. The public wants a faster, safer, more economical translake service. No question about it, a new deal in lake shipping is coming. And it is bound to cater to the motorist and his automobile, since motoring is now a most popular form of travel. New ships of new design, new docks to speed up loading and unloading of automobiles, new rates of speed, lower costs for transporting—this is what Lake Michigan cities must encourage, particularly a town like Grand Haven located on the direct route between east and west.

AND WHILE COLLEGE GRADUATES are running filling stations and washing autos, if they're lucky, Cavalcade, just a horse, wins forty thousand dollars. And Cavalcade never went to college and not even to high school. And while bright young men and women with college degrees and fraternity and sorority pins plastered all over 'em are running around in vain looking for jobs Cavalcade steps out and gets forty thousand berries. And what he'll do with all this money Heaven alone knows. He doesn't care for sixteen cylinder things or yachts or bicycles, doesn't drink or smoke and has no family. Yet he pulls down forty thousand bucks. That's a lot of money these days or any days. Gosh, I hope there's something in this Hindoo idea of reincarnation. If I am ever reincarnated I would like to be a race horse. It's my only chance of ever pulling down forty thousand dollars.

Which reminds me of the story in Larry Hutton's book, long out of print, of the two actors in New York, who many years ago, long before the motor car, were standing at the bar of a little saloon down around Twenty-third street talking about one thing and another. After relating they couldn't get jobs and that the theater outlook was getting gloomier and gloomier, one of the actors says, "Well, over in India they say if you die your soul passes into some kind of an animal. Transmigration they call it. I hope it's true; I'm sick to death of being an actor."

"Well, Jim," said Tom, the other actor, "what sort of an animal would you like to be after you die?"

"I'd like to be a horse," said Jim, "one of these smart, sassy stepping horses that the rich drive up and down Fifth avenue hitched to a phaeton or trap or something like that."

A year or two passed and Jim was dead. One morning Tom, the other actor, was walking past a big brownstone mansion in Fifth avenue when a very fashionable looking phaeton drove up to the curb and a woman who was plainly one of the society leaders of New York got down. She hitched her horse and tripped up the steps of the brownstone mansion and disappeared within.

"Hello, Tom," said a low voice cautiously. "Hey, Tom, don't you know me?" Tom stopped in amazement. There was no living thing around him except the horse hitched to the smart phaeton.

"Yes," said the mysterious voice, "it's the horse talking. It's me, Jim, your old pal. That transmigration thing is true all right. After I died I became a horse."

"Well, well," gasped Tom, "yes, you're Jim all right. I recognize your voice. How do you like being a horse?"

"Great!" said the horse. "No more one night stands, no more touring the provinces, no more managers ducking out on me and leaving me to walk all the way back to Broadway. I've got a nice owner, a fine barn, regular meals, silver plated harness and a nice little phaeton to haul around and all the oats and corn and hay I can eat."

"That's good," said Tom.

"It's the life!" said the horse. "I'd like to tell you more, but here comes the fashionable woman that owns me and I wish you'd go away now, Tom; she thinks a lot of me and I don't want her to catch me talking to an actor."

IT'S MIGHTY DISCOURAGING! No wonder that in struggling to uplift humanity we stop now and then to ask, What's the use? Here, after Prof. Tugwell and the AAA have plowed under little pigs, wheat, corn and cotton in order to make Nature behave her fool-self and bring forth only the exact amount of farm products required on any particular day or hour, say for instance Saturday, July 14, at half past four in the afternoon, look what happens! On that day Farmer Glenn Weeks of Wellfleet, Neb., found four hens with broods of newly hatched chicks. At the barn he discovered that his mare had given birth to a colt. In the pasture was a cow with a newborn calf. Returning from there, he stopped at the hog-house and found a sow with a new litter of pigs. Then, back in his home again, he learned that his wife had presented him with an eight pound daughter.

Anyhow, whatever happens to the rest of the overproduction, I hope the AAA lets Farmer Weeks keep the baby.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

ECZEMA—A MISNOMER.

THE term eczema has been used as a diagnostic catchall for many skin eruptions which are characterized by oozing or peeling and accompanied by severe itching. These eruptions vary in intensity, sometimes disappearing and later reappearing. New attacks cause serum to ooze from the affected areas of the skin; thus the term wet eczema arose. Cases of long standing become dry and the skin thickened, and are known as dry eczema.

Until quite recently the causes were practically unknown. Because of the stubbornness of the condition, and the vague theories as to its cause, the patience of the physician as well as of the unfortunate victim was sorely tried. Modern research and the keen observations of skin specialists have in the last few years revolutionized the conception of so-called eczema. In fact, skin experts seldom make the diagnosis at the present time, feeling that it describes only a general condition.

Except in these rare instances when eczema is caused by diseases involving the lymph and blood tissues, the trouble is now known to be due to three different factors. First of all, infections of the skin have to be considered. Many eczemas of the hands are due to infections with ringworm fungi and to superficial invading bacteria. The ringworm fungi can often be found by microscopical examination and occasionally can be grown on special test tube culture media. These infections, when on the feet, are sometimes called athlete's foot. This type of eczema at times attacks the nails, causing them to become thickened and to have a powdery appearance. Other parts of the body, such as the groins and armpits, can be infected with this type of ringworm. Scientific treatment with antiseptic and fungicidal ointments can cure nearly all ringworm eczema cases.

In the second place, oozing and itching eruptions on the hands, arms, and neck have to be studied for external irritants. Substances used about the house or in industry, such as insect powders, chemicals, soaps, and many other suspected articles, are tested to see if the patient's skin is sensitive to them. Local treatment is carried out by the physician while the necessary studies are being pursued. Sometimes these patients have asthma and hay fever which are relieved as soon as the irritating substance is detected and removed.

Thirdly, some widespread eczema eruptions are caused by the inhalation of certain substances, like dust, or the ingestion of certain foods. These possibilities are studied by means of skin tests and special diets.

Oftentimes more than one of these three factors may be causing the so-called intractable eczemas. All in all, one can readily see that there is really no eczema, but instead there is an inflammation or dermatitis due to certain infections, irritants, or ingestants. Infantile eczema falls into the same category.

DOCTOR IS CORRECT.

S. F. H. writes: I was taken to the hospital last February with a ruptured appendix. I was operated on immediately and drains put in. I am 50 years old. The doctor said that on account of so much poison in me he did not want to search around for the appendix when they were operating on me as it would have been hard to find it and might have reduced the chances of a successful operation. I asked the doctor what becomes of the burst appendix, and he said it breaks up and finally disappears. I noticed a recent story in the newspaper where another operation is necessary for the removal of the appendix after the man had recovered from a ruptured appendix.

REPLY.

Your doctor is correct. Subsequent operations are frequently unnecessary as the remainder of the appendix is too small to cause trouble. A second operation should be performed only in case you have definite symptoms calling for surgical care.

STERILIZATION.

R. G. W. writes: What are the state laws regarding sterilization for girls? The girl is 16 years old, now pregnant. She has the mentality of a child of 8 and is in fourth grade in school.

REPLY.

Twenty-five states have laws providing for the sterilization of criminals, insane, or persons who are mentally defective. Any competent physician, after consultation with a reputable colleague and after securing the consent of parents and the patient, may perform an operation that will result in sterilization. There is no law against such a procedure if two physicians regard the operation as advisable from the standpoint of the health of the patient.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION PAYMENTS.

Chicago, July 3.—[Friend of the Insured.]—Will you please tell me how much more the payments would be for a man with children than for one without children, under the workmen's compensation law? If the payments are not enough, can anything be done after releases have been signed and given to the insurance company?

A. D. O.

The compensation law provides for payments equal to 50 per cent of the injured employé's earnings, but not less than $7.50 nor more than $15 per week. These amounts are increased five per cent for each child of the injured employé, including children who have been legally adopted, under 16 years of age at the time of the injury to the employé until such percentage shall reach a maximum of 65 per cent. For example, if 50 per cent of the employé's wages would entitle him to the maximum of $15 per week, such maximum would be increased to the following amounts: $16 in case of an employé with two children under the age of 16 years, $18 for three children under 16 years of age, $20 for four or more children under 16 years of age. Where the minimum of $7.50 weekly is payable the amount is increased to $11, $12, $13, and $14 for one to four children respectively under 16 years of age. In event the payments received are not sufficient as provided for under the law, application to the insurance company will rectify the error regardless of the fact that releases have been signed.

MARRIED WOMEN AT WORK.

Chicago, July 11.—I think J. P. N., who wrote the article entitled "Married Women Who Work," is shortsighted. Has he been asleep for the last four years that he has not heard about the depression? Does he not know that thousands of men have had their salaries slashed to pieces or been thrown out of work entirely? Has it not occurred to him that these women he is criticizing have, by their efforts, helped to keep homes together and families off the relief roll?

Don't think we married women like to work; the majority of us hate it and the majority of husbands hate having us work. My husband is neither unambitious nor docile in his own job. In fact, he's fairly howling for a chance—the same chance his father and grandfather had—to support a wife and a home unaided. But his hands are tied—he's simply marking time—doing man's work for little better than office boy's salary. Our combined salaries today do not equal what his formerly did.

Remember, we are not the ones who are responsible for present economic conditions which force wives to work after marriage. We found things as they are and are doing our best to surmount the obstacles which confront us. It might be well for J. P. N. to do a little hard thinking and to "render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's."

A MARRIED OFFICE WORKER.

GRATITUDE.

Chicago, July 9.—Of the many additions to this year's Fair the opportunities to hear the music of symphony orchestras I judge to be by far the greatest. Their programs give me intense pleasure in anticipation at the time and in retrospect. May I use this means as an expression of gratitude for this finest of entertainment?

FLORA C. REPS.

PRAYING TIME.

Chicago, July 12.—History tells us that George Washington and Abraham Lincoln in their times of greatest trial were known to seek divine guidance on their bended knees. How would you go about finding out what evening in the week the brain trust holds its prayer meeting?

F. H. C.

KEYSTONE STUFF.

Chicago, July 11.—It really must be murder for an editorial writer to say the things you want said without getting into competition with the comic section. If the bright lads who ground out Sunday's long painful harangue don't watch out they'll be getting booked for fifty-two weeks solid in vaudeville.

Roosevelt may be slicing it up a little, but they're still paying off on dollars. Moreover, for some reason or other which I'll leave for you to try and figure out, there are lot of banks around, wide open, in which to deposit them with better than an even chance of getting them back whole. You can get odds from here to China that if the public only had 59 cents out of every famous gold standard dollar for which it was tossed back in the good old days you yearn for it would be singing and dancing and looking for more pots for more chickens.

But getting back to that keystone comedy staf of yours, you really have a high class jokester in that "Orr." He gets louder and funnier every day.

AMUSED.

NO; AND IT ISN'T FARLEY.

Cobden, Ill., July 9.—Thank you so much for publishing the picture of the Republicans commemorating the founding of their party at Jackson, Mich.

It is a pleasure to see that they are all there.

Not that it makes any difference, but is that Harry Daugherty and Roxie Stinson on the front porch?

A. E. TOWNSEND.

THE ANCIENT ART OF HISSING.

Stockton, Ill., July 10.—When a raw bit of vulgarity is shown on the movie screen what happens? Just this: The numskulls emit loud guffaws, while those with good taste sit in offended silence. What we need is a revival of the good old art of hissing. Then the Hollywooden heads will no longer have the effrontery to say that the people demand filth on the screen. The movies are too big and vital to be killed by a comparatively few human chinch bugs.

MOVIE GOER.

WELL, WHO!

Chicago, July 8.—If you blame the New Dealers as you do for spending too much trying to get us out of the hole, why do you not blame the old dealers for putting us in it? If the new crew is making a mess out of trying to get us off the rocks, as you claim it does, would it be good policy to hand the ship over to the crowd that put us on it? But that is exactly what you do. Who is looney now? You are no euphemist but an exasperatist, and a calumnist, and a canardist, and a carminativist.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Chicago, July 12.—[Friend of the People.]—I was born in the United States and married an alien eighteen years ago. He has no citizen papers, but has been in this country 23 years. We have two children, both born in this country. Am I a citizen of this country, and are my children citizens? Will they be allowed to vote when 21?

S. N.

The marriage of a female citizen of the United States to an alien prior to Sept. 22, 1922, divested said female with United States citizenship. The same, however, may be regained by making application to the immigration and naturalization service, room 712, new postoffice building, Canal and Van Buren streets, Chicago. The two children born in the United States are citizens thereof, regardless of the citizenship of the parents, and are eligible to vote when they have attained their majority.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Immigration and Naturalization, Chicago District.

PROPERTY TRANSFER.

Chicago, July 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In 1927 I bought one share in a state bank and sold it soon after. Later the bank closed. Am I still liable? 2. Would it be illegal to transfer title of my property to my husband at this time?

W. J. S.

1. Yes.
2. In general such transfers can be set aside as frauds on existing creditors.

JAPANESE NAVY LEADERS DEMAND PARITY IN FLEETS

Secret Parley Is Held to Draft Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 17 [Tuesday].—An official but secret conference of fifteen of the navy's highest officers which, it is believed, resulted in the drafting of the policies the Japanese navy will demand in view of the pending 1935 naval conference, was held here yesterday.

The meeting was presided over by the imperial prince, Admiral Hiroyasu Fushimi, chief of the navy's general staf. Despite the secrecy surrounding the conference it became known that Minister of Navy Admiral Mineo Osumi submitted the naval policy reached at the first meeting last Saturday of the "big five" of Premier Admiral Keisuki Okada's new cabinet.

Japan Demands Equality.

After Saturday's meeting it had been indicated that a decision to insist on the scrapping of all naval ratios under the London treaty and the granting of naval equality to Japan was reached. Admiral Osumi also affirmed the navy's claim for a Japanese navy on a parity with the navies of the United States and Great Britain. He added that the naval forces will demand the new conference to establish equality for Japan in world naval rating and to abolish the ratio system.

(A 5-5-3 battleship ratio now exists between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, with Japan on the short end.)

After Saturday's conference Admiral Osumi said his nation would also demand perfection of armaments. He asked the nation to support these demands.

Yesterday's meeting is seen as the naval leaders' answer to what they consider the government's indecision regarding a Japanese program at the 1935 conference.

Japanese newspapers are announcing that an understanding was reached regarding the navy's attitude at the next naval conference, but these reports are unconfirmed.

Five Basic Points Listed.

The Tokio Asahi Shimbun went so far as to list five basic points purported to have been agreed on at today's conference:

FIRST—The abandoning of the ratio method of armaments limitation.

SECOND—Restoring of autonomy rights in matters of national defense.

THIRD—The removal of Japan from international agreements considered to put her at a disadvantage, and thus restoring an assurance of national security.

FOURTH—A rational armaments reduction, providing that the heaviest reductions would be exacted from the nations most heavily armed, thus eliminating the menace to those more lightly armed.

FIFTH—Japan's retention, in any consideration, of the equatorial Pacific islands held in mandate from the league of nations.

The utmost importance continues to be attached to the naval question. A foreign office statement is expected to be issued today.

The drastic demands of the naval leaders, despite the announced decision reached last Saturday, are considered here to be getting only lukewarm support from the cabinet's big five—Premier Okada, Admiral Osumi, Minister of War Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, Minister of Finance Sanenobu Fujii, and Foreign Minister Koki Hirota.

One high official said that the hesitancy of Hirota and Osumi to agree on Japan's stand for naval negotiations has resulted in postponing the Japanese participation in the preliminary conferences which have been taking place in London between the United States and Britain.

Opposed to Premier.

Many navy men who have demanded an adamant stand on naval policy did not welcome Okada as premier. Yesterday's meeting is seen as an effort to get popular support for the navy leaders' demands, and to bring to the forefront their prestige to curry favor with the civilian members of the government.

Among those attending the conference were Minister of Navy Osumi, members of the supreme war council, commanders of the fleets and naval bases who gathered from their posts of duty throughout the empire, and ranking admirals of the general staf of the naval office.

U. S. Ends Talk with British.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 16.—Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, who has been conducting naval talks with the British preliminary to the 1935 conference, announced today that he has completed his work in London for the time being and will return to Washington, D. C., Thursday on the liner Washington. Davis will be accompanied by Rear Admiral Richard H. Leigh and Commander T. S. Wilkinson of the general board of the United States navy.

Davis expects to return in September for the meeting of the steering committee of the disarmament conference and will be ready for naval discussions with the Japanese.

FOUND SLAIN IN COUNTY FOREST; 2 GUNS BY SIDE

With two revolvers lying near, the body of Leslie C. Ackley, 39 years old, 18 South Madison street, Hinsdale, was found yesterday in a lonely section of the forest preserve between Brainerd and Mannheim roads in Lyons township. He had been shot once in the right temple with a bullet fired from an old revolver formerly owned by his grandfather. The hammer of the other weapon had been snapped on two undischarged shells. Death is believed to have occurred Sunday. The victim's mother, Mrs. Laura Ackley, with whfom he lived, said her son, an auto painter, had been despondent over his inability to pay a $3,000 mortgage.

Reherse for Tribune Dance Pageant

500 GIRLS START REHERSING FOR DANCE PAGEANT

North and West Sides Get First Instructions.

More than 500 Chicago girls and women living on the west and north sides of the city attended their first rehersal yesterday morning for the dance pageant which for the third time will be a feature of the Chicagoland Music Festival concert by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, to be held Saturday night, Aug. 18, in Soldiers' field.

The entrants range in ages from 6 years old to mothers of 35 and 40. The north side practice was held in the Aragon ballroom and the west side at the Guyon's Paradise ballroom.

South Side Meets Today.

The first meeting of the south side dancers will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Trianon ballroom. The doors of all three ballrooms will be opened at 9:30 on the mornings of the meetings and classes will be dismissed by the instructors promptly at 12 noon. The teachers are Miss Betty Jones, north; Miss Mayblossom Macdonald, west, and Mrs. Ermie Schultz, south. The north side rehersals are being held on Monday and Thursday mornings, the west side on Monday and Wednesday mornings, and the south section on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

1,500 Girls in Dance.

The dance this summer, a butterfly ballet, will be given by 1,500 girls to the music of the festival concert band. The director, Victor Grabel, has chosen "Valse des Fleurs" from the Nut Cracker suite by Tschaikowsky for the selection to be played while the pageant is presented. Many of the mothers accompanied their daughters to the first rehersals yesterday. It is not necessary for a girl to have sent in a signed festival dance entry coupon to take part in the pageant. Official entry blanks will be given out at the ballrooms.

JAP INVADES U. S. CONSULATE WITH SWORD; ARRESTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 17 [Tuesday].—A Japanese youth, believed to be deranged, pulled off the copper nameplate from the American consulate general at Mukden, Manchukuo, yesterday and invaded the offices brandishing a short sword. He threw the nameplate at Monroe H. Hall, vice consul, and, after a few threatening words and gestures, turned and leaped over the consulate wall. He was arrested by a guard, who turned him over to the gendarmerie. The youth gave his name as Takuma Tsukishima, a member of a Japanese patriotic society whose uniform he was wearing. He is 19 years old and a native of Kumamoto prefecture.

ROBBED BY TWO GUNMEN.

While driving with his wife and children early yesterday, Arthur Drauer, 831 Thomas street, was robbed of $55 by two gunmen who forced his car to the curb at Ashland avenue and Blackhawk street.

ROOSEVELT OUTING COST TO NATION PUT AT HALF A MILLION

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special].—It is pointed out here that no millionaire or crowned head has ever taken so luxurious a fishing trip as President Roosevelt is now enjoying. The battle cruiser Houston, launched in 1929 at a cost of over thirteen million dollars, has been taken from naval duty to act as the presidential yacht. Three other naval ships act as convoys. The pay roll and fuel bill for the trip will approximate $110,000, and the cost of bringing the ships back to duty will be as much. The cost of the wear and tear on the machinery for the long voyage is not estimated, but can reasonably be figured in the hundreds of thousands. The total cost of $500,000 for the outing will not be far out of the way.

ROOSEVELT VIEWS GUNNERY TESTS ABOARD CRUISER

Aboard the U. S. S. New Orleans Accompanying President Roosevelt, July 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt watched the cruisers Houston and New Orleans in long range gunnery and range finding practice on the broad spaces of the Pacific this afternoon, as he sped to Clipperton Island, 2,000 miles out from the Panama canal.

The New Orleans drew off far to port of the Houston during the afternoon, and drill was held in flag signals, pointing, and range finding. No shots were fired.

Maintaining a fast 21 knot pace, the President's cruiser held to the Cipperton Island course, somewhat southerly from the regular Hawaii route. At 6 o'clock tonight he was 400 miles distant from the island located off Mexico and due south of the mouth of the Gulf of California.

The day was spent leisurely aboard the Houston. Last night Capt. Walter B. Woodson of the Houston entertained the presidential party at dinner. Mr. Roosevelt perused press reports of the general strike at San Francisco, but offered no comment.

GIRL FAINTS BEFORE ROBBERS.

Miss Lilli Baskind, 211 East Delaware place, fainted when two robbers snatched her purse containing $3 as she sat in an automobile in front of her home early yesterday. Dr. Burton Solar of the same address, her escort, who was inside the building, revived her.

ATTACKS TREND IN SELECTION OF U. S. TEACHERS

Trends in the American system of education were criticized yesterday by Robert C. Woellner, assistant professor of education at the University of Chicago, at the opening session of the Conference of Administrative Officers of Public and Private Schools on the Midway.

Prof. Woellner, executive secretary of the board of vocational guidance and placement at the university, charged that the school systems of the country are setting an age limit of 35 to 40 years in hiring teachers, "with no thought for the possible reality that chronological age does not correspond with the individual's functional growth or deterioration."

"Regulations prohibiting the employment of married women have been stimulated by the unemployment situation of the last several years," according to Prof. Woellner, but they "subordinate the primary purpose of education. Data of the National Education associatioin indicates that married women are just as effective teachers as unmarried women."

He asserted further that incapable teachers are being hired through political expedience, and that because of reduced stafs teachers are being loaded with wide ranges of courses beyond their capacity.

BEG YOUR PARDON

A resolution adopted by the Cook County council of the American Legion, and printed in Saturday's TRIBUNE, condemning the action of the Chicago Musicians' union in allegedly preventing the broadcast of a Legion drum and bugle corps from the World's Fair on Memorial day because they were not a member of the union, referred to the Chicago Federation of Musicians, not the American Musicians' Union of North America.

R. E. Busse, president of the Busse Safe and Vault company, states that Eugene Morgan, described yesterday as an employé of the company, is not connected with it in any capacity.

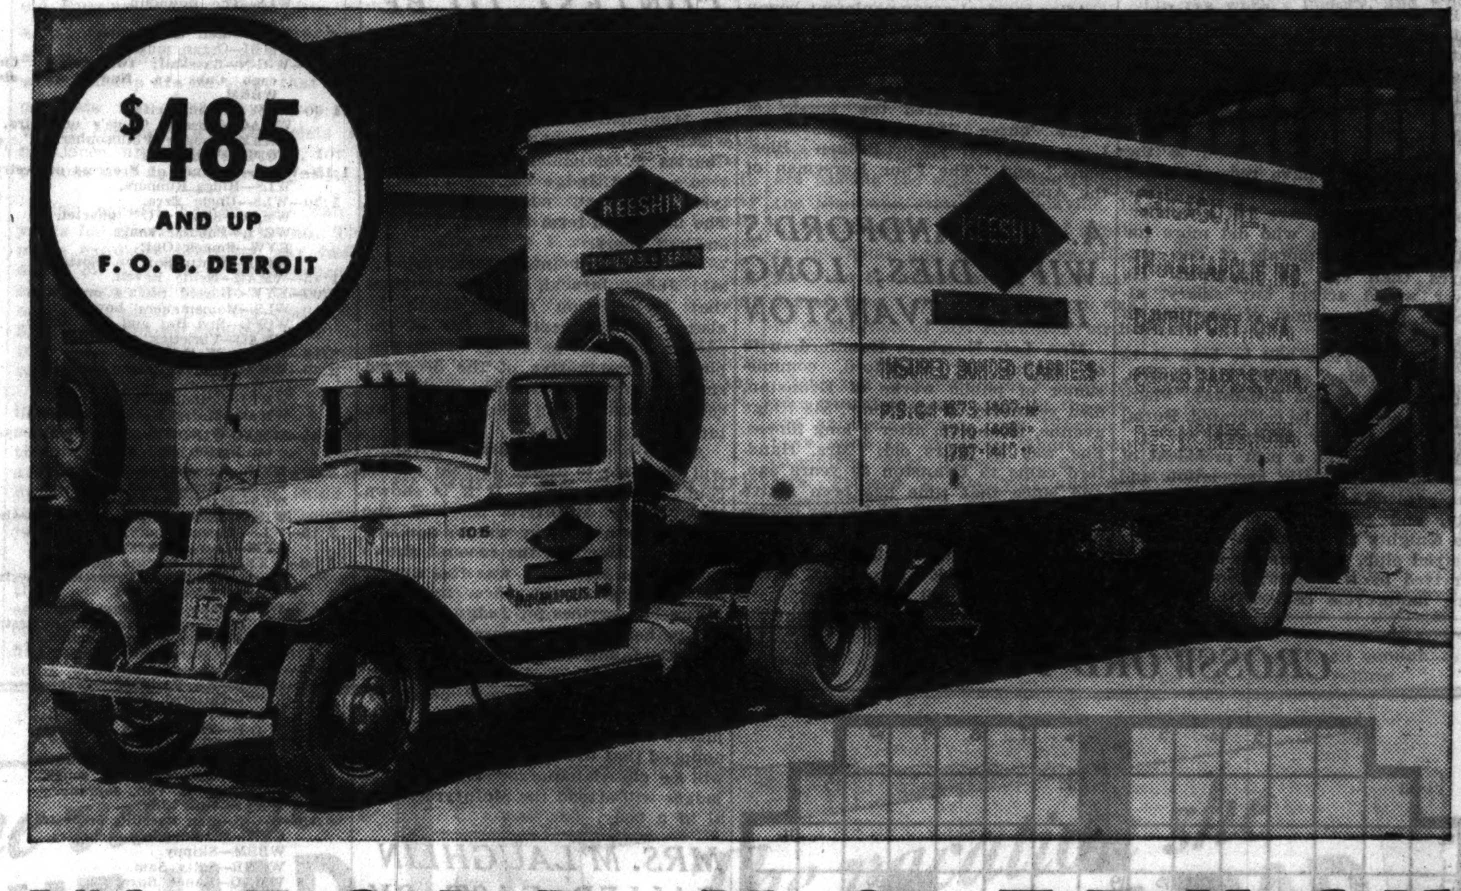
NO TRUCK IN AMERICA IS LOWER IN PRICE OR HIGHER IN QUALITY CONSTRUCTION



THE NEW FORD V·8 TRUCK
saves this owner $500 a year on gasoline alone and hauls 7½-ton PAY LOADS
Letters by the hundreds . . . from owners all over the country . . . give the New Ford V-8 Truck the most enthusiastic endorsement a Ford truck has ever received. Take this owner, for example. He replaced his high-priced equipment with Ford V-8 Trucks. He hauls the same heavy loads. He makes faster trips. And each truck saves almost enough in gasoline costs alone to pay for itself in a single year.
What's the reason for all this owner enthusiasm? What's back of this performance and economy? The answer can be expressed in one word—Quality!
The new full-floating rear axle takes the load off the axle shafts. They have nothing to do but turn the wheels. You can remove them without jacking up the truck. The 80-horsepower V-8 truck engine uses no more fuel than a "four." Dual carburetor saves gas, steps up performance. Valve seat inserts make valve grinding rarely necessary. New heavy-duty, copper-lead connecting-rod bearings are designed to stand up under the most severe service. Low-cost Engine Exchange Plan gives you a block-tested, factory-reconditioned engine for much less than the cost of an engine overhaul. Full torque-tube drive and radius-rods take all driving and braking thrusts. Springs have nothing to do but cushion the load.
The New Ford V-8 Truck is the only truck at any price that gives you all these important features. It sells at the lowest truck price in America. Go see it. Compare its big size, driving comfort and nimbleness in traffic with any truck you know. Then start saving money, as thousands are doing, with the New Ford V-8 Truck.

Salary of City Refused by Business Leader.

Richard J. Collins, president of the city civil service commission and a prominent business man, died yesterday morning after a heart seizure in his home at 5555 Sheridan road. His death came as a surprise, for he had not confided to friends the four year old warning of a physician that he might die of heart disease at any time.

Mr. Collins, who was unmarried, and his sister, Miss Catharine M. Collins, who lived with him, motored Saturday night to Lake Geneva. On the return trip Sunday he complained of illness and shortly after reaching home he was stricken. His condition steadily grew worse, but he was conscious and understood his condition.

Born in Chicago, May 16, 1864, Mr. Collins received his education and resided here all his life. He was compelled at an early age to aid in the support of his family, and in 1878 as a wagon boy for a wholesale meat firm began the business career that led him to prominence in the city.

In Many Concerns.

His enterprises were successful and he was rated a wealthy man. He was a director in many business concerns, including the First National bank, Chicago Great Western railroad, Murphy In-A-Dor Bed company, Wilson & Co., Knight Light company, and the Central Wax Paper company. He was also chairman of the board of the Fulton Street Wholesale Market company, which was one of his earliest business interests.

But it was not until he was appointed president of the civil service commission in 1931 by the late Mayor Cermak that he became more widely known outside of business circles.

In his city position his name became known to all city employés and especially to members of the police and fire departments. On taking the job he warned that drunkenness would not be tolerated, and those who came before the commission for this offense were discharged. He was equally resolute in correcting any errors of judgment.

Mayor Cites Hard Work.

Mr. Collins was the fifth high city official to die within the last few months. The others were John E. Ericsson, building commissioner, Benjamin F. Curtis, commissioner of streets and electricity; Daniel J. Carmody, acting fire commissioner and deputy chief fire marshal; and Victor S. Petterson, deputy city controler.

Mayor Kelly said that several of the deaths were the result of overwork in attempting to operate departments under the strictest economy. He and members of his cabinet expressed grief at Mr. Collins' death.

"The death of my friend is the greatest shock I have received since taking office," said the mayor. "The people of Chicago have lost a wonderful official, a man who did more for building up the morale of city employés than can be imagined. He never would accept any salary, although he gave most of his time to the city."

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Thursday at St. Ita church, Catalpa avenue and Broadway, where requiem mass will be celebrated. Burial will be at Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Collins was a past president of the Chicago Athletic association and was a member of the Bobolink, Beverly, and Knollwood country clubs, the Knights of Columbus, and the Industrial club. Besides his sister he is survived by a brother, John W. Collins, motorcycle dealer.

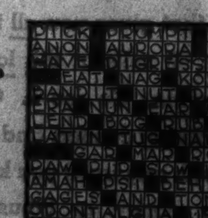
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Buddy Rogers and his orchestra were signed yesterday for a commercial radio show which will reach the airways through CBS beginning early in August. Jeannie Lang, whose giggle is her radio trade mark, and Buddy will be featured in tabloid musical-dramatic sketches on the new program.

Other entertainers in the College Inn orchestra will contribute to the show. Among these are Jack Douglas, comedy singer; Gene Conklin, tenor; and Milton Monson, until recently a lumberjack and CCC worker. Jeannie Lang will be brought to Chicago for the first half dozen broadcasts. Rogers' engagement here ends in mid-September; then the show will move to New York. A baking concern will pay the bills.

The Sunday night Hall of Fame on NBC will drop theatrical and movie headliners for the summer and substitute a round robin of radio orchestras, beginning next Sunday. Bandsmen already signed include Ted Fio-Rito, Ted Weems, Glen Gray, and Casa Loma, Enric Madriguerra, and Duke Ellington. Fio-Rito, former Edgewater Beach maestro, will return to Chicago for the first time in three years early in August to play an engagement at the Palace theater.

Sponsors of "The Sentinel," long headlining Noble Cain's a cappella chorus, Joe Koestner and orchestra in a Sunday afternoon concert of high musical merit, are heading in the hotcha direction. The "highbrow" chorus is to be dropped and a smaller unit utilized—possibly Harry Walsh's Northerners. Roy Shield's lively orchestra is to be used the next two weeks—and if it suits may stay on. Popular soloists are being auditioned.

Noble Cain, incidentally, has a new job at NBC—he is vocal director. . . . George Jessel's Sunday night CBS revue from New York has blown up, but Norma Talmadge's husband may be on the air within the week here. George joins the Chez Paree entertainers next Friday. . . . The three Doring Sisters of W-G-N will be guests on the NBC Silken Strings show Sunday, July 29.

L. F. GOTTSCHALK, MUSICIAN AND COMPOSER, DEAD

Los Angles, July 16.—(AP)—Louis Ferdinand Gottschalk, 70, veteran composer, conductor and producer of light opera, died at his home here today from a paralytic stroke.

He first gained wide fame as the conductor of "The Merry Widow." He also produced the "Wizard of Oz," plays for L. Frank Baum and collaborated in writing the music of "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz."

After musical accompaniment began to receive more attention from movie makers Mr. Gottschalk came to Hollywood and arranged scores for all of D. W. Griffith's productions for three years. He prepared the music of "The Three Musketeers," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "Broken Blossoms," and "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

A. W. HANDFORD'S WIFE DIES; LONG ILL IN EVANSTON

Mrs. Lois Everhart Handford, wife of Arthur W. Handford, commissioner of public works of Evanston, died yesterday in her home, 848 Ridge avenue, Evanston, after a long illness. She was 56 years old. Mrs. Handford came to Evanston 30 years ago, and since that time has been active in the Women's club and other organizations. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the First Methodist church of Evanston, and burial will be at Rosehill cemetery.

JURY BLAMES FEDERAL AGENT FOR FATAL SHOT

Killing of Woman Censured in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—[Special].—Lear B. Reed, veteran department of justice agent, was criminally careless in the killing of Mrs. Dessie Masterson during a raid on her home Friday night, a coroner's jury decided today in ordering that he be held to the grand jury.

Mrs. Masterson was fatally shot as she lay in bed with one of her four children. She was struck by one of the bullets Reed fired through the closed door of the Masterson flat when her husband delayed opening the door. Masterson says he believed the federal raiders were gangsters.

Tip Prompts Raid.

Reed, who is in charge of the St. Louis federal agents, led the raid in the belief he would find a machine gun used in the slaying last May of John C. Johnson, negro state witness in a kidnaping case. No weapons of any kind were found in the Masterson flat.

According to the testimony of Franklyn F. Yearsley, another department of justice agent who participated in the raid, the investigation of the Masterson flat was undertaken on a tip from Arthur Anderson, prosecuting attorney of St. Louis county. An informer named "O'Connor," who has a criminal record, told Anderson that a man named "Jack" would be found at the address of the Masterson place and that "Jack" had the machine gun. Yearsley testified that although the tip had been received several days before the raid, the department of justice agents had not investigated to see who lived at the address.

Explains Why He Fired.

The Masterson family had moved into the flat only three days before the raid. They apparently were unaware that the place was under suspicion.

Following his arrest by police Saturday, Reed explained that he fired through the door when he thought he heard shots from inside the house. He was released on $5,000 bond.

The coroner's jury made no recommendation regarding Harry Newbold, St. Louis county deputy sherif who was also arrested Saturday by police and held under $5,000 bond as a material witness. He was reported to have been with Reed when the latter fired the shots.

JUDICIAL BALLOT CONTEST TO BE SETTLED JULY 23

County Judge Jarecki yesterday continued until July 23 the hearing of the Municipal court judgeship contest which was brought by former Judge Charles F. McKinley, Republican, in 1930 against Judge George V. McIntyre, Democrat, who died Sunday. The unexpired term is nearly two and one-half years.

"A law went into effect Jan. 1," said Judge Jarecki, "which provides that no election contest shall be abated by the death of one of the parties, but that on behalf of the people a representative of the deceased shall be appointed to carry on the proceedings unless an elector files an intervening petition."

At the hearing on July 23 a report will be made to Judge Jarecki on the count of the ballots. If it is shown that Judge McIntyre received the most votes a vacancy will be declared in the position. If the recount shows that Judge McKinley was the winner he will be given the office.

Funeral services for Judge McIntyre will be held at 9:30 tomorrow morning from the family residence at 4247 Hazel avenue to St. Mary of the Lake church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Judge Frank M. Padden, acting chief justice of the Municipal court, announced that the branches of the court will be closed tomorrow and that the judges will attend the McIntyre funeral in a body.

MRS. M'LAUGHLIN CALLED EAST BY DEATH OF SISTER

Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin was notified yesterday of the death of her only sister, Mrs. Elroy Bradford of New Rochelle, N. Y. She left immediately for New York by plane. Mrs. Bradford was a widow and is survived by two daughters, Elroy, 18 years old, and Jane, 19.

Mrs. McLaughlin visited her sister two months ago and found her to be in good health. The news of her death was unexpected. Mrs. McLaughlin indicated before she left that she would probably bring her two nieces to live with her, at least temporarily.

Officer Guests Will Dance at Party Tonight

Society to Entertain for Canadians at Fair.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE never was anything like a brilliant uniform on a handsome officer to give a lady a thrill, and twenty-one Chicago young women are going to have that thrill tonight when they attend a party to be given in the Canadian club at the Fair for the 42 officers of the 48th Highlanders, the Toronto regiment of the Scottish militia.

The regiment, 600 strong, arrived in town Saturday to spend a week at the Fair, and its officers will be entertained tonight by some of society's fairest, headed by Miss Margot Atkin and Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings, who met some of the officers when they were in Toronto recently for the Association of Junior Leagues' meeting.

Any one with a head for figures can reason that this means two officers per lucky girl. No Chicago men are allowed and the husbands of the feminine guests who are married have not been invited. The party was planned quite suddenly, although the Highlanders' visit has been anticipated for several weeks, and the feminine guests are curious about plans for the party.

Unless they have found out the details about the party from either Mrs. Owings or Miss Atkin this morning, the only information most of the young women have about the party was gleaned from an unrevealing phone call received yesterday afternoon merely telling them to be at the Canadian club at 10 o'clock tonight.

A few of the young women who will put on their best bib and tucker and join Mrs. Owings, Miss Atkin, and the officers for a gay evening are Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Miss Margaret Quan, Miss Peggy Hambleton, Mrs. Maurice P. Geraghty [Helen Tieken], Miss Jane Rowe, Miss Catharine Noyes, Miss Adelaide Atkin, Miss Louise Lackner, and Miss Marjorie Letts.

Garden Delegates Returning from East.

Not all of the Chicagoans who were among the four or five hundred representatives of the 100 garden clubs that make up the membership of the Garden Club of America returned directly home from the annual meeting last week at York Harbor and Bar Harbor. Those who are at home bring reports

ONE of the nicest stories of the week is Ira W. Hurley's tale about the small daughter of an Oak Park lawyer. Last autumn, during Fire Prevention week, she, together with others of the class, was instructed by the teacher about fire prevention and of course was told the story of the fire of 1871.

The pupils were then instructed to prepare a list of ten things to do which would tend to prevent fires. The little girl worked on this assignment at home and was able only to think of nine things to do to prevent fires. Finally in a burst of inspiration she added the tenth item. It was

"Don't put a lantern in back of a cow."

CERTAINLY, for sentimental reasons alone, the World's Fair needs a good catchy simple tune and heretofore has had only Phil Baker's nonsense song, "Century of Progress, I Love You; You're More Than an Exhibition to Me." A new song, "My World's Fair Sweetheart," is now being sung at several World's Fair spots, including "Old Mexico." It was written by Stan Lee Kapusta and the chorus goes:

"My World's Fair Sweetheart,
I love you so;
Once in a cent'ry
My heart's aglow;
With each caress, dear,
We have made such progress
I don't see why we should ever part,
World's Fair Sweetheart of Mine."

After checking on the words, we think that on the whole they are just as nonsensical as Phil Baker's, but maybe the tune helps.

BIG city sights. A hatless blonde in a trailing green evening gown crossing Clark and Monroe streets at noon. . . . A girl in dark blue sailor trousers and a backless bathing suit strolling in the loop. . . . Two black garbed nuns hovering wistfully at the baby doll counter in a toy department. . . . His excellency, Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky, from the U. S. S. R., shooting clay pigeons from the Eugene F. McDonald yacht Mizpah. . . . Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan leaving the Post and Paddock club at Arlington, carrying the great gold cup Cavalcade won in the Classic. . . . Mrs. Shreve Badger and Peggy Hambleton getting Karel Koseluh, former tennis champion of the world, to pose for a picture in connection with the style show they are presenting at A Century of Progress July 20. . . . Peter Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the soviet trading corporation, having his character read by his hands by the lady seated next him at supper.

A LITERARY minded gent visited the World's Fair Saturday with his wife and, among other things, he wanted to see the replica of the old Gutenberg printing press. He knew it was somewhere in the General Exhibits building, so he stopped at a counter marked "Information."

"Could you please tell me where the Gutenberg press exhibit is?" he asked.

"Gutenberg?" repeated the uniformed attendant. "Just a moment."

He searched through several large loose leaf notebooks, then turned back, shaking his head sadly.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but he isn't listed as an exhibitor in this building."

THE other day we printed a story about a lawyer who attempted to bribe a judge and the judge's answer. Dr. James Herbert Mitchell gives an earlier version of the story. He says that during the blockade of the southern ports in the late days of the civil war there had been so much bribery of collectors of the customs in New Orleans that President Lincoln had replaced them repeatedly because of dishonesty. Finally he sent down an honest old friend of his, but after being there for a time he wrote a letter of resignation, giving the reason quoted in the previous story. After having been offered, first a $5,000 bribe, then a $10,000 bribe, and finally a $25,000 bribe, the collector of the customs wrote President Lincoln that, in line with the theory that every man has his price, they were getting too close to his.

Story of Counter Espoinage Well Presented.

"STAMBOUL QUEST."

Good Morning!

Espionage! You know what that means, all right. But what's your data on "counter espionage"?

The gaze is blank. Well, counter espionage—so I learned from this picture—is where they set a spy to catch a spy.

Ali Bey, supposedly loyal to the German government, is commander of the forces guarding the Dardanelles. He is suspected of treachery. And so, "Madame Doctor," Germany's crack woman operative, is dispatched to Constantinople to get the goods on him.

DOES she?

Foolish question.

Of course she doesn't acquire the knowledge she's after without encountering much danger, intrigue, and romance by the way.

Just when she's going good—senses alert, mind concentrated on just one thing—along comes George. Mr. George Brent. Love proceeds to make things dreadfully difficult for her.

However—I think you'll like the ending.

The movie has several surprising sequences. But what surprised me MOST was Mr. Brent. He acts like a new man—humorous and immensely likable. You remember how pleased you were with him in his first pictures; how he let you down in others? Well, here's George atop of himself again. Salutations—and may it last.

Myrna Loy is, as usual, exquisite and clever. Is she or is she not the most beautiful woman on the screen? Supporting playing is creditable.

The film was intelligently directed, has a gratifying amount of suspense, and is effectively staged.

Less Specialization Seen as Trend in High Schools Today

Less specialization and more correlation of the fields of knowledge is the goal of present day education in high schools and junior colleges, according to L. W. Smith, superintendent of schools at Berkeley, Cal., who spoke yesterday before the national educational conference at Northwestern university.

"We are entering a period in which specialization is secondary education is breaking down," he said. "Rather than have a student specialize in economics, political science or sociology, the trend is to provide correlation courses which will hook all of these subjects into one group.

"Secondary schools should provide the student with sufficient introduction into the field of knowledge so that he will be able to take his place in society as an amateur scholar and a citizen of culture."

William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools in Chicago, will be one of the speakers today.

Bricken Guest Conductor for Fair Symphony

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Carl Bricken added his name to the list of guest conductors appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra this summer, conducting his first program yesterday afternoon. He will appear again tomorrow afternoon and Friday night. This, incidentally, is a busy week for conductors, since Henry Weber of the Chicago Grand Opera company will take the baton tonight and Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The remainder of the week's concerts will be conducted by Eric De Lamarter.

Mr. Bricken has made a name and reputation for himself in this city by coming to the University of Chicago and single handed organizing and conducting a symphony orchestra made up of the musical forces in that institution.

It was a difficult task in which he acquired much rightful credit. In its course he has developed a forceful and certain manner, possibly slightly more than the expert Chicago Symphony needs, but one showing that he has definite ideas on musical interpretation. This, too, is to his credit.

His program yesterday classified as belonging to the romantic school of composers. Weber's "Euryanthe" overture was followed by another overture, the delightful one that Mendelssohn wrote for "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Then came two long and fully developed works, Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet" and Liszt's "Les Preludes." The second half of the program was taken up by the great and famous symphony by Cesar Franck.

Over all of these Mr. Bricken presided with authority and fine musical appreciation, and the audience responded with enthusiastic applause.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Face powder blended to match the true tints of her skin is smoothed off with a complexion brush instead of a puff. A local shop is offering a blending service that is a boon to the woman whose complexion tint changes in summer.

If there's one thing new under the summer sun it's the shade of your skin. Or hadn't you noticed? Could you possibly be using the same powder tint today that you used in midwinter?

Even though you abhor the sun and take to cartwheeel hats like a duck takes to water, you'll notice on close inspection that there's a subtle difference in your coloring and the powder that was such a knockout during the winter looks all wrong now.

If you've noticed this lack of close harmony between skin and powder tint you'd betteer set about to find a new and better shade. If you can waltz into a shop and pick up a box of beige, or natural, or sun tan you're in luck . . . but if yours in one of those tricky complexions you'd better have some skilful blending done.

A shop opened a brand new and prettily pink booth the other day for just that purpose. We don't know how long it will be there but at the moment it's a haven for the woman who wants a good powder blended just for her. The service is free, by the way, and comfortingly expert. The powder used is one of the finest; a recent critical and technical survey rates it one of the best.

No matter what your coloring, or the changes in your complexion since summer set in, the blending artist in the little powder booth can find just the shade that will enhance your skin. And having a powder blended just for you will thrill you to death if your're the least bit fastidious.

Small Sums Buy Historic Royal Russian Jewels

BY RHEA SEEGER.

People with a passion for collecting romantic jewelry will do well by themselves to wander into the shop where they are showing the royal Russian treasures. There, for some amazingly small sums, you can buy authentic old Russian jewelry, each piece with a bit of history that would please anyone. Some earrings of exquisite workmanship are on view, that would complete the romantic charm of a velvet costume; with bracelets and necklaces, all made ages ago, for capricious and appreciative royalty.

Tiny enamel Easter eggs can be yours for almost nothing at all. They make exquisite bracelets, say half a dozen or so of these tiny, delicately colored eggs fastened to a fragile gold or silver chain like the fashionable bangle or charm bracelets. Or they may be used for dangling earrings with the same effectiveness.

Beautiful finger rings, most of them in silver filigree set with precious and semi-precious jewels, that once adorned the slim fingers of Russian princesses, are also priced remarkably low. No duplicates, of course, and think of the fun of wearing such glamorous jewelry.

Flashing, decorative brooches are there, or smaller pieces that can easily be made into modern clips; long chains with stunning medallions and filigree discs, and last but not least, some of the blazing jeweled orders that used to anchor scarlet and imperial purple ribbons on the shoulders of the royal favorites.

There is one that will keep you awake of nights until you can make it your own. A huge glittering star with seemingly a thousand rays, each ray a row of flashing brilliants. Despite its size, it is a remarkably perfect find for the sole adornment of any of the new, simply designed long velvet evening gowns you will wear this fall and winter.

Better see these lovely treasures while the collection is complete. You'll be delightfully surprised at the many glamorous pieces reasonably priced.

Church at Lake Forest to Mark 75th Anniversary

The First Presbyterian Church of Lake Forest will celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding at exercises on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. George T. Rogers is chairman of the committee, and assisting him are Cornelius M. Trowbridge, Miss Ellen Holt, Miss Minnie May Rumsey, and Mrs. Douglas Stuart.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. William H. Harkness, who are passing the season at the Cedars, the Blackwell estate at Brookville, L. I., entertained a large group of guests at the home and also at a yachting party on board the Ardea in the harbor of Glen Cove. The occasion was in celebration of Mr. Harkness' birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward, who passed the early part of the season at their estate, near Wheatley, have gone to Newport, where their daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Stevens, Mrs. Thomas M. Bancroft and the Misses Sarah and Ethel Woodward, will join them. In August they will go to Saratoga Springs for the racing, having taken a house there.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Salvage on Rynwood are making a cruise on board their yacht the Colleen to eastern Long Island and points along the New England coast.

Laughs Abound in Farce About a Prize Fighter

'Milky Way' Is Funny from Start to Finish.

"THE MILKY WAY."
A farce-comedy by Lynn Root and Harry Clark; given at the Cort theater July 16, 1934, under the management of Wee & Leventhal, Inc.

THE CAST.

Spider	Edwin Redding
Speed McFarland	Richard Purcell
Anne Westley	Gladys Griswold
Gabby Sloan	Warren Ashe
Burleigh Sullivan	John Kane
Mae Sullivan	Nancy Evans
Eddie	Charles Williams
Willard	Pat Hays
Wilbur Austin	Thomas Bate

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The tidings from last night's première at the Cort theater are favorable. "The Milky Way," staged there for a midsummer run after recording a hit in New York, proves to be a merry farce about the box-fighting business, somewhat wild in the eye and crazy in the head—as all good farces should be—and the unaccustomed sound of an audience's hearty laughter was heard along Randolph street.

This irresponsible picture of the business of pugilism, as seen from the inside, bears out the ironical articles on the subject that you have read on the sports pages of the newspapers. The crookedness and the daffiness of the manly art of self-defense, in its professional aspects, is the theme of the frolic; and its hero is a timid, soft muscled, fat headed milk wagon driver who is built up, by fraud and accidents, into the middleweight champion.

I assure you that "The Milky Way" is steadily funny, in spite of the obvious pattern of its plot. It will be funnier tomorrow evening than it was last night, for its new cast did not start off in full possession of the intricate technique of pace and timing that farce dialog and action require. There are more natural laughs in its system than its predecessor, "Big Hearted Herbert," possessed.

The fable revolves around a namby pamby youth of timid disposition who loves animals and wild flowers and is unable to do anything when a fight comes his way, except to duck. He is, however, the most successful ducker in the world's history, and whenever he evades a blow struck in anger some other pleasure fighter reaches into the brawl and knocks his assailant out. By this means he broke into the newspapers as the amateur who put "Speed" McFarland, the champion, down for the count in a sidewalk mêlée, and so a manager ordained that he should become a professional boxer.

The story begins at this point and runs on through all the preposterous complications that are typical of farce construction. Its pattern, as I have hinted, is obvious, for the ducking expert repeats his exploit, always at the expense of the champion, in every crisis of the plot, and ends by butting his way to title honors. Always frightened to death, he is, nevertheless, always the winner in one round. The story is too crazy to recount in detail, but its humor is inescapable.

John Kane proves to be a happy choice for the rôle of the milksop, Richard Purcell is true to character as the genuine pugilist, Warren Ashe plays the rôle of a manager with brainstorms effectively, and the others in the cast are good enough to keep the ball of mirth rolling.

The vacation she MIGHT HAVE HAD

ANNE cried as she came back from her two weeks at the shore.

She had looked forward all year to making new friends, having gay times, perhaps—who knows?—meeting "the man." But she hadn't. Everybody left her politely alone.

"They're just selfish and mean," she thought as she watched the other young folks go off on parties and picnics. But they weren't. Anne, for all her good looks, didn't measure up in an important particular. Other people couldn't help but notice a most unpleasant offense—perspiration odor in underthings.

A pity—Anne could have made herself dainty—adorable—the center of all the fun. It's the easiest thing in the world to avoid offending. Just Lux lingerie after each wearing. Dainty girls always do this. Why are there any girls who don't?

We don't notice perspiration odor in our own lingerie. Other people do—so quickly! When Lux takes it away completely, it's foolish ever to take a chance. Protect your popularity and charm. Use Lux every day.

AVOID OFFENDING
Underthings absorb perspiration odor—Protect daintiness this easy way

1. Lux underthings after each wearing. Lux removes perspiration odor completely—saves colors and fabrics, keeps them like new! It takes only 4 minutes a day!

2. Avoid ordinary soaps with harmful alkali, and cake-soap rubbing. These tend to fade and streak colors, injure dainty fabrics. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Her Husband's Fiancee

BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.

Cecily Marshall returns after a year's absence to the home in Bellchester, England, where she had lived with her husband, David Marshall, the city's leading merchant prince. Cecily had been a shopgirl at Marshall's. Beautiful Audrey Lowe, who had wanted David and his money herself, and her cousin, Reggie Davies, had contrived to break up Cecily's marriage. David believed Cecily unfaithful and won a divorce from her and the custody of their small child, Rose Ann. The child doesn't know the cause of her mother's long absence and grieves for her. Fearing for the child's health, Nanna, her nurse, wires Cecily.

INSTALMENT II.

A STEALTHY VISITOR.

The cab was decrepit and so was its driver. Never could there have been such a slow, uncertain old taxi. It wheezed and jogged on—first through the long High street up from the station, where the brilliant glass frontage of Marshall's, Ltd., made such a fine display, then past the little church where David and Cecily had been married.

Now came the residential district. In many of those fine houses Cecily had once been a welcome guest by virtue of being David's wife, but not one of the doors would open to her again.

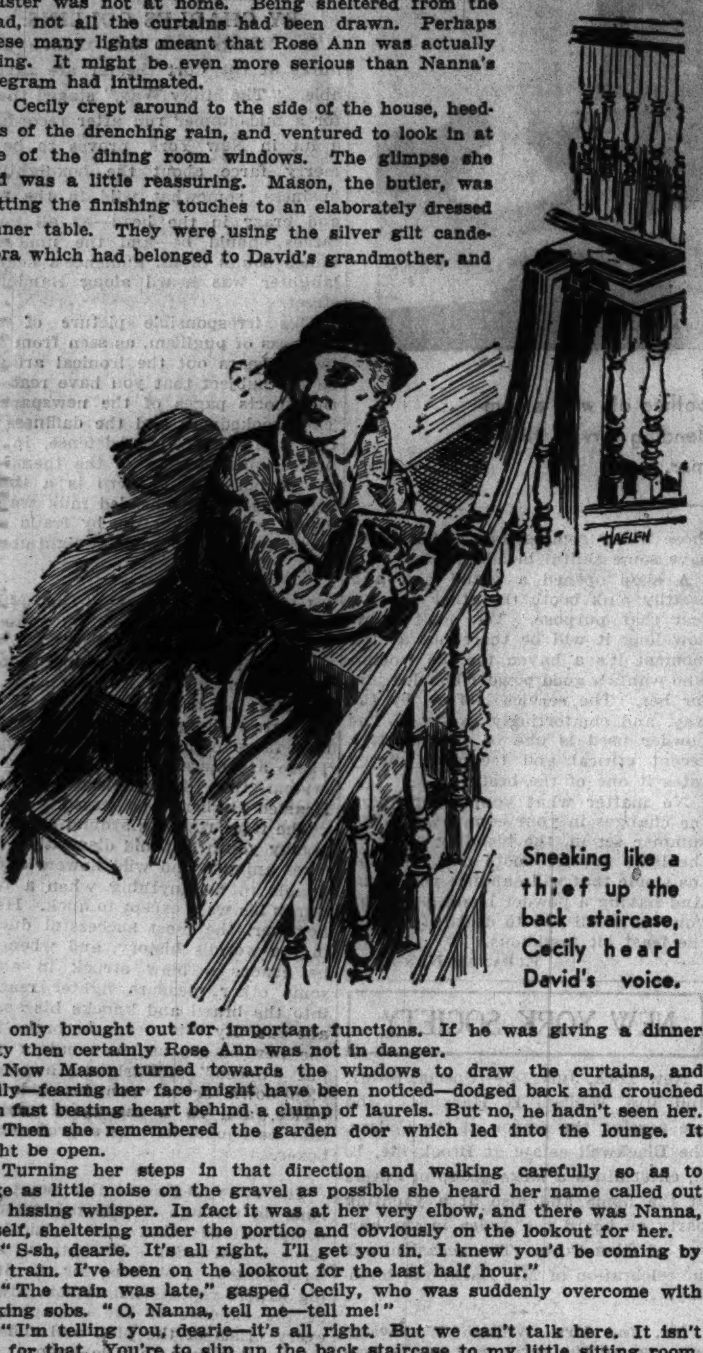
Up the hill, now, almost there. It was a real achievement for that feeble old cab.

Cecily tapped on the window. She would get out here. It would be safer than driving to the front door. Her pride was dead and anything that threatened to interfere with the object of this visit must go by the board. For one thing, she was hoping desperately that she might be able to avoid a personal encounter with David.

It was just possible David would not be home so early in the evening. Nanna had written in one of her infrequent letters that he spent a great deal of time at the Constitutional club, often dining there and staying on to play bridge.

But as Cecily proceeded on foot up the familiar graveled driveway between the double row of maples now shedding the last of their sodden leaves she saw that the house was too well lighted to suggest that its master was not at home. Being sheltered from the road, not all the curtains had been drawn. Perhaps these many lights meant that Rose Ann was actually dying. It might be even more serious than Nanna's telegram had intimated.

Cecily crept around to the side of the house, heedless of the drenching rain, and ventured to look in at one of the dining room windows. The glimpse she had was a little reassuring. Mason, the butler, was putting the finishing touches to an elaborately dressed dinner table. They were using the silver gilt candelabra which had belonged to David's grandmother, and was only brought out for important functions. If he was giving a dinner party then certainly Rose Ann was not in danger.



Sneaking like a thief up the back staircase, Cecily heard David's voice.

Now Mason turned towards the windows to draw the curtains, and Cecily—fearing her face might have been noticed—dodged back and crouched with fast beating heart behind a clump of laurels. But no, he hadn't seen her.

Then she remembered the garden door which led into the lounge. It might be open.

Turning her steps in that direction and walking carefully so as to make as little noise on the gravel as possible she heard her name called out in a hissing whisper. In fact it was at her very elbow, and there was Nanna, herself, sheltering under the portico and obviously on the lookout for her.

"S-sh, dearie. It's all right. I'll get you in. I knew you'd be coming by that train. I've been on the lookout for the last half hour."

"The train was late," gasped Cecily, who was suddenly overcome with shaking sobs. "O, Nanna, tell me—tell me!"

"I'm telling you, dearie—it's all right. But we can't talk here. It isn't safe for that. You're to slip up the back staircase to my little sitting room. It's clear now. Nobody'll see you. Mason's in the dining room and the master hasn't come downstairs yet. Now be quick with you! Follow me."

It seemed wise to obey Nanna without further question. Cecily sped after her like a thief through the service passage that led to the back staircase. As the baize door swung to behind her she heard David's step on the front stairs, calling out to Mason. What a near thing that had been!

Nanna had hurried on ahead but now Cecily paused. She could not help herself. David could not see her, but she could hear him.

She hated David. Over and over again she had told herself she hated him so much that news of his sudden and premature death would fill her with nothing but a sense of blessed relief. And now merely the sound of his voice had chained her. Believing, hoping that she hated, the misery was that she still loved him. How was it possible to feel both ways towards a man?

He was talking to the butler.

"What's all this water that's been spilled along here?"

"I'm sorry, sir. I didn't notice. Ellen must have splashed it when she did the flowers. I'll wipe it up at once, sir."

Cecily realized that it wasn't Ellen who had been careless. The water had dripped from her own mackintosh.

"Just a moment ——," said David. "Here are the place cards. Mrs. Lowe is on my right and Miss Lowe on my left. You will know where to put the others. Be careful about the champagne. It's a dry vintage and doesn't want to be too cold. . . ."

Cecily's knees were shaking and she felt a little faint. He was giving this party in honor of Audrey: perhaps to announce his engagement to her. Audrey, whose schemes had successfully parted them and left David a free man. He would have Audrey Lowe as well as Rose Ann, and Audrey would be Rose Ann's mother.

Tears were blinding Cecily as she groped her way up to the second landing. Nanna, obviously frightened, was waiting for her and hustled her into the little sitting room.

"Well, you have given me a turn! I couldn't think where you'd got to. Dear me, you're as wet as a rag. Off with that 'mack' and sit you down by the fire while I get you some dry slippers."

Cecily looked mutely from the old nurse to the closed door leading to the night nursery. There was tragic appeal in those tear filled eyes.

"The blessed bairn's just dozed off," Nanna said in a lowered tone. "She's had her bath and her supper and her daddy has said good night to her. But she won't sleep long. That's the trouble. She doesn't sleep—or when she does she dreams. Here's the slippers, dearie—a pair of your own that I laid by when the master had me pack your things. And this warm dressing gown, too. Now what about a bite of supper?"

Cecily shook her head, but Nanna produced a cup of cocoa and some biscuits.

"You've got to take a little something. And mind, you're not to cry when I let you see her."

"O, Nanna, I'll try—I'll promise anything. But what are we to say afterwards? This is going to get you into terrible trouble, Nanna."

Nanna laid a finger against her nose.

"I'm not so sure it will. You see—those dreams. Even the doctor's getting worried about them. You see, dearie, she's always dreaming about you. They'll think it's just another of her dreams."

Cecily set down the cup and saucer she was holding.

"You never told me, Nanna!"

"How could I? What good would it have done? But I've told you, now."

"Does she—she cry for me, Nanna."

"N—no," she said, unsteadily. "It would be better I think if she did. She just asks, and she's always waiting and listening, like. You see the master told her you had gone away for a while and I don't think he's had the pluck to say you'll never come back. They keep hoping she'll forget. . . . Hark, I think she's awake again."

Movie Crew to 'Shoot' Fair for Film Drama

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—Most of the sequences in "Carnival," motion picture to be shot this summer by Columbia studio, will be views of A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, the studio has announced. The story, formerly entitled "World's Fair," is an original by Robert Riskin, which is being prepared for the screen by Mike Simmons, who wrote "The Bowery." The movie crew that will make the shots at the Exposition will leave here early in August.

Reb Russell's new cowboy movie will probably be a twosome of Northwestern university stars. Lucille Lund, who was Northwestern's campus beauty two years ago, probably will be leading woman to Russell, former Wildcat football star. Miss Lund and Reb have been going out together.

Metro may dedicate its baseball mystery story, "Death on the Diamond," to the late Mike Donlin, New York Giant star who became an outstanding actor. Among ex-big leaguers signed for parts are Ping Bodie and Jacques Fournier, both remembered by White Sox fans of yesteryear; and Irish and Bob Meusel.

Hollywood

Garbo at Work.

BY SIDNEY SKOLSKY.

Hollywood, Cal., July 16.—I walked on the Garbo set. A newspaperman watched Garbo act. Something they said couldn't be done was being done.

I had made several previous attempts to get on a Garbo set and had failed. This time I went to the French street on the Metro lot, where they were filming the wedding scene in "The Painted Veil," with three beautiful young actresses. These actresses were as anxious to see Garbo as a movie fan. The policemen who were guarding the set knew the girls.

One said: "You can go ahead in, but don't let Garbo see you. She raises the devil if she sees any one around." I passed in as the boy friend of one of the girls. I spoke to the cop as if I knew him. He didn't even ask a question. It was as simple as that.

The girls and I hurried over to the doorway of a deserted French wine store. Forty feet down the line is the exterior of a church. The extras are in position, waiting. Director Boleslavsky, in a raincoat, is rehersing Cecilia Parker and Billie Behvan, bride and bridegroom. They are all waiting for Garbo. I am waiting for Garbo.

The scene is rehersed with all the props. It is a rain sequence. The pipes rigged up over the entire street are turned on, the water pours down. The extras open their umbrellas at a signal. The water falls like a drizzle into the doorway where I am hiding. This continues, on and off, for about ten minutes. Suddenly Garbo appears. She is standing on the platform built back of the church door. She is wearing a blue lace gown and a large blue hat. Garbo is here! It is like magic. Everything and every one swings into action.

We are peeping out of the doorway. One of the property men in a yellow raincoat walks toward us. It looks as if it's all over, and just when the shooting is to start. He says to the girls: "You'll get soaked there. I'll take you to a place where you won't get wet and where you can see better. Only don't let Garbo see you. She raises the roof." He directs the girls to the side of the platform on which Garbo is standing.

We are under a canvas tent, protected from the studio rain.

Garbo doesn't have a line to speak in the sequence. She stands at the side of the church and watches her former boy friend leave with his bride. As the camera swings toward her she tilts her face upward and makes Garbo eyes at the camera. That is all there is to the scene.

It is when Garbo returns to the platform to wait for the setup to be ready for that second take that it is interesting to watch her. I am not ten feet away and look straight at her. She stands alone, waiting, the extras and featured players near her; some walk past her, not one person speaks to her, even Director Boleslavsky doesn't speak to her. She is alone among a hundred people.

After I have crawled out from under the tent, leaving the girls there to watch longer, I see a man from the publicity department looking for me. I walk over to him and say: "I thought no one could get on a Garbo set, not even the publicity department. I see you fellows can get on when you have to. . . ." Later I am informed that there'll be plenty of action when Garbo reads the article and learns a newspaper man was on the set. I am then told that she sees every line written about her.

There's no doubt about it. The entire Garbo legend is a phony. It is a well conceived and executed publicity stunt.

One scene remained with me after it all was over. She seems to crave companionship. She wanted to speak to some one. No one speaks to her and she can't speak. Her act doesn't allow it. Poor mysterious Garbo. She started something she's got to finish.

of a very interesting meeting, with beautiful weather in those two fashionable Maine coast resorts.

Next summer St. Louis will be hostess to the meeting—the 1933 meeting was in Chicago—and invitations from Honolulu and Japan were received last week and will be accepted, although it isn't definite just when the club can meet in either of those garden spots.

Mrs. Charles C. Haffner Jr., president of the Lake Forest Garden club—every club that belongs to the Garden Club of America sends its president, one delegate and a quota of its membership, five per cent this year, to the annual meeting—went to Old Bennington in Vermont for a visit with her aunt, Miss Naomi Donnelley, from Bar Harbor, so she will not be at home for a week or so. Mrs. Edward P. Welles, another Lake Forester who was in Bar Harbor, rushed home, arriving on Saturday so that she could leave on Sunday with her husband and the Hermon Dunlap Smiths for two weeks in New Mexico. Mrs. Charles S. DeLong will arrive in Lake Forest today and Mrs. Howard C. Phillips of Winnetka, ex-president of the Lake Forest club, and Mrs. John W. Gary of Glencoe returned on Sunday.

Plans Welcome for Newlyweds.

Mrs. Phillips is preparing a welcome for her son, Talcott Griswold, and his bride, the former Jessie Beach Crane, who are arriving tomorrow from a wedding trip to Honolulu. Their marriage took place in Pasadena on June 22, and they plan to be with Mr. and Mrs. Phillips in Winnetka until they find an apartment in town.

Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick is returning to Lake Forest today and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, who is president of the Palm Beach Garden club, arrived at home on Sunday. Mrs. Roy Sturtevant remained in the east and so did Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, who is motoring with Mr. Brewster through the Berkshires, and will return home in about two weeks.

Reports of the meeting in Maine will be given this afternoon to members of the Lenox Garden club council when they meet at Fair Acres, the summer residence in Stockbridge, Mass., of Mrs. James Ransom Walker of Chicago. Mrs. Walker's garden is one of the loveliest in the Berkshires.

Uihlein Wedding Set for July 28.

Invitations have been issued by Edgar John Uihlein for the wedding reception of his daughter Paula and Alfred Uihlein, on Saturday, July 28, at 5 o'clock at Midwood, the Uihleins' home in Lake Bluff.

The wedding is to be a small one, with only relatives and intimate friends present. There will be many parties given for this popular young lady and her fiancé, who also is her cousin, both in Lake Forest and in Milwaukee, where he lives.

A wedding that will take place on Aug. 4 in London that is of interest to Chicagoans will be that of Mrs. Allen Wilson to Flight Lieutenant Hugh M. Groves of the Royal Air Force. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Allen of 1448 State parkway cabled the news of their daughter's, the former Marjorie Allen's, engagement, from London where they and Mrs. Wilson and their grandson, Benjamin Allen Wilson, are staying. The family sailed abroad early this month.

Lieut. Groves is the son of the late Air Commander Groves and Mrs. Groves of Haywards Heath, Sussex, England, and his bride-to-be will be the second of the Allens' two daughters to live in England. Her sister is married to Maj. Oliver C. Bryson and they live in Stamford, England. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will remain abroad for the wedding. Lieut. Groves and his bride will make their home in London.

Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, a relative, received the cable containing the exciting news. Mrs. Hoyt has moved to Lake Forest for the rest of the summer.

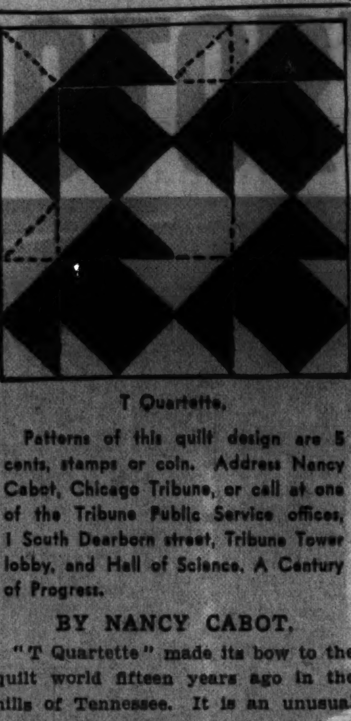
Hoyne Brothers to Celebrate Birthdays.

The home of the Frank G. Hoynes, Cotswold, in Highland Park, will be the scene today of a family party when twenty members of the distinguished Hoyne clan gather to wish happy birthdays to Thomas Maclay Hoyne and Frank Hoyne. Luncheon will be served at 2 o'clock, and many toasts will be proposed to Thomas, who is 91 years old today, and to his younger brother, who is 80 today. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoyne celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in April.

The Countess Giovanni Cardelli, who was in town for a few days to visit her mother-in-law, Mme. Giovanni Cardelli, has sailed for Europe again, back to the young count and their baby and their Paris apartment. The countess is the former Jaqueline Stewart, daughter of Cecil P. Stewart of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed are expected to arrive at home tomorrow. He went east to meet her upon her return from a six weeks' trip to Paris.

Modernistic Quilt Comes from the Tennessee Hills



T Quartette.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower lobby, and Hall of Science, A Century of Progress.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"T Quartette" made its bow to the quilt world fifteen years ago in the hills of Tennessee. It is an unusual treatment of pieced blocks that is quite unintentionally modern. A clear Dutch blue and white formed the color scheme used in the original coverlet; it is one that is ever crisp and clean looking.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

MORE ABOUT ONE NO-TRUMP OPENING BIDS.

In an earlier article I said that an opening bid of one no-trump might be made with three unprotected aces. I wish now to change my advice on this point. It is true that in match point play we do make such openings third and fourth hand with partners who are sensitive to signoffs, and who will await some confirmation of the bid if the opponents overcall it. This is tournament strategy aimed to get a plus, however small, out of a hand which will presumably be passed out otherwise. It is not advisable in rubber play where partial scores are unimportant, especially if attended by any real risk of penalty. In fact, in the last few months our tendency has been to avoid such no-trump bids even in match play. This is my advice now:

With Three Bare Aces.

First. If vulnerable, pass with three bare aces. To bid a no-trump, you need an additional half trick in the hand, with also some slight protective holding back of at least one of your aces. If two aces are supported by jacks and the other by a ten, and the aceless suit has an honor or protective cards, the hand becomes biddable.

Examples of minimum vulnerable bids of one no-trump:

Sp. A x x Di. A x x
Hts. A 10 8 Cl. Q J 9 x
[or K 10 x x]
or
Sp. A J x Di. A 10 x
Hts. A J x Cl. J 9 x x

Second. If not vulnerable, shade this to the extent of about a jack.

Sp. A x x Di. A x x
Hts. A 10 x Cl. Q 10 x x
[or K x x x]
or
Sp. A J x Di. A 10 x
Hts. A x x Cl. J x x x

Third. Bid a four card suit to the ace-ten in preference to a no-trump. First or second hand these minimum hands of less than three and a half primary tricks should be passed; third hand I would bid a heart on

Sp. A x x Di. A x x
Hts. A 10 x x Cl. Q x x

if vulnerable. Not vulnerable, I would bid a heart even if the club holding were reduced to J x x. Fourth hand might open the bidding in a tournament with the hand as given above, but in rubber play I would pass and defer action until the next deal.

Fourth. With minimum opening hands of this kind, drop the bidding at once unless your partner responds optimistically. If his response over one heart should be one no-trump, pass. Suppose your hand was such that you had to bid a minimum no-trump third or fourth hand. If your partner's raise is to only two no-trumps, you should pass. If he, after passing, could not take you immediately to three, on the reasoning described in earlier articles, the hand is best consigned to the safety of a partial score contract.

Standard No-Trump Requirements.

Fifth. For first or second hand no-trump opening bids, set the minimum at three and a half primary tricks, or three primary with about another trick in secondary form. With a strong suit of five or more cards as the backbone of your hand, protection in the other three suits will complete your requirements, as now you have a sure line of play in no-trumps and also a safe bidding refuge if no-trumps appears dangerous or unsuitable in view of your partner's weakness.

If three of your primary tricks are aces, you need almost a four trick hand, giving secondary holdings their full value, in order to make an opening bid of one no-trump as dealer or in second position.

Daytime Rest Necessary to Child's Health

Without It, He's Likely to Overtax Himself.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

We couldn't finish yesterday—there's more to this matter of naps.

We were saying yesterday that if a small child can't sleep but does rest in the daytime, a mother should be content.

But that break—that rest period—is absolutely necessary. In the first place, children don't know how to save themselves. The younger ones don't even know they're tired. I mean by that that they don't recognize their sensations as being due to fatigue. Consequently we have to safeguard them. The daytime nap or rest, added to a good night's sleep, does this.

But this lull in the day's activities has another value. It takes the little boy or girl away from people—both grownups and children—for a while. This solitude helps his nerves and his poise. He's free then from suggestions and directions and discipline. And he gets used to being alone, which is a splendid thing.

And there's a third value to the daytime rest period. We had it borne in upon us in our family. One child of about ten ate well, slept well, had extra this and that, but did not gain. Referred to an eminent nutritionist, the comment was: "This child will not gain without one or two extra rest periods during the day." Hard as it was to accomplish it with an active ten year old, we did—and proved the wisdom of the doctor's advice. This then is the third value of naps or daytime rests: they give the child a chance to gain. If you're a laissez-faire mother, you won't achieve this because it's a lot of trouble—but if you don't let things slide, you'll find the engineering of extra rest periods well worth the effort where there has been an insufficient gain in weight.

A helpful booklet for mothers of young children is "Have You a Shy Child?" This booklet will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

U. S. Navy Officer and Girl Beat Red Tape; Wed in Italy

ROME, July 16.—(AP)—Two Americans unraveled huge skeins of Italian red tape today to tie themselves in a matrimonial knot.

Lieut. Henry Cameron McRae Winslow of the United States navy and Newport, R. I., established a record over the rough Italian roads of romance to marry Miss Natalia Hess, New York society girl.

The wedding was performed this afternoon in the San Camillo church by an American Paulist priest, the Rev. Earl Jarrett.

Although the couple's friends and even United States officials here offered to bet heavy odds that the pair could not overcome the Italian marraige regulations in less than the three days' minimum established by law, Lieut. Winslow and Miss Hess rushed madly from bureau to bureau all through the morning filling out papers, answering questions, and swearing to two affidavits.

Previous to the ceremony, Miss Hess went to morning mass wearing a short-sleeved gown and without stockings. The Rev. Father Jarrett told her to go home and put on more clothes, and warned her that if she appeared for the wedding ceremony without stockings he would not officiate.

Maude Adams Plays Shakespeare in Tiny Maine Resort Theater

Ogunquit, Me., July 16.—(AP)—Maude Adams appeared before the footlights again tonight in the first of a series of Shapespearean presentations which may eventually lead her back to Broadway, scene of her former triumphs.

In the comparatively obscure role of Maria in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," the 62-year-old favorite of other years won the acclaim of an enthusiastic summer theater audience.

Start the War on Wrinkles When You Reach Age of 25

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You do not see many really wrinkled faces on mature women today. It's like a Berkeley square invasion into a hundred-years-ago world to meet a really old lady whose face is a mass of wrinkles. Whether the very old ones, entitled to wrinkles by reason of their long lives, die off in youth is your guess, too. Anyway, you rarely see them.

You see them in other countries, but not in America, for some reason. You don't see many age-wrinkled and bent old men, either.

All of which is not getting us anywhere in a wrinkle topic. We should have begun with the early years, not the late ones, when we talk of wrinkles. In fact, it is pretty generally suspected that this is exactly why American faces are not criss-crossed with lines and furrows. They do begin young enough. And the battle has to go on eternally.

The age limit for indifference toward wrinkle prevention has been dropped from thirty to twenty-five. Formerly women were advised that they needn't worry much about crow's feet, indented mouth corners, crinkly lids, and under chin crepeys until they'd slip over the thirty border line. Now you're told that twenty-five is the forward looking age.

One fact you can't dispute is that women who begin around the twenty-sevens and eights to wage their canny warfare against the lines in the face, reach a smoother faced forty-five than those who begin in the mid thirties. Also, that our particular age calls for more of this wrinkle preventive work than formerly, because of the intensity of living today, the confining work so many women are engaged in during the working day and, also, because women simply have to have unwrinkled faces to get places. A few years ago, there was little emphasis placed on the need of anti-wrinkle cream for around the eye surface. Today countless women wouldn't go to bed without that film of cream that wards off fine lines. They're good, too, these eye creams and tissue creams, for warding off the wrinkle age signs.

Lettuce Is Not Only Base for Tempting Salad

Substitute Romaine, Endive, Escarole Sometimes.

BY MARY MEADE.

I have been wondering why we are all such dyed-in-the-wool lettuce eaters. Let's break down now and again and go adventuring in romaine, endive, watercress, celery, parsley, Chinese lettuce, or chicory. And lest you're not bosom friends with all of these, here's "a bit about 'em."

Endive is a relative of chicory and two kinds of it are available on Chicago markets. The French endive grows much like a stalk of celery without the leafy top. Cut across in rounds or separated and served in its slim curved stalks, it's mildly delicious with a nippy French dressing or as garnish for scores of salads. Curly endive is more separated and feathery, great alone or in coöperation with other salad stuffs.

Romaine is a bit coarser than lettuce, but if it's in season and has been kept cool and moist it will be crisp and tender—one of the best sorts of salad greens.

Chicory, modest relation of the aristocratic endive, is a gay little number either as a bed for a chilly fruit salad, combined with other greens, or alone with its dressing. Chopped cabbage and watercress tossed in French dressing and bedded on crisp chicory leaves does its own advertising.

Watercress, grand stimulator of the appetite, boasts a dark green color and a pungent aroma. It grows along the cool banks of streams and in some localities all one needs to do is go out and pick. It's important that we wash and wash, as chicory—and the rest of the salad greens for that matter—often get splashed by the good earth, which is better when not incorporated in salads.

Garnishes for Salads.

1. Slices of stuffed olives, black with pimiento centers.
2. Whole gherkins.
3. Pickles cut in fans, slivers, or rounds.
4. Whole, green, ripe, or stuffed olives.
5. Grated or shredded cheese.
6. Cheese balls, plain, rolled in paprika, minced parsley, or nuts, made of pimiento or olive cheese.
7. Candied or maraschino cherries for fruit salad.
8. Nuts, halved or chopped.
8. Shredded coconut, plain or toasted.
9. Lemon slices in plain or fancy shapes, edged with paprika or minced parsley.
10. Chopped or sliced hard cooked egg or sieved yolk.
11. Rings or slices of green pepper.
12. Strips or cutouts of pimiento.
13. Thin slices of raw carrot with watercress sprig on cabbage salad.
14. Cutouts of pickled beets.
15. Small green onions.
16. Radishes, whole, in rose shape, or slices.
17. If the salad is a separate course serve cheese straws, bread sticks, crackers, or pretzels.

Children Show Real Interest in Sox Players

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If the White Sox players could read some of the letters that are coming to my desk, they'd be wearing broad smiles of pleasure. Many letters are piling up from boys and girls who are real baseball fans and who vow that nothing will give them greater enjoyment than watching their favorites on the south side team play against the Washington Senators on Wednesday, July 25, if their letters rank among the winners.

My young friends all want to see Al Simmons, that slugging outfielder, who is rated as one of the best all-round players in the American league, and who, as you all know, has been a big factor in winning the all-star games of 1933 and 1934 for his league.

Jimmy Dykes, the new manager, and third baseman, who was also chosen to play on the all-star team, will be there to thrill the spectators. Making the all-star team is one of baseball's greatest honors.

Of course, you'll want to keep your eyes on the White Sox rookies, Zeke Bonura, that husky first baseman, whose homers have been a feature of this season's games. And Evar Swanson—just watch his speed.

I don't know who will pitch for the Sox against the champion Senators on the day of the party, it might be big George Earnshaw, who used to be one of the aces of Connie Mack's Athletics, or perhaps Ted Lyons, who ranks among baseball's immortals for having pitched a no hit game several years ago.

So you had all better try your hand at letter writing, you fans of the American league, and remember to have your letters on my desk by next Thursday morning, with your name, your address, and your age. I am beginning to think that some of you boys and girls don't know how old you are because that essential information is omitted from a great many letters. The rules are so simple, and the fun will be so grand—so get busy!

HELLMANN'S MAYONNAISE

AND NOW IT IS SO LOW IN PRICE!

Hellmann's Mayonnaise is now at a price all can afford—actually only a trifle more than you are asked to pay for substitutes!

And, of course, it's the same high quality Hellmann's . . . made of the same choice ingredients—fresh 24-hour salad oil, selected eggs, choice vinegar and spices.

So why should any woman accept substitutes—now that the finest real mayonnaise—Hellmann's Mayonnaise—costs so little!

Leave it to Skippy... he'll get in!

And presto... over 5 million doors are open for your product

FIVE MILLION DOORS, 15 million hearts and pocketbooks!

Meet the little boy with the greatest public appeal—Skippy himself! Because Skippy, like practically all his pals in The Comic Weekly, typifies a real character that everybody knows.

In Skippy, the small boy finds himself. The grown man finds in Skippy the Huckleberry Finn or Tom Sawyer he himself used to be; the grown woman sees in Skippy just the kind of real boy she'd like to mother.

And that is the great human appeal behind the comics—one of the chief reasons why everybody reads them—young or old, rich or poor, 68% of all men, 72% of all women who read newspapers at all, according to Dr. Gallup's survey. And in addition, all of the children—from 3 to 21.

Perhaps that accounts for the results which leading manufacturers secured, in sales and profits, from their advertising in The Comic Weekly, which is distributed through the 17 great Hearst Sunday newspapers—results rarely equalled by any other medium, even in the most prosperous times.

Advertising that appears where Skippy entertains, advertising that appears alongside of Barney Google, Tillie the Toiler, Jiggs and Maggie, Pop-Eye and the Katzenjammers, gets both feet firmly planted inside the doors of more than 5 million good American homes from coast to coast.

Price for a back cover, $17,500; inside pages, $16,000. Circulation more than three of the great national weekly magazines combined. Leave it to Skippy, and his pals—they get in. And they're awfully good company for any product—as we'll gladly prove with facts and figures any time you call COlumbus 5-2642 in New York, or Superior 6820 in Chicago.

JUDGE STEFFEN SAYS BEARS ARE IN FOR TROUBLE

Ex-Maroon Names His College Team.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[RESULTS OF POLL ON NEXT PAGE.]

Judge Walter P. Steffen, who has more qualifications for the job of picking the best eleven college football players in America than most of the commentators who have performed this self appointed task in recent years, yesterday cast his vote in THE TRIBUNE's poll, which will determine the university all-star squad that plays the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field on Aug. 31. Judge Steffen never has lost contact with football since the days he helped make gridiron history at the University of Chicago and later developed famous teams at Carnegie Tech.

Moreover, Judge Steffen's selections obviously have been made from the field of all the candidates, seven of whom he has seen play, and it cannot be criticized on the basis that it is sectional in character. This certainly was true of the votes of Ernie Nevers and Cotton Warburton, who favored California and the Pacific coast.

Hupke Only Surprise.

Ends—Skaldany, Pittsburgh, and Manske, Northwestern.

Tackles—Krause, Notre Dame, and Wistert, Michigan.

Center—Bernard, Michigan.

Quarter back—Laws, Iowa.

Half backs—Feathers, Tennessee, and Danowski, Fordham.

Full back—Sauer.

The only surprise in this list for the average mid-western fan is the choice of Tom Hupke for one of the guard positions. Hupke, however, is widely regarded as one of last year's most competent linemen. Judge Steffen was surprised when he was informed yesterday that Hupke is a product of the Calumet region. He played at Roosevelt high school, East Chicago, Ind., before he joined Coach Frank Thomas at Tuscaloosa, Ala. Thomas, quarter back at Notre Dame more than a decade ago, lives in East Chicago and before coaching at Alabama held the same job at Chattanooga university. Thomas' Indiana residence also accounted for Joe Kopcha, a member of the Chicago Bears championship team last fall, attending Chattanooga. Kopcha graduated from the Whiting, Ind., high school.

Votes for Sauer to Count.

Joe Zeller, of Indiana university, another member of the Chicago Bears, also lives in East Chicago, so this all-star game will be interesting for more than one reason, provided, of course, that Hupke receives enough votes to be named in the list of guards.

While George Sauer, leading fullback candidate for the all-star team at this time, may not be able to play because of an emergency operation for appendicitis performed Sunday night at Lincoln, Neb., fans are urged to continue to vote for him if they believe he merits the honor on the basis of last year's play. Sauer is entitled to the honor even if he is unable to play, and if he is chosen by the nation-wide poll, he will be invited to attend the game at Soldiers' field as a guest of THE TRIBUNE.

"I have discovered," Judge Steffen said yesterday in explaining his all-star selection, "that the best way to get into an argument these days is to discuss THE TRIBUNE's college-professional game. I'm prepared to defend my choices and to attack the other fellow's. This game should be spectacular. Certainly it will bring together all the better college men against the stars of other seasons who now have won the professional championship.

Experience Pros' Only Edge.

"Who will win? Now, there's a REAL argument," Judge Steffen continued. "I've seen the Bears and other professional teams play many

ALLISON LEFT OFF DAVIS CUP TEAM IN FINALS

LONDON, July 16.—[Special.]—R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia, nonplaying captain of the United States Davis cup team, today selected the players who will face Australia in the interzone finals of the Davis cup competition beginning Saturday.

Frank X. Shields of New York, the top ranking American player; Sidney Wood Jr., George Lott Jr. and Lester Stoefen were the men selected by Williams to challenge the Australians for the right to meet Great Britain, the present holder of the cup.

Shields and Wood undoubtedly will be the singles players on the team, while Stoefen and Lott will play the doubles. The matches will be held on the famous Wimbledon courts.

The failure of Williams to name Wilmer Allison of Texas on the United States team occasioned much surprise in tennis circles, but no one was more surprised than Allison himself.

"I thought he was joking when he first told me," Allison commented, "but I soon found out that he wasn't."

Allison came to England recently after a hurry call went out for his services and was looked upon as almost a certainty to play the doubles with Lott. Stoefen's good play in the Wimbledon championships, however, probably caused Williams to pick the big Californian.

Will Return to U. S.

"What particularly disappoints me is the fact that they pulled me away from home just at the height of the season," said Allison.

He announced his intention of sailing home Wednesday on the Europa so as to get back in time to play in the Seabright tournament.

TOUCHDOWN!

Yes, sir, the football season is opening early this year—Aug. 31, to be exact—and it's opening with a game that will beat any October or November battle you ever saw.

A real all-American college team, chosen from last year's senior stars by the nation's football fans, will meet the Chicago Bears, professional champions, at Soldiers' field on Friday night, Aug. 31.

Don't forget that the early bird catches the best seats. Four thousand of the seats between the 25 yard lines are $1.65. All others are $1.10. All are reserved. Just mail check or money order, payable to The Chicago Tribune, to Football Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Inquest Today in Death of Boy Hit by Hagen's Car

St. Paul, Minn., July 16.—(AP)—An inquest into the death of Lawrence Johnson, 6 years old, killed Saturday by an automobile driven by Walter Hagen, Detroit golf star, will be held tomorrow, Coroner C. A. Ingerson announced tonight. A preliminary investigation was conducted today, Dr. Ingerson said, and several witnesses were requested to appear tomorrow. Hagen was not held by authorities.

Mrs. Glenna Vare, Former Golf Champion, Has Son

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, former women's golf champion, is the mother of an eight pound boy born last night in Lankenau hospital, it was revealed today. It is the second child of Mrs. Vare and her husband, Edwin H. Vare Jr., son of the late Senator Edwin H. Vare, and relative of the Philadelphia political leader, William H. Vare.

BATTAGLIA WINS OVER PHAGAN IN 10 ROUND FIGHT

Johnny Phagan, west side middleweight, who two years ago won the international Golden Gloves welterweight championship in the bouts with the German champions, was beaten last night in his ten round encounter at Marigold Gardens with the hard hitting Frankie Battaglia of Winnipeg, Can.

The bout was a free swinging contest after the first two rounds. It was seen by the largest crowd of the outdoor season: Twenty-six hundred, an overflow throng according to Promoter Maurice Rivkin, paid gross receipts of $2,150.

Body Punches Weaken Phagan.

Phagan began the battle as if he intended to outbox Battaglia, but his plan was successful only in the second and eighth rounds. Battaglia's body punching weakened the Negro, and stung by this attack, Johnny cut lose with his right hand and traded blows.

Phagan opened a cut over Battaglia's left eye in the fifth round, but one of Frankie's punches puffed Phagan's left eye in the same round, so that by the eighth Phagan was unable to see.

Phagan demonstrated thoroughly his willingness to keep going under fire, for by the end Johnny's mouth was badly cut and his nose broken.

Genovese, Steigall Draw.

Frankie Genovese, Toronto welterweight, and Eddie Steigall of Chicago, fought a six round draw in the semiwindup. Steigall's late rally evened the judges' score.

Joe Serletic defeated Bob Lamonte in four rounds. Both are Chicago boys. Little Pal, East Chicago, Ind., featherweight, whipped Tod Kelly of Chicago, in five rounds. Pal was down for a two count in the third round and Kelly went down for nine seconds in the fourth from a right to the jaw. Augie Mandell defeated Al Schirato in the four round opening bout. They are Chicago lightweights.

GRANGE SIGNS WITH BEARS FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Red Grange, all-time All-American of the University of Illinois, yesterday signed to play the forthcoming National league football season with the Chicago Bears.

It will be the famous red head's tenth season in the professional game. He joined the Bears Thanksgiving day, 1925.

During the last eight seasons Grange's contract has been one of the biggest in the league and he has consistently proved a major attraction around the circuit. In his New York debut 74,000, the league record, saw him perform.

Grange sold his interest in his night club here a few weeks ago with the comment that one could not keep in shape to play football by keeping night club hours.

Grange is only a couple of pounds over his normal 185 pounds playing weight. He plans to begin active training next week.

Sox Whip Boston, 4-2, After Losing, 5-4, in Opening Battle

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

George Earnshaw stepped into the picture yesterday in time to earn his White Sox mates an even break in their double header with Boston's red hosed athletes. The one time Athletic star, by pitching brilliantly in the pinches, of which there were many, and enjoying some timely hitting by his co-workers, led the way to a 4 to 2 triumph after the eastern delegates had taken the opening decision, 5 to 4.

The first argument was settled in a hurry because old man Sam Jones was slightly tardy about getting himself into line. He experienced a sad first inning in which four hits and a brace of passes were fabricated into four runs. After that he was a highly satisfactory workman, but the early advantage gained against him couldn't be overcome, despite such items as Zeke Bonura's 20th homer of the season and No. 14 by Al Simmons.

Seventh for Earnshaw.

The same pair that endeavored to give Jones a belated lift proved stalwarts in Earnshaw's successful quest for his seventh victory as a white hosed employé. Earnshaw slumped into a two-run deficit in the third and the White Sox almost immediately restored him to a 2 to 2 basis. Hits by Evar Swanson, Johnny Conlan, Luke Appling and Bob Boken featured in this enterprise. Then later on Simmons and Bonura responded. The former came up in the sixth with his second homer of the day, No. 15, to break the tie, and in the eighth Bonura furnished a two-bagger which gave Earnshaw a little more protection.

FIRST GAME

Jones' unhappy first inning opened with Cissell's single to right, after which Werber grounded to Appling. Morgan walked and went to third on R. Johnson's double which scored Cissell. Solters singled to center, moving Morgan and R. Johnson over the counter. A single by Cooke and a walk to Ferrell filled the bags. Solters carried home the fourth and last run of the inning when Lary flied to Conlan.

The White Sox produced only one hit in their first half, but it was enough to chalk up a run. Conlan led off with a drive which bounced off the right field wall for a triple. He scored while Werber was throwing out Dykes. The Pale Hose picked up another in the second, this also happening on one hit. Simmons walked for a starter and the lone hit was supplied by Appling. He singled to right to send Simmons to third. Al drifted home on Boken's fly to left.

Five Hits, No Runs.

There were no runs off Jones in the third or fourth, but this doesn't mean the Boston boys were inactive. They collected five hits in the two innings without scoring. It is barely possible that the White Sox felt sorry about this. At any rate they made it possible for the visitors to get one run on one hit in the fifth. Appling did the charitable act by letting Cooke's roller sneak through his hands. Cooke took third on a single by Ferrell and counted on an infield out.

Simmons whacked his homer into the right field seats to open the seventh. An error on Appling's roller and a pass to Shea with one out followed, but Jones and Conlan were helpless. Then Swanson opened the eighth with a single only to fall in a double play on Dykes' grounder to Cissell. Right after this Bonura whacked homer No. 20 into the left field seats, but the White Sox were still one run shy of a tie.

SECOND GAME

Earnshaw staved off Boston, scoring in the first two innings of the second game, but in the third was slapped sufficiently to promote two runs for the enemy. Lary opened with a single to center and Welch sacrificed. Cissell was thrown out by Dykes and Werber then dropped a looping single into short center, Lary scoring. Werber stole second for his twenty-second theft of the season, continued to third on Madjeski's bad throw, and scored on R. Johnson's single after Morgan had walked.

The Chicago Sox also began operations in the third inning, but were restricted to one run. Swanson singled to left with one out and took third on Conlan's single to right. Swanson scored while Conlan was being forced on Dykes' grounder to Lary. A pair of hits in the next inning enabled the Chicagoans to climb into a 2 to 2 tie. Appling doubled into the rightfield corner and was driven home on Boken's single to center. Then nothing more of note happened until the sixth when, with two gone, Simmons knocked No. 15 into the left field bleachers, putting the Pale Hose ahead by 3 to 2.

Out of Trouble in Eighth.

One of Earnshaw's most troublesome innings was the eighth, when he pitched himself into a jam by walking Cooke and R. Ferrell with none out. The two runners were advanced by Lary's sacrifice bunt. Reynolds was nominated to hit for Welch and he poked a fairly hard drive at Dykes, who scooped up the ball and made a snappy throw to the plate in time to

HEYDLER FINDS KLEM IN ERROR ON INFIELD FLY

Will Start Over in 7th, Score 5-1.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—Bill Klem, National league umpire, whose claim during 30 years of major league umpiring has been that he never has made a mistake, at last has been scored with an error. In a decision handed down today President John A. Heydler of the National league ruled that Klem had misinterpreted the rules in the game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cubs at Wrigley field on July 2, and ordered that the game be played over from the point where Klem erred.

The game, recorded as a 7 to 4 Cub victory and protested by St. Louis because of Klem's misinterpretation of the infield fly rule, will be played over in part before the regularly scheduled game at Wrigley field July 31. The teams, using the same lineups as were on the field in the protested game, will set the scene just as it was when Klem made what promises to become the most historic umpirical "boot" in the annals of major league baseball. The game will begin in the latter half of the seventh inning, with Chicago leading 5 to 1, two out and runners on third and second.

A Good Umpire, but Wrong

In a rather lengthy typewritten decision President Heydler took occasion to refer to Klem as an "outstanding official," and otherwise tried to salve the feelings of the super-touchy umpire, including a reference to a protest under the same rule 13 years ago in which Klem was upheld. But the president went on to say that Klem was wrong, and in no uncertain words.

It just happened that President Heydler attended the protested game in Chicago and as a consequence none of the customary biased reports were involved in Mr. Heydler's decision.

The winning of a protest of an umpire's decision is highly unusual. To play out part of a game from a reconstructed situation is highly unusual. And to have Klem reversed is epochal from the baseball viewpoint, especially from the player viewpoint.

Admits He Never Errs.

Since 1905 Klem has been a National league umpire, accused through the years of being the greatest bully of them all, but at the same time the most competent, or among the most competent, in the history of the game.

Generations of ball players have thought that Klem had made many mistakes. But until now it was always Klem's judgment against the players'. Klem's claim that he never made a mistake always is made seriously. Within the year he has enlarged upon the contention in a magazine article printed under his name.

The Cardinals had asked that the entire game be played over, but this was overruled, Mr. Heydler taking the fair stand that it would not be proper to penalize the Cubs for accomplishments before Klem's mistake.

Heydler Reviews Case.

The Heydler decision, with a review of the protested situation and the rule involved, follows:

"In the second half of the seventh inning of the St. Louis-Chicago game, played at Chicago, July 2d, the following play occurred:

"One man out; Warneke on third, W. Herman on second, and English on first. Klein hit a very high fly. It hovered first well over foul ground, back of the catcher, then was driven back by the wind so that in the last moment of its descent it fell on fair ground, five or six feet from the right foul line and near home plate.

"Catcher Delancey misjudged the hit, and neither he nor any other fielder was within yards of catching

FACES IN THE NEWS—GRANGE SIGNS TO MEET ALL-STARS—SIMMONS HITS HOMERS

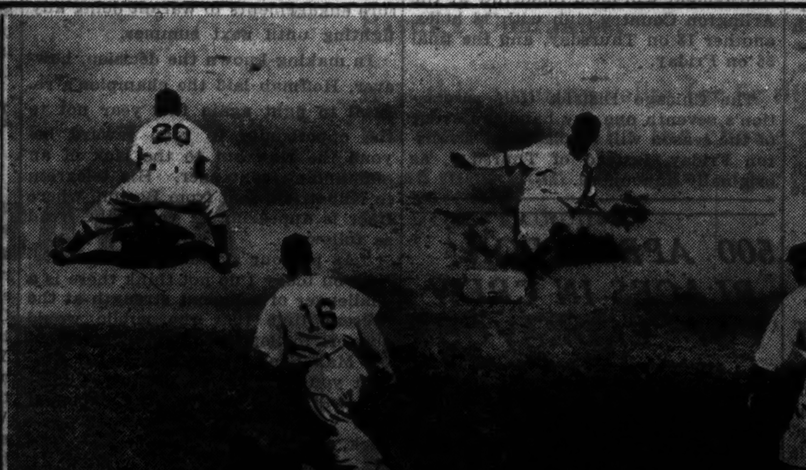
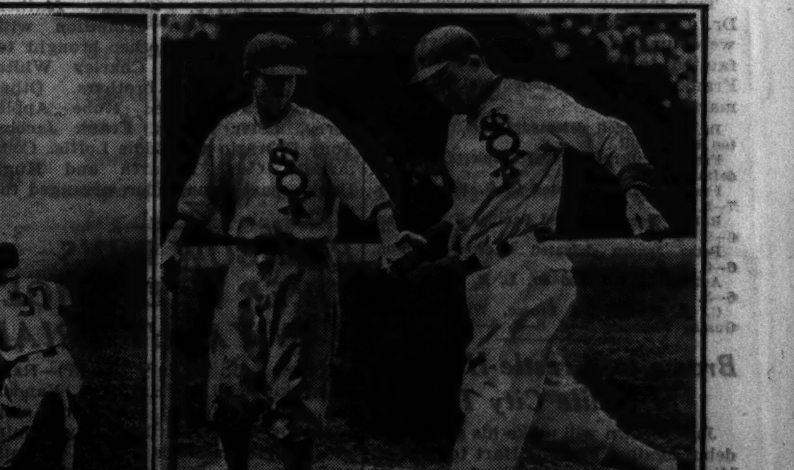
Eighty women began play for the city championship at Flossmoor yesterday. Leaders were, left to right: Mrs. S. Lewis Reinhardt, Mrs. Lillian Zech, June Beebe, Hilda Livengood, and Rena Nelson.



Johnny Conlan slides safely into third in the first game of the White Sox-Boston twin bill yesterday. He didn't score. The Sox lost. Werber, No. 20, fielding the ball; Johnson, Boston pitcher, backing up play. No. 31 is Jimmy Austin, Sox coach.



Al Simmons hit two homers against Boston. The Sox bat boy is congratulating Al as he scores on his first one in the first game. Bonura hit one, too.

MRS. REINHARDT WINS MEDAL IN CITY GOLF MEET

Shoots 83; June Beebe Is Second with 85.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The field in the qualifying round of the annual city championship of the Chicago Women's District Golf association at Flossmoor didn't dally yesterday. The first twosome home included the medalist and one of the runners-up for the qualifying lead.

Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt Jr. of Northmoor, paired with June Beebe of Olympia Fields, the defending champion, came in with a 42—41—83, five over par, to head the field of 80.

Miss Beebe, who might have matched, or bettered the former Western champion's card but for an eight on the 17th, finished with a 41—44—85. This was later tied by Mrs. Lilian Zech of Tam o' Shanter, with 45—40—85, and Mrs. Perry Fiske of De Kalb, Ill., with 43—42—85.

Match Play Begins Today.

Following this quartet were Diane Marks of Calumet, and Ellamae Williams, daughter of Eddie Williams, River Forest professional, each with 86.

The field found the course in excellent condition for the qualifying round. The match play bracket, which will open this morning with an 18 hole round, will continue through Friday, when the final will be played.

In ....636 335 556—42—85

Mrs. Reinhardt set out with two pars, but a trapped drive to the third cost her four strokes and she took a 6. She also was over par at the sixth where she hit a tree twice. Her tee shot to the 103 yard seventh turned up in a trap and her recovery was over the green. She redeemed this by sending her second shot to the eighth ten feet from the pin and holing out for a birdie.

Miss Beebe in Rough.

The Northmoor star followed par therefrom until the 16th, where she trapped her drive and was short of the green with her second. A poor approach cost her a 6 at the 17th.

Miss Beebe was out in 41, two over par, bringing down a birdie at the 397 yard ninth, which she reached in 2 for a pair of putts and a 4. She three putted the first and seventh, and her tee shot at the third found a trap.

The champion drove the rough at the 12th and made a poor recovery. She was in the rough again at the 16th and after encountering difficulty in the creek at the 17th, needed three putts to get down when she did reach the green.

Mrs. Zech three putted four greens during her round, the 5th, 6th, 7th and 12th. She overdid her approaches to the 3d and 8th, and her second to the first green was short.

Putts Beat Mrs. Fiske.

Extra putts were largely responsible for Mrs. Fiske's over par holes. She scored a birdie with a short putt at the 14th.

Diane Marks, Calumet [86], and Lois Tucker, Westmoreland [89].
Mrs. Perry W. Fiske, De Kalk [85], and Mildred Hackl, Midlothian [89].
Mrs. Melvin Jones, Lincolnshire [88], and Mary Louise Gardner, Indian Hill [91].
Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt, Northmoor [83], and Hilda Livengood, Flossmoor [88].
Ellamae Williams, River Forest [86], and Mrs. H. W. Tupper, Olympia Fields [90].
Mrs. Lillian Zech, Tam O'Shanter [85], and Janet Willard, Exmoor [89].

First Flight.

Mrs. A. R. Copeland, South Shore [94], and Mrs. Edward Mayo, De Kalb [96].
Mrs. C. Clifford, Edgewood Valley [95], and Mrs. T. G. Lowry, Sunset Valley [97].

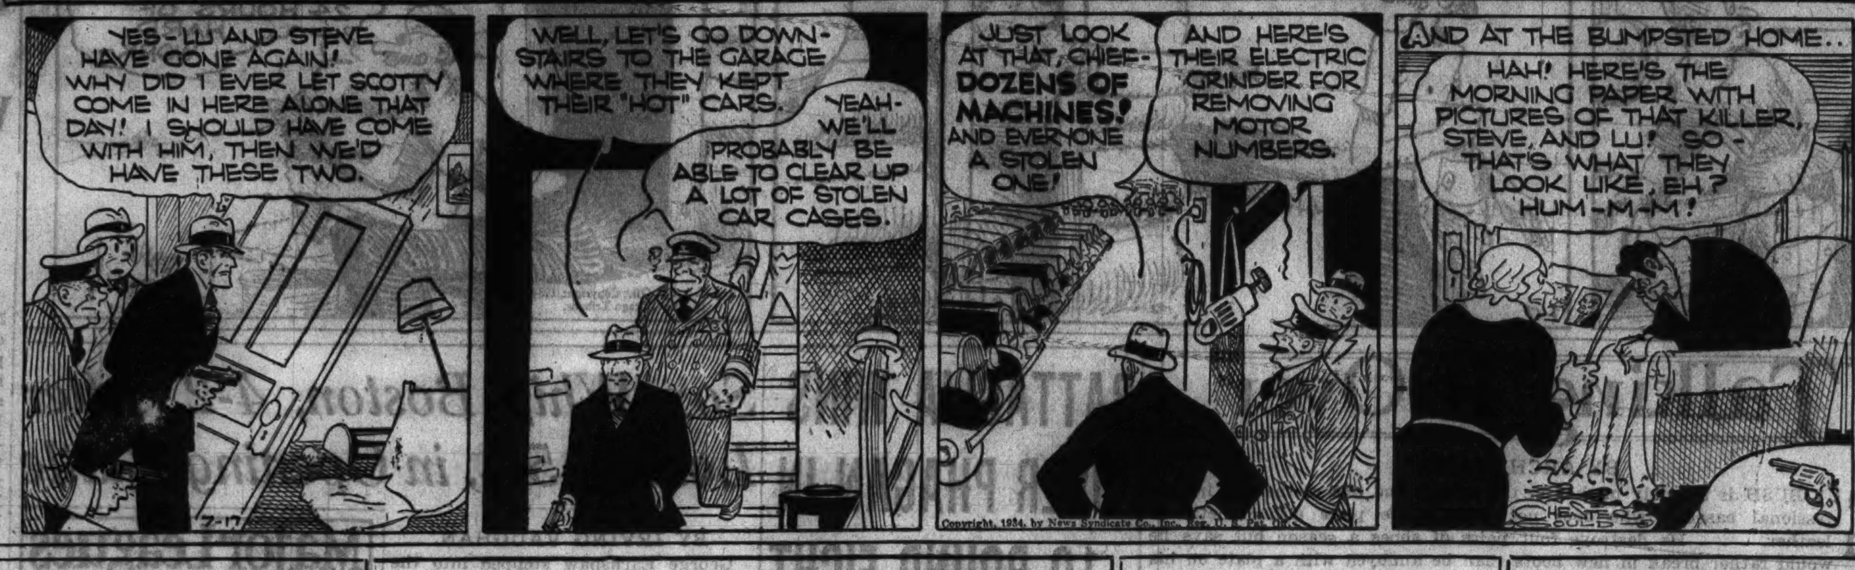
DICK TRACY—The Abandoned Garage



YES - LU AND STEVE HAVE GONE AGAIN! WHY DID I EVER LET SCOTTY COME IN HERE ALONE THAT DAY! I SHOULD HAVE COME WITH HIM, THEN WE'D HAVE THESE TWO.
WELL, LET'S GO DOWNSTAIRS TO THE GARAGE WHERE THEY KEPT THEIR "HOT" CARS.
YEAH - WE'LL PROBABLY BE ABLE TO CLEAR UP A LOT OF STOLEN CAR CASES.
JUST LOOK AT THAT, CHIEF - DOZENS OF MACHINES! AND EVERYONE A STOLEN ONE!
AND HERE'S THEIR ELECTRIC GRINDER FOR REMOVING MOTOR NUMBERS.
AND AT THE BUMPSTED HOME..
HAH! HERE'S THE MORNING PAPER WITH PICTURES OF THAT KILLER, STEVE, AND LU! SO - THAT'S WHAT THEY LOOK LIKE, EH? HUM-M-M!

Golf Pupils Receive Form Test Thursday

Golf fans who attend the final graduating exercises of THE TRIBUNE'S second annual free golf school at Mid-City, Grace street and Western avenue, Thursday night, will have an opportunity to match their judgment of a sound working swing with that of six of the leading professionals in the game.

This last session of the school, which drew a total enrollment of 23,000 pupils, will be based entirely on form. The jury of six, composed of Horton Smith of Oak Park, Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Tommy Armour of Medinah, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, Jock Hutchison of Glen View, and Dick Metz of Mill Road Farm, will pass on the merits of the 114 students who won their way to the finals at Mission Hills, scene of last Saturday's 18 hole tournament, and the form contest at Mid-City.

Chance to Judge Finalists.

Each pupil will be allowed four swings—front, right, left, and rear—on a platform which will be erected between the judges' station and the audience, giving everybody present a clear view. Each judge will score on the basis of 100 points for a perfect performance, so that every student will be working for a total of 600 points, the sum of his score on the six cards.

The actual form final itself will constitute only one portion of the program Thursday night, for in addition to it a number of other features will be presented, including a demonstration by all of the judges. One of the most interesting acts on the bill will be the slow motion exhibition of the swing, as done by Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley and his brother, Packy.

Play Off Ties.

Each of the 114 finalists must report at Mid-City between 6:30 and 7 p. m. Thursday night to obtain the numbered arm bands which will serve to identify them during the contest. The actual competition among these 114 finalists will begin at 8 o'clock.

Four of the pupils will report at 5:30 p. m., to decide two ties resulting from the medal play tournament at Mission Hills. They are Mrs. Mildred Simmons of Hickory Hills and Evelyn Jacobs of Mid-City, who tied for first place in the women's class with 94's, and Herbert Molzhan of Indian Head and Harry Allsbrow Jr. of Vernon, who were deadlocked for third position in the boys' division with a pair of 90's. Each pair will play until one wins a hole.

TRIBUNE RING DEDICATED AT HINES HOSPITAL

The Medill Tribune Post, No. 348 of the American Legion last night dedicated a ring donated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to Edward Hines hospital. Boxing and radio entertainment was provided for 1,800 world war veterans, 800 of whom were bedridden and listened to the program over a loud speaker system.

Harry Fierro, Chicago featherweight, boxed an exhibition with Tommy Novak. Another brought together Davey and Charley White, junior lightweight brothers. Other entertainers included Rube Appleberry, Peter Hayes, Frank Jacobs, Tony D'Orazio and Eddie Loftis. Commander Cecil Hogarth and Hugh Banks, past commander, arranged the show.

RAINBOW WINS OVER WEETAMOE IN YACHT TRIAL

Newport, R. I., July 16.—(AP)—Rainbow, skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt, today defeated Weetamoe, skippered by Dick Boardman, by 3 minutes and 29 seconds over a 30 mile course in the briskest breeze yet to favor the trials to select a defender of the America's cup.

A good portion of Rainbow's lead was accounted for by the fact that Weetamoe went over the starting line three seconds before the signal and was recalled and forced to recross it. In this manner she lost approximately three minutes.

While Rainbow was beating Weetamoe, Yankee, the Boston aspirant, sailing in a second division, was defeating Vanitie by six minutes.

Expect 250 Today at Edgewater's Hy-Jinx Tourney

The Edgewater Golf club will hold its 25th annual Hy-Jinx, one of the oldest invitational tournaments in the district, today, play being at 36 holes. A field of 250, one of the largest in the event's history, is expected to compete, according to Tom Walsh, who will be in charge of the event.

The Chicago Golf club will conduct its annual invitational event tomorrow. Mario Fiorella, former Civic Opera company baritone, will sing at the dinner which will follow the tournament.

The Illinois Southpaw golfers' state tournament will open tomorrow at the Arlington Country club with 18 holes, another 18 on Thursday, and the final 36 on Friday.

The Chicago District Golf association's seventh one day handicap event of the season will be played at Evanston Friday, instead of Thursday, as originally announced.

500 APPLY FOR PLACES IN CREW OF ENDEAVOUR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 16.—Five hundred applications from amateur yachtsmen for membership on the crew of the Endeavour, British challenger for the America's cup, have been received, T. O. M. Sopwith, owner and skipper, said today in discussing the strike of the majority of the professionals who had manned the boat.

"It will be a task to choose the best men," Sopwith said, "but we will have a capable crew when the Endeavour sails for the United States on July 23 or 24."

The strike also has given rise to the report that in later races the competing yachts may be manned entirely by amateurs.

THEATER'S THE PLACE FOR BAER; HE WON'T FIGHT

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Max Baer will not defend the heavyweight title this year. Formal notification to that effect has been served on the Madison Square Garden corporation by Ancil Hoffman, the champion's manager, Col. John Reed Kilpatrick announced today. Baer had until today to make up his mind, or Hoffman had until today to make up Baer's mind, about a September fight under the Garden's auspices.

Max and Ancil came to the conclusion that they were making too much money from theatrical and motion picture engagements to warant doing any fighting until next summer.

In making known the decision, however, Hoffman laid the champion's refusal to fight again this year not to the opportunity to reap reward beyond the ring but to the lack of an outstanding contender. His telegram to Kilpatrick, sent from Boston, where Baer is appearing in vaudeville, read as follows:

"As per our agreement, am notifying you today I do not think there is a challenger of sufficient strength at the present time that the public would support in September as an opponent for Max Baer in a title match. Now that you have plenty of time, I hope you will build up a worthy opponent who will help bring the fight game back, as Max Baer has done his part."

Three Wightman Cup Players Return to U. S.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Three members of the victorious Wightman cup team, Sarah Palfrey, Caroline Babcock and Josephine Cruickshank, returned home today aboard the Leviathan. They will rest until next Monday, when they plan to begin to play in the invitational tournament at Seabright. Helen Jacobs will arrive tomorrow on the Olympic.

Revolta Wins St. Paul Open Golf Tourney

St. Paul, Minn., July 16.—(AP)—With a grin a foot wide, Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee, stepped up before a wild cheering crowd tonight to be crowned the fifth St. Paul open golf champion.

The Milwaukee professional had just won the fight of his life, turning back dramatic challenges of Ky Laffoon, Denver, and Harry Cooper, Chicago, to take the championship after a thrilling overtime struggle that was not decided until the final putt dropped on the 36th green.

Wins by One Stroke.

His margin, gained on the last green, where he matched Laffoon's final threat with a birdie 4, was one stroke under the Denver pro and three under Cooper, who entered the overtime battle a big favorite because of his marathon winning streak.

Revolta fell behind at the second hole in the morning, and then went ahead to stay at the 22d. He shot 142, two under par for the distance, to 143 by Laffoon, and 145 by Cooper.

Laffoon Out of Luck.

The result was another heartbreaker for Laffoon, however. Laffoon scored 23 under par over 108 holes in the western open, only to lose to Cooper, and shot six under par in this championship for 108 more holes only to lose again. Thus he has broken par by 29 strokes over 216 holes and finished second each time.

The battle was between Revolta and Laffoon all the way, with Cooper making a great challenge and then fading on the final two holes. Johnny and Ky scored 71's in the morning against a high wind and intermittent showers, while Cooper shot 75. Cooper picked up a shot on the third hole in the afternoon, but Revolta got that back on the next hole by holing a chip shot for a birdie two.

Revolta Stays Ahead.

Thereafter Harry and Laffoon couldn't overhaul him although Cooper tied Laffoon on the 34th green with a birdie and cut Johnny's margin to two shots. Par on the closing holes wasn't good enough for Cooper, as Laffoon pulled one ahead of him and one behind Revolta by holing a 30 foot putt on the 35th for a birdie three.

Revolta showed his fighting heart on the last hole, a stretch of 468 yards and a comparatively simple par five. Laffoon had scored an eagle three on the same hole in the morning.

At the last hole Laffoon sent his second shot 20 feet past the hole. Cooper and Revolta were just off the green with their seconds. Ky measured his putt and putted. The ball rolled straight and true, but halted on the lip of the cup. That was all Revolta needed. He chipped five feet short, sank his putt and became champion. Cooper did likewise, but missed his putt to take a par five.

Each Receives $833.33.

By agreement, the three who tied at 283 shots in 72 holes divided first, second and third prize money, each receiving $833.33. Revolta was seven shots under par for the 108 holes he played, his greatest performances being a finishing 65 yesterday that tied the course record. Cards follow:

18 GOLFERS WILL ENTER PUBLIC LINKS PLAYOFF

Eighteen golfers qualified yesterday at Elmgate, sixteen on ties, for the right to compete in the playoff Friday at Big Oaks for the five places allotted Chicago in the national public links tournament at Pittsburgh July 30. Yesterday's qualifiers will compete against thirty-four finalists in recent tournaments at Chicago Meadows and White Pines. The fifty-two Chicago survivors will compete in thirty-six hole medal play at Big Oaks for places in the national tournament. Yesterday's qualifiers and their scores:

Shaughnessy Adds Roberts of Tulane to All-Star List

Clark Shaughnessy, head football coach at the University of Chicago, suggests a new name for the college all-star football team which will meet the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31. He is Roberts of Tulane, who Shaughnessy says was one of the finest backfield players in college football last season. Lukats of Notre Dame would be paired with Roberts at half back in Shaughnessy's selections.

"My first choice for linesmen is Torrance of Louisiana State," the Maroon leader said. "He is the greatest tackle or guard I have seen, either in professional or college football. He would make the Bears or any other opposing linesmen look like prep players."

Ends—Manske, Northwestern, and Frink, Illinois.
Tackles—Krause, Notre Dame, and Wistert, Michigan.
Guards—Torrance, Louisiana State, and Maneikis, Chicago.
Center—Bernard, Michigan.
Quarter back—Laws, Iowa.
Full back—Hecker, Purdue.

"This game will create plenty of interest," Shaughnessy remarked. "I don't think any college group can whip the Bears, but you never can tell. The makeup of that team I submitted doesn't sound half bad."

Judge Steffen Picks Eleven College Stars

times. And I've seen the outstanding college players. I don't believe that the all-star squad would be materially handicapped by only sixteen days' practice. The Bears will have only an equal time for preparation. The Bears played together last year, but any coach will tell you that on those occasions when his varsity team of one season came back practically intact the following year the players didn't start where they had left off.

"The outcome of the game, to my mind, depends on the ability of the college players to adapt themselves on defense as the game progresses. In this particular the professional players have an advantage. Frequently I have watched the professionals change their tactics to meet the other team's offense without instructions from the coach. In short, through greater experience, they know more football.

"In fundamentals of football, tackling, blocking, passing, and kicking the college boys should equal the Bears. The question of weight, often a talking point for the superiority of professional football, must be ruled out. The all-star team can and undoubtedly will put an eleven on the gridiron which will equal the respective weights of the Bears'.

"It's going to be a great game and I'll be there to see it."

RODAK, HAYES END DRILL FOR BOUT TOMORROW

Complete Plans for Benefit at Wrigley Field.

Arrangements were completed yesterday at the Illinois athletic commission for the presentation of the charity professional boxing show tomorrow night at Wrigley field. Joseph Miller and Duke Barry, representing Rest Haven Convalescent home, which is sponsoring the card, said that with the exception of Kid Chocolate, who has been replaced by Petey Hayes against Leo Rodak, the five matches, three at ten rounds and two at five, will be held as scheduled.

Andy Frain, head of the ushers' union, was assured a sufficient number of police will be detailed to handle the large crowd expected to attend. Miller said he had requested 50 police from Commissioner Allman, but Chairman Joe Triner expressed the belief that this was insufficient and a detail of 100 was agreed upon.

Yarosz Works Out.

Teddy Yarosz, Pittsburgh, Pa., the latest of the fighters on the card to arrive, did light exercises yesterday for his encounter with Tait Littman, Cudahy, Wis., middleweight. Littman's challenge for a title tussle with Champion Vince Dundee was referred to the Wisconsin commission by Illinois. The state board, however, recommended a contest between Littman and Hayden [Young] Stubley, Kewanee, Ill., against whom Dundee has been ordered to defend the crown within 60 days.

Harry Dublinsky and Steve Halaiko finished sparring yesterday for their 10 round bout. Dublinsky boxed Hank Bueker and Halaiko with Steve Pajdo. Observers reported that Halaiko's reputed speed was missing yesterday.

Rodak weighed 129, the agreed poundage for his scrap with Hayes, after a workout. He will rest today, while Hayes will put the finishing touches to his training.

Hayes Leading Challenger.

Hayes will be making his second Chicago appearance. Two years ago he replaced Nick Scalba against Kid Irish at the Stadium and the battle, one of the best on the program, was called a draw. Since then Petey has become a leading challenger for the featherweight crown.

The Italian fighter's right name is Anthony Ferrara. He is 22 years old and started boxing in 1929. He won two New York amateur titles and then turned professional in 1930. He has scored victories in more than 75 per cent of his battles.

Hayes' handlers believe he has an edge on Rodak. They base this opinion on the fact that Trainer Ray Arcel was behind Johnny De Foe when the latter defeated Leo in the intercity Golden Gloves bouts at New York.

Billy Celebron, Rockford, Ill., a former international Golden Gloves and National A. A. U. champion, will make his first local appearance as a pro tonight at Western Stadium, Western and Devon avenues, against Kenny Austin of Lincoln, Neb. The match is scheduled for eight rounds at 150 pounds.

Celebron has won all his fights in the last year while on a tour with Sammy Mandell, former lightweight titleholder, who will second Billy tonight.

Art Sykes, eastern heavyweight, will face Biff Bennett, Highland Park, in a five round sem-windup. Other matches:

Eddie Chinski vs. Sailor Born [4].
Ray Tramblie vs. Sammy Donnell [4].
Joe Roman vs. Gary Baldwin [4].
Steve Pajdo vs. Art Donovan [4].

Champion Barney Ross opened drills yesterday for a welterweight title defense against Jimmy McLarnin at New York on Sept. 6. . . . He will leave July 31 for a 10 days' stay at Loretta, Wis. . . . Harry Smith, Jewish Organized youth heavyweight champion, will make his professional debut next Monday at Marigold Gardens under the management of Frank Weinman.

The scheduled encounter between Davey Day and Frank Sigilio, rival Chicago lightweights, took on major proportions yesterday when Joe Foley and Soldier Mickey Farr, co-promoters, asked the state boxing commission for permission to stage it on July 30. Objections came from Maurice Rivkin, Marigold Gardens promoter, and Billy Cepak of Cicero. Rivkin protested the date falls on a Monday and would be a counter attraction to his show. Cepak held that he gave both fighters chances to become the attractions they are and inasmuch as his bid was as good as Foley's and Farr's he should be given consideration.

The commission informed Cepak it had no jurisdiction over a matter of that nature. Rivkin withdrew his objection and the date was sanctioned. Although the site was not announced it is presumed that it will be Mills stadium.

A team of eight amateur boxers from the Chilocco, Okla., Indian reservation will meet a Chicago squad tonight at Savoy arena, 4733 South Parkway.

CAVALCADE-MAN O' WAR.

CAVALCADE'S brilliant triumph in the Arlington Classic, his present outstanding superiority as 3 year old champion of 1934, impels comparison with other great 3 year olds of the past, including Man o' War.

Three year olds which have led in total money earned among all classes for their respective years are Man o' War in 1920 with $166,140, Zev in 1923 with $272,008, Blue Larkspur in 1929 with $153,450, Gallant Fox in 1930 with $308,275, Gusto in 1932 with $145,940, and Cavalcade to date in 1934 with $111,235.

Man o' War lost one race as a 2 year old and was unbeaten in 11 starts as a 3 year old. Zev started 12 times as a 2 year old with 5 firsts, 4 seconds, 2 thirds and once was unplaced. As a 3 year old, Zev started 14 times with 12 brackets, 1 second and once unplaced. He was unplaced in the Preakness, but after that won all races except the Latonia Championship, second by 6 lengths to In Memoriam, a result reversed by inches only in a match race following. Zev also won a match race against Papyrus, English Derby winner, over a muddy track on which the British visitor could not extend himself.

While Zev's earnings, part of which came from special races, entitle him to consideration in this comparison, he is omitted because at the end of the year there was difference of opinion as to whether Zev, In Memoriam, or My Own was really greatest. The Wake's vote was for Zev. No such question was raised concerning Man o' War or Gallant Fox.

It may be noted that Man o' War was unquestioned 2 year old champion. Zev, Gallant Fox, and Cavalcade made their greatest reputations as 3 year olds. Gallant Fox and Cavalcade were good but hardly in the top flight in their baby races.

Here are the comparative records:

Man o' War.

Total earnings of $249,465, of which $83,325 was 2 year old form. Ten starts as 2 year old with 9 firsts and a second; 11 firsts as 3 year old.

Three year old record and earnings: Preakness, $23,000; Withers, $4,825; Belmont, $7,950; Stuyvesant, $3,850; Dwyer, $4,850; Miller, $4,700; Travers, $9,275; Lawrence Realization, $15,040; Jocky Club, $5,850; Potomac, $6,800; Kenilworth Park Cup, $80,000. Total, $166,465.

Gallant Fox.

Total earnings of $328,165, of which $19,890 was 2 year old form. Seven starts as 2 year old with 2 firsts, 2 seconds, 2 thirds and once unplaced; 10 firsts and one second as 3 year old.

Three year old record and earnings: Wood Memorial, $10,150; Preakness, $51,925; Kentucky Derby, $50,725; Belmont, $60,040; Dwyer, $11,500; Arlington Classic, $64,750; Travers, second place, $4,000; Saratoga Cup, $9,275; Lawrence Realization, $29,610; Jocky Club Cup, $10,300. Total, $308,275.

Cavalcade.

Total earnings to date, $126,965, of which $15,730 was 2 year old form. Eleven starts as 2 year old with 2 firsts, 3 seconds, 3 thirds, 3 times unplaced; 6 firsts and 1 second as 3 year old.

Three year old record and earnings: Allowance race, $700; Chesapeake, $6,750; Kentucky Derby, $28,175; Preakness, second to stablemate High Quest by a nose, $2,500; American Derby, $23,310; Detroit Derby, $19,475; Arlington Classic, $30,325.

Man o' War and Gallant Fox were retired after their 3 year old careers. Cavalcade's future is undecided. His soundness, tractable disposition, and route going ability suggest he may be sent on to equal or greater renown as a handicap performer in 1935.

TIGERS' LEAD CUT; SENATORS TRIUMPH, 10 TO 8

Seventh Inning Attack Decides Game.

Detroit, Mich., July 16.—(AP)—The Washington Senators snapped their losing streak at three games today and defeated the Detroit Tigers, 10 to 8. The loss reduced the Tiger's lead in the American league to one half game. Kress, Sewell and Schulte hit home runs, the former with one on base, as the Senators scored four runs in the sixth. The Tigers came back with four of their own in the last half of the inning, but were unable to match Washington's big seventh, when the Senators counted five times.

HIBERNIAN TRACK CARNIVAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The first annual track and field carnival sponsored by Division 13, Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held Sunday at Ogden park, 65th street and Racine avenue.

More than 100 athletes already have sent in their entries. Among the stars competing is Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university. He will be pushed by Harris, formerly national high school champion, now competing for Ogden park. John Brooks, formerly of the University of Chicago, holder of the intercollegiate record in the running broad jump, is expected to top the field in his specialty, and also will compete in the sprints.

Cub Victory Over Cards Thrown Out the ball. Klein, after a slight delay, ran to first, and Warneke scored on a bad toss to Collins, who had come in to cover the plate.

Cites Infield Fly Rule.

"Manager Frisch's contention that Klein should have been called out under the 'infield fly' rule was disallowed by Umpire Klem. Hence this protest.

"The governing 'infield fly' rule reads:

"'Rule 44, Sec. 8—If, before two are out, while first and second or first, second, and third bases are occupied, he [the batter] hit a fair fly ball, other than a line drive, that can be handled by an infielder. In such case the umpire shall declare it an infield fly, but the runners may be off their bases or advance at the risk of the ball being caught, the same as on any other fly ball.'

"The point at issue here is, what is meant by 'a fair fly ball . . . that can be handled by an infielder?' and for this purpose the pitcher and catcher must be rated as infielders.

What Teams Contend.

"St. Louis contends that any one of three players could have handled this fly ball, but regardless of whether they did or did not catch the ball, the umpire had no alternative under the rule except to call 'infield fly' and declare the batsman out.

"Chicago is equally positive in contending that there is no authority on the ball field other than the umpire to decide whether a fair fly ball 'can be handled by an infielder.' They state Klein's high fly was foul by 15 or 20 feet; that the St. Louis catcher started immediately for the screen, but when he got about half way there the ball, through the action of the wind, was blown back to fair territory; that Catcher Delancey absolutely quit on the ball before he got back to the base line, and that no other fielder attempted to field the ball.

Up to Umpire's Judgment—Klem.

"Umpire Klem, an official of outstanding experience and ability, holds that the question of whether the ball 'can be handled by an infielder' is one that must be determined in the judgment of the umpire; that the intent of the rule is to protect runners against infielders trapping such fly balls and then forcing out one or more runners; that no 'infield fly' should be called on a difficult chance, and that in case of this particular play nobody called for it. In his judgment it was an extremely difficult chance. Further, he had frequently ruled on this line, and had been upheld on a protest involving a similar play 13 years ago.

"As between these two arguments, and regardless of how poorly this particular ball was played, I know that the general trend in construing this always troublesome rule in recent years is to promptly call the batsman out on any fly that can reasonably be handled by an infielder.

Holds Batsman Automatically Out.

"In short, I would hold the batsman is automatically out when the ball falls within the infield, and that base runners holding their bases are more protected by such construction of the rule than they would be otherwise.

"In proof, under the conditions in the play under discussion, the ball could well have been picked up, fielded to the plate and then to third for two force outs. Calling the hit an 'infield fly; batter out,' would forestall such continuation of the play.

"My finding is that Klein's fly should automatically have been called an infield fly as soon as the umpire was able to determine it was fair, and so made the second out. The run scored by Warneke will count, as he as well as the other runners were advancing at their own risk.

Denies St. Louis Appeal.

"The appeal of the St. Louis club to replay the entire game, however, is denied. The score at the time was 5 to 1 in favor of Chicago, and it would be manifestly unfair to that club to be deprived of its advantage because of the umpire's interpretation of the rule.

"It is ordered, therefore, that prior to the next scheduled game of July 31, the two teams replay only that part of the game subsequent to the play in question; that the Chicago and St. Louis teams take the field as nearly as possible in lineup as in the game of July 2, and that the state of the game be the last half of the seventh inning, with W. Herman on third and English on second, with two out, and the score 5 to 1 in favor of Chicago.

Standing Same Until Game.

"Manager Frisch and Coach Gonzales, who were removed from the game because of an altercation with the umpire arising from this play, will be allowed to resume their positions. Paul Dean will be eligible to resume pitching.

"To avoid confusion of the records, the club standing, as well as the player averages, will stand, pending the official termination of the game.

"Signed, JOHN A. HEYDLER."

The Cubs had hoped that the Cardinal protest would be denied, but had no objections to the Heydler decision as handed down, especially since it will give them repartee material in future contacts with Klem.

The team was more concerned about their activities of tomorrow, a double header with the New York Giants which offers the possibilities of putting them in a first place tie with the Giants or four games back in the standings.

The Cubs have their two winningest pitchers, Guy Bush and Lon Warneke, ready for the clashes.

Manager Terry was undecided as to whether he would use Hubbell in one of the games tomorrow or let him rest till the final on Wednesday, Carl having pitched three innings yesterday in relief of Schumacher. In any event the two Giants pitchers will be selected from three candidates, Hubbell, Parmelee, and Fitzsimmons.

Cubs Want Long Hits.

The Cubs are out to do some long distance hitting tomorrow. The lads were rather startled to find in a review of the 27 hits they made in the first two games here, none was any bigger than a single. This probably is a record, and one which the batters do not want to extend, though, of course, they'd rather knock singles than have putouts.

Chicago Fan Wins $250 in All-Star Poll

Joseph Dahl, 5930 Iowa street, has been awarded the prize of $250 offered by THE TRIBUNE in its contest to pick the starting lineups in the All Star baseball game between the American and the National leagues at the Polo grounds in New York on July 10.

Out of the thousands of baseball fans throughout the central states who sent their votes to THE TRIBUNE, not one picked the exact starting lineups of either team. Mr. Dahl and C. A. Welton, 621 South 14th street, Mattoon, Ill., came the closest to the actual teams as they took the field with 15 of the 18 players in the exact positions which they played at the start of the game. Mr. Dahl was adjudged the winner because of the superiority of the letter which he wrote explaining the reasons for his choice of players. The decision was based on the neatness of his letter and the soundness of his views in naming the lineups.

Many Reverse Positions.

Nine other fans also chose 15 of the 18 players in the two starting lineups, but erred in one or more instances in assigning outfielders to positions, the chief stumbling block being the reversal of the positions of Al Simmons of the White Sox and Heinie Manush of the Senators. Simmons started in center field and Manush in left, whereas most of the fans placed Simmons in left and Manush in center.

Every one of the eleven who named 15 starting players picked the National league infield correctly with Bill Terry at first, Frankie Frisch at second, Pie Traynor at third, and Travis Jackson at shortstop, but not one of them named the American league infield correctly, all missing at third base where Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics started. Nine of the eleven picked Jimmy Dykes, White Sox manager, for that spot while the other two strung along with Pinkey Higgins of the Athletics.

All eleven agreed on Babe Ruth in right field for the American league and on the starting batteries of both teams. None chose Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs.

Outfield Fools 'Em.

Mr. Dahl, besides naming Dykes, chose Earl Averill of the Indians for center field on the American league team in place of Al Simmons and Chuck Klein of the Cubs in right field on the National league team in place of Kiki Cuyler, who started the game there. Mr. Welton missed a perfect record by naming Dykes and Averill in the American's lineup and Mel Ott of the Giants for right field on the National league team.

The run with which the Sox increased their slim advantage went over in the eighth at the expense of Rhodes. He walked Swanson, who went to second on Conlan's bunt. Dykes was thrown out by Lary after which Swanson rode across the plate on Bonura's double to right. Then, for a novelty, Earnshaw didn't permit anybody to reach base in the ninth.

AL SOTHORON TO LEAD A. A. STARS AGAINST MILLERS

Milwaukee, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—Al Sothoron, manager of the Milwaukee baseball club of the American association, will lead the association team of all-stars in the game with Minneapolis Thursday, he was informed today. The game will be played on the Millers' diamond.

Voting on the all-star lineup was restricted to a period between June 20 and July 10, and these players were to meet the team which led the association July 15. The all-star team:

Catchers—Rensa, Milwaukee; Brenzel, Kansas City.

Umpires — Goetz, McLaughlin, Johnson, Donahue.

SYMPHONY OF BIRDS, FLOWERS IN CHICAGOLAND

BY BOB BECKER.

The outdoor fan in Chicagoland can record many interesting nature notes at this time of the year if he keeps his eyes open in the garden, field, or woods these days. Here are a few of the things that deserve honorable mention in one's notebook concerning bird life, flowers, and other wild things of mid-July.

The wrens have their first brood of young out of the nest. On several evenings last week we were fooling around the garden in the rear of our home, standing within three feet of a wren nesting box containing young birds just about ready to leave home. While we stood near this clay wren house, the young birds stuck their heads out of the entrance to clamor for food. It kept the parent birds busy retrieving insects for the voracious youngsters.

During the time we watched this wren family, the old birds brought insects every minute and a half. Just a second or two to thrust the food into the throat of a young bird and away went the old bird for another bit of food. The trouble was that this insect killing job was done in our neighbor's yard, because the old birds flew about 50 feet to do their bug hunting. However, this feeding time gives one a good illustration of how many of our native birds destroy insects that all of us, including the farmer, can get along without.

The Black-eyed Susans, those gay flowers that come every summer to Chicagoland, now are in blossom everywhere. Another bright splash of color is the flower known as butter and eggs. Another name is the toadflax. Look for this flower which has two shades of yellow in it, the blossoms growing in terminal clusters at the top of the stem. One advantage of butter and eggs is that it grows on useless pieces of ground along the highways. [This plant was a favorite of the ladies years ago, because at one time the juice was used as a skin lotion.]

"SO.. IT'S THE HAVANA —IS IT?"

Yes—Mr. Smoker—your dealer is right! It's the Havana—real long-filler Havana—blended with just enough of the finest domestic that gives Bayuk PHILLIES the flavor that men like.

Today—at 5c—PHILLIES contains the same fine Havana—and the same quantity of it—as when it was the largest-selling 10c brand in America. Also the same fine imported Sumatra wrapper. Read Bayuk's Guarantee.

It is this amazing value for 5c that has made PHILLIES the choice of more men than any other cigar on the dealer's counter.

Experienced smokers tell us—and tell their dealers—that they get more real enjoyment from PHILLIES than from cigars costing double or triple its price.

For 5c today, you should demand—and get—a cigar containing real Havana. PHILLIES is guaranteed to contain long-filler Havana.

Bayuk's Guarantee

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America. Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Domestic and Havana long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

ARLINGTON FANS HAIL NEW STAR; IT'S BLUE BEARD

Daily Doubles

ARLINGTON PARK.

Blue Beard and Miss Melody..........$19.96

DETROIT.

Red Rod and Minnequa $120.40

BY FRENCH LANE.

Race goers who visited Arlington Park yesterday may have watched one of the great 2 year olds of the year win the second race in which 12 juveniles competed.

The horse was Blue Beard, an upstanding black son of Blue Larkspur-Herodias which races for W. R. Coe of New York. It was his first start. Eligible to the $60,000 Arlington Futurity and to most of the rich 2 year stakes to be run in the east during the autumn and fall, he made a show of his field.

When the battle ended he was three lengths in front of Gallaclay, a son of Sir Gallahad III. from the Milky Way farm stables. Toro Flight, owned by Norman W. Church of Los Angeles and a star of that stable, was third.

He Gets Away Slowly.

Most of the colts in this race were Futurity eligibles, which caused the event to attract unusual interest for an overnight 2 year old event. A hot tip had got out that the Coe stable would show its best 2 year old in Blue Beard and that he possibly was a better colt than Ladysman when he won the first running of the Futurity in the Coe silks two years ago.

As a result the crowd plunged on Blue Beard and he went to the post the favorite. His numerous backers groaned a bit when he was away slowly and was badly out run by Lackey in the early stages.

Blue Beard may be a bit lazy or else he didn't know just what to do after the field got away from the starting gate. Jocky Bobby Jones soon showed him what it was all about by applying the leather furiously as he rounded the turn in second place, still three lengths behind the easy running Lackey.

Whip Picks Him Up.

The sting of the whip moved Blue Beard on to greater things and as they wheeled around the last bend into the stretch he was up looking Lackey in the eye. He went on to win from there and ran straight and true down the final furlong, which made a hit with the big band of horsemen watching every move he made.

Blue Beard didn't run the race in time that was particularly fast. He rounded out the 5½ furlongs in 1:06 2-5. He semed to dominate his field on his class rather than by any sensational burst of speed.

Persons who had watched Blue Beard train for this race wagered on him with great confidence. As a result he paid $5.20 to win, $3.42 to place, and $2.70 to show. Gallaclay, which ran gamely all the way and merits a chance in the Futurity as a result of his effort, paid $5.90 to place and $3.46 to show. Toro Flight, after running far back early, finished with a rush and was at $3.08 to show.

Red John Loses.

The Wilmette purse was the best race on yesterday's program and it brought an upset when Red John, the odds on favorite, racing for Mrs. John Hertz, was beaten a neck by Gallant Mac, the fast stepping 3 year old from the Audley farm stable. Saint, a stable companion of Red John, finished third.

Gallant Mac was out in front all the way and cut out a rather slow pace. As a result he had plenty left in the final drive to hold the Hertz colorbearer safe, but could have not lasted more than a few strides longer.

Gallant Mac ran the mile in 1:38 2-5 and in the mutuels paid $7.14. The track, while to all appearance was fast, appeared to be a bit dead and few races were run in very fast time.

Cavalcade Is Rated at Top for Handicap

In the opinion of Jack Campbell, racing secretary and handicapper at Arlington Park, Cavalcade is a better horse than Equipoise. Campbell assigned weights yesterday for the $10,000 Arlington Handicap to be run Saturday. He gave Cavalcade 124 pounds, which is 10 pounds over the scale, and Equipoise 134, which is just eight pounds over the scale.

There isn't much likelihood of either Cavalcade or Equipoise going to the post in the Arlington Handicap, but the opinion of a handicapper of Campbell's ability on the relative merits of the two great horses was awaited with interest.

Among the horses being pointed for the Arlington Handicap, Ladysman and Indian Runner were assigned 120 pounds each. Indian Runner won the Stars and Stripes Handicap, in which Ladysman was a fast finishing third. Indian Runner will be out to make a clean sweep of the three handicaps offered for older horses. He accounted for the Inaugural before winning the Stars and Stripes.

Blessed Event, which was such a speed sensation in Florida last winter, turned in a fine workout at Arlington yesterday morning when he galloped seven furlongs in 1:26 1-5. He may be a dangerous [illegible] in the Arlington Handicap.

Trainer Bob Smith may decide to start the Brookmeade Stable's 3 year old Time Clock in the Arlington Handicap. He was hard held in a mile work out yesterday morning, which he galloped in 1:44.

Partridge. Went to post at 2:21. At post ½ minute. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

ONDOTT, under steadying reserve early, moved to the lead when urged, drew out gradually and won in hand. CURB BIT, cleverly handled, moved up steadily under mild urging, challenged gamely, closed resolutely, but could not overhaul the winner. KAPOSIA, outrun to the stretch, finished fast in a good effort.

Winner trained by H. Fontaine. Went to post at 2:51. At post 4 minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

BLUE BEARD, rated off the early pace, moved to the lead when ready, drew out after disposing of LACKEY and was never threatened thereafter. GALLA CLAY, rushed up to contention soon after the start, seemed to falter, but rallied to strong riding and closed fastest. TORO FLIGHT, fractious, was outrun for half a mile, closed resolutely under punishment, but was no match for the first two.

Ward. Went to post at 3:50. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

HOPE ETERNAL, moved up fast after half a mile, was lucky to get through on the inside, wore down the leaders, then drew out fast to win in hand. WILD PIGEON, in hand for the early racing, responded gamely to pressure, but was no match for the winner. HATHY, weakly ridden, failed to keep up.

Winner trained by J. F. Patterson. Went to post at 4:20½; off at once. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

GALLANT MAC, under stout restraint for five-eighths, drew out fast when urged, continued well to the final sixteenth where RED JOHN came with belated speed. Meade was caught napping and almost tossed the race off. RED JOHN, never far back and under mild reserve, gained gradually under punishment and appeared hopelessly beaten entering the stretch, but rallied gamely and almost overhauled the winner. SAINT, slow to find his best stride, closed gamely in the late stages.

GOLDEN WORDS, racing as if much the best, followed in close pursuit of the pace while being restrained, moved to the lead when urged, drew out fast round the turn, was then taken in hand and eased in the closing stages. PRINCE DOO, sent to the lead after the start, continued in front for half a mile, gave way when challenged, raced evenly to the stretch where he weakened and just lasted to outfinish TEMPLE DANCER. Latter closed a good gap and closed fastest.

Winner trained by Jay McNamara. Went to post at 5:15. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won ridden out; place driving.

LADY VA VA, cleverly handled, was taken in hand for the early racing, sent to the front approaching the stretch, attained a commanding lead, but had to be roused briskly to hold MISS CORINNE safe. Latter began slowly, was outrun for a half mile, gained steadily thereafter, closed gamely, but could not overhaul the winner. DOMINANT MISS, well up for a quarter, dropped back gradually, closed strong in the drive and was going gamely in the final stretch.

MEMBER BANKS' DEPOSITS RISE, LOANS DECLINE

Only Gain in Credit Is in Chicago District.

Deposits of federal reserve member banks in the 91 leading cities of the country showed an increase last week after a rather sharp decline in the week ended July 3. Commercial credit continued to contract except for Chicago, where there was a moderate advance.

Gross deposits of the member banks in the week ended July 11 advanced 164 million dollars of which 39 millions were accounted for in New York, 40 millions here and 85 millions in the other 89 cities.

There was an increase of 79 millions in individual deposits. Of this amount the interior cities accounted for 76 millions and Chicago 17 millions, New York reporting a loss of 14 millions.

Inter Bank Deposits Rise.

Inter bank deposits showed increases. There was a gain of 53 millions of "other bank" deposits in New York banks, 23 millions here and 10 millions in banks in the 89 other cities.

Government deposits remained unchanged in New York and Chicago, but showed a decline of 1 million elsewhere.

Total loans and investments eased 15 millions in New York, but increased 2 millions here and 3 millions in the other 89 cities. Collateral loans in New York advanced 3 millions contrasted with 38 millions in the preceding week. In Chicago there was a contraction of 3 millions, the same amount as in the preceding week, and the 89 cities also reported a drop of 3 millions.

Commercial Credit Shrinks.

Commercial credit declined 28 millions in New York, advanced 3 millions in Chicago and eased 4 millions in the 89 other principal cities. Including the figures for the two major cities, commercial credit declined 29 millions.

Both Chicago and New York member banks reported moderate expansion in their holdings of government bonds, the former by 6 millions and the latter by 3 millions. Holdings of the 89 other cities declined 5 millions, leaving a net gain of 4 millions for the week.

New York increased its portfolio of other than government securities by 4 millions and Chicago reduced its holdings 1 million. Other cities increased their holdings 15 millions.

SILVER FUTURES.

NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP)—Silver futures were unsettled on the Commodity exchange today and after fluctuating narrowly throughout most of the session, closed unchanged to .15 of a cent an ounce lower. Trading was moderate, the turnover aggregating 300,000 ounces. July closed at 46.60c, unchanged from the previous trading day, and March ended at 47.85c, compared with 48.00c. During the day approximately 5,375,000 ounces were tendered for delivery against July contracts. Bar metal remained unchanged at 46⅜ cents an ounce.

PEABODY BOOSTS CLASS A PAR TO END UTILITY RULE

Voting Strength Only 5,000 Shares.

Voting strength of the class A common stock of the Peabody Coal company was reduced from 200,000 to 5,000 shares yesterday when the adjourned stockholders' meeting increased the par value of each unit from $25 to $1,000.

This action was the final step in eliminating utility companies from any considerable voice in the coal company's management. Agreement by the Illinois commerce commission to revise contracts with various utilities is the only matter remaining unsettled in the revamping which puts an end to another Insull conceived scheme of control. The various utility concerns already have agreed to the revised contracts.

Own Most of Class A Stock.

The stockholders' action yesterday in reducing class A voting strength is of moment almost entirely to utility companies who own all save $40,000 to $50,000 of the stock whose par remains at $5,000,000. Dividends remain fixed at 6 per cent per annum, but the cumulative provision is eliminated. Extra dividends are to be distributed on the basis of 1 per cent of the par of class A shares to 25 cents on each class B share.

Principally involved in the divorce proceedings are Commonwealth Edison company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and People's Gas, Light, and Coke company, although stock was held by a widely scattered number of power concerns.

Return to 15 Cents a Ton Profit.

The new contracts, now agreed to by both parties and subject to approval of the commerce commission, propose a return to a basis of 15 cents a ton profit. The utilities concerned are required to take only 75 per cent of their needs from the Peabody company and agree to surrender substantial blocs of class B stock.

U. S. GIVES HALF BILLION POUNDS SUPPLIES TO IDLE

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(AP)—A half billion pounds of surplus foodstuffs, fuel and blankets have been gathered and distributed by the Surplus Relief corporation during the last nine months.

The corporation announced today it has purchased and distributed 546,374,000 pounds of surplus foodstuffs, 13,240,135 bushels of feed grains, 194,697 bags of citrus fruits, 427,090 gallons of sirup, 1,066,460 pounds of grass seed, 1,147,652 tons of coal, and 1,025,500 blankets to the needy unemployed.

The foodstuffs consisted of pork, lard, canned beef, butter, cheese, flour, cereal foods, dried apples, and beans. Feed grains have been delivered to farmers in drouth and storm areas for their live stock. Grass seed is being used for various work projects.

NOTE HOLDERS OF ILL. CENTRAL TAKE NEW ISSUE

Around 90 per cent of the Illinois Central's $20,000,000 4½ per cent notes which became due on June 1 have been deposited under the road's plan to take care of the maturity, it was stated yesterday. The road's plan was made operative when a substantial part of the notes was deposited.

It was explained yesterday that there has been some delay in getting all the notes in because of the difficulty of getting in touch with all holders of them. Other notes not yet deposited are held by estates in process of settlement and by closed banks.

Under the road's plan 37½ per cent of the notes were paid in cash through a $7,500,000 loan obtained from the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the balance was paid in three year 6 per cent notes.

Evaporated Milk Marketing Pact Up in Chicago July 24

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(AP)—The farm administration today set July 24, as the date for a public hearing at Chicago on proposed changes in the marketing agreement for the evaporated milk industry and a proposal to establish a license to enforce the agreement. The changes would remove maximum resale prices established for manufacturers and place the membership of the governing committee on a volume basis.

595 COMPANIES SHOW INCREASE OF 236 PCT. IN EARNINGS FOR 1933

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—An increase of 236 per cent in the 1933 net income of 595 industrial, railroad and utility corporations is shown in the composite income account of Standard Statistics company. Net profit of the group was $2,124,000,000 for 1933, against $1,461,000,000 shown in 1932, an increase of 45 per cent.

The difference between the percentage of net income and net profit increases is due to the static factor of fixed charges. The total reduction of dividends during 1933 amounted to approximately 20 per cent from 1932.

Lack of the usual underwriting facilities to finance expansion is clearly emphasized in the consolidated balance sheet of the 595 companies. Cash and equivalent was reduced by 4.6 per cent last year to $4,304,000,000.

A continuation of the deflationary trend mainly characterized the first quarter of 1933, the report shows. This necessitated maintenance of the policies which had proved advantageous during the previous depression years. Sharply rising prices for raw materials caused a marked change in the second quarter.

WHEAT PARLEY WILL TRY AGAIN TO CONTROL CROP

LONDON, July 16.—(AP)—In an effort to salvage something from the now abandoned 1933-'34 wheat export agreement, the international wheat advisory commission today announced a conference will begin in London on Aug. 15 to consider export quotas and production limitation during the coming year.

The announcement, signed by Ambassador Robert W. Bingham as chairman, takes cognizance officially for the first time of the fact that Argentina violated the old export agreement, but Argentine participation is assured in the new conference.

"Thus far it has not proved possible to reach an agreement" with Argentina, the announcement read, "but arrangements have been made to try for a fresh start affecting the next crop."

There were indications that Argentina will be offered a considerably smaller export quota for 1934-'35 than the 110,000,000 bushels granted for the last year and exceeded by a considerable margin.

"Despite the drouth in certain countries, the 1934-'35 crop is certain to be sufficiently substantial to leave the world with surplus stock at the conclusion of the crop year of a size to continue a menace to world wheat prices," said Bingham's announcement.

PULLMAN TRAVEL SHRINKS IN MAY; ABOVE YEAR AGO

Pullman car travel in May showed a decline from the April volume, although showing some improvement over May, 1933, according to the report for the Pullman company, sleeping car company affiliate of Pullman, Inc. In May, 1934, the company had a deficit after taxes of $328,757 compared with a deficit of $95,090 in April and a deficit of $446,456 in May, 1933. Gross revenues for May stood at $3,333,617 compared with $2,711,023 in May, 1933.

For the first five months of 1934 the company had a deficit after taxes of $186,974 compared with a deficit of $2,034,660 for the like period of 1933. Gross revenues during the first five months of 1934 totaled $17,668,892 compared with $14,226,454 in the same period of 1933.

Orders of Allis Chalmers About Double Last Year

New York, July 16.—(AP)—Allis Chalmers Manufacturing company booked orders amounting to $5,982,212 during the quarter ended June 30, it was announced today. This compares with $3,047,223 in the June quarter last year. Orders received during the first six months of 1934 totaled $10,579,868 against $4,767,789 in the first half of 1933.

Melville Shoe Four Week Sales Increase 21 Per Cent

Melville Shoe corporation yesterday reported that sales for the four weeks ended July 7 amounted to $2,152,583, compared with $1,770,716 in the corresponding period of last year, an increase of more than 21 per cent.

LUMBER PRICES CUT 8 TO 10% TO BOOST BUILDING

Decrease 15% Including Previous Slashes.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(AP)—Reductions of from 8 to 10 per cent in the price of all lumber products ordinarily used in house construction was announced today by NRA. Cooperation with President Roosevelt's housing program was the announced objective of the reductions.

The reductions were made by the lumber and timber products code authority and approved by Hugh S. Johnson. Taken together with the recent price cut by retail lumber dealers, NRA officials said today's order would mean slashes of between 14 and 15 per cent in prices to the consumer.

To Aid Housing Program.

"The reductions announced today," NRA announced, "were made in accordance with the previously expressed pledge of the industry to cooperate to the fullest extent in the housing program.

"The new schedules, although primarily intended to stimulate house construction or modernization, will also include price reductions in grades and sizes for items used for other purposes such as, for example, the manufacture of wooden packages.

"In his order today the administrator declared an emergency to exist in the lumber industry—the emergency justifying the establishment of minimum prices based on reasonable costs determined and approved in the order. Prior to the issuance of the order the administrator approved an amendment of the code authorizing him to determine reasonable costs during an emergency in the industry."

Effective Next Friday.

John D. Tennant of Longview, Wash., chairman of the lumber code authority, announced in a statement issued by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association that the reductions would become effective Friday. He said they were decided on "in principle" a month ago, but were postponed pending NRA approval.

The reductions will apply to virtually all lumber and woodwork products used in home construction, 80 per cent of the total production, Tennant said. He added hardwoods would not be reduced as much as soft woods because less were required for small home building.

"A firm basis for the prosecution of price violators" was seen by the code authority in Johnson's order directing that "no persons subject to the jurisdiction of the code shall sell or offer to sell or otherwise dispose of any products of the industries involved at less than the reasonable costs."

SPEYER & CO.'S PARENT HOUSE TO BE LIQUIDATED

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 16—The Frankfurt-am-Main banking house of Lazard Speyer-Ellissen, parent house to Speyer and company of New York, will be liquidated Oct. 1. Notice to this effect issued by the firm says that impaired health prevents its head, Herbert Beit von Speyer from conducting the business and that his associates, nearly all members of the Speyer family, have unanimously resolved to liquidate.

Herbert, who was wounded in the war, is the sole surviving son of Eduard Beit von Speyer who died last year. His elder brother, Irwon, was killed in the war.

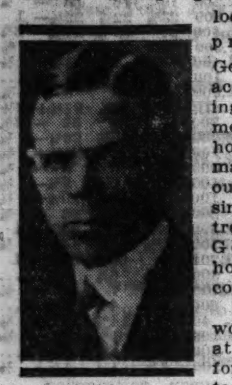
U. S. DEMANDS EQUAL PAYMENT ON GERMAN DEBT

Strong Note Calls for Immediate Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—The United States government today lodged a formal protest against Germany's recent action in extending special treatment to British holders of German bonds without according similar favorable treatment to the German bondholders of this country.



WM. E. DODD.
[(C) Moffett.]

In a sternly worded note left at the German foreign office late today by American Ambassador William E. Dodd, the government insisted that American investors in German securities are entitled to the same treatment as that accorded the bondholders of any other nation. While the policy heretofore has been one of non-interference in matters between foreign governments and private American investors, the United States government firmly pointed out that it nevertheless is acutely interested in the welfare of its nationals who now hold bonds of the German government.

Calls for Immediate Action.

"The United States government considers it essential," said the note, "in view of the commitments reported to have been entered into by the government with respect to British holders of German bonds, to insist that measures be taken without delay to assure equally favorable treatment to American holders of such securities."

The German arrangement with respect to British bondholders, it was understood, extended special treatment to the British in return for certain trade concessions in favor of Germany.

The text of the note to the German foreign office, made public today by the department of state, is, in part, as follows:

"The German government is aware, as a result of the repeated representations, written and oral, that have been made to it, both through the American embassy at Berlin and through its own embassy at Washington, that this government considers as an escapable responsibility of the German government the extension to American investors of treatment that is no less favorable than that which is or may be accorded to the investors of other countries.

Offers No Inducements.

"The American government does not feel that this expectation can be made contingent upon its entering into special agreements as new and additional inducements to the observance of that obligation. It should perhaps be pointed out that the American government has consistently pursued a policy of refusing to undertake direct negotiations of settlements on behalf of holders of foreign securities. Since the original contracts were entered into with private citizens insofar as the United States is concerned, this government has felt that subsequent negotiations for settlements should be left to the direct representatives of the bondholders. This, however, has in no sense implied indifference to the treatment accorded them.

"With respect to the specific situation now under consideration, the American government desires to stress the fact that it cannot recognize the claim on the part of a foreign government to withhold such equal treatment or to render it contingent upon special agreements involving trade concessions, clearing arrangments, or similar measures.

"In the circumstances the American government must request an early indication on the part of the German government of the remedial measures which it proposes to take."

STEEL INSTITUTE SETS OUTPUT AT 28.8% OF CAPACITY

New York, July 16.—(AP)—The indicated rate of steel operations for this week is 28.8 per cent compared with last week's indicated rate of 27.5 per cent and 56.1 per cent a month ago, the American Iron and Steel institute reported today. The gain over the previous week was 1.3 points or 4.7 per cent.

The further slight recovery in ingot production, as estimated for the week, establishes a gain of more than 5 points above the seasonal low level, 23 per cent, reached during the week beginning July 2. This period included the Independence day holiday.

WALL STREET MEN BECOME AIR COMMUTERS

New York, July 16.—(AP)—A group of Wall street men flew to work today inaugurating what is expected to be a regular summer commutation service.

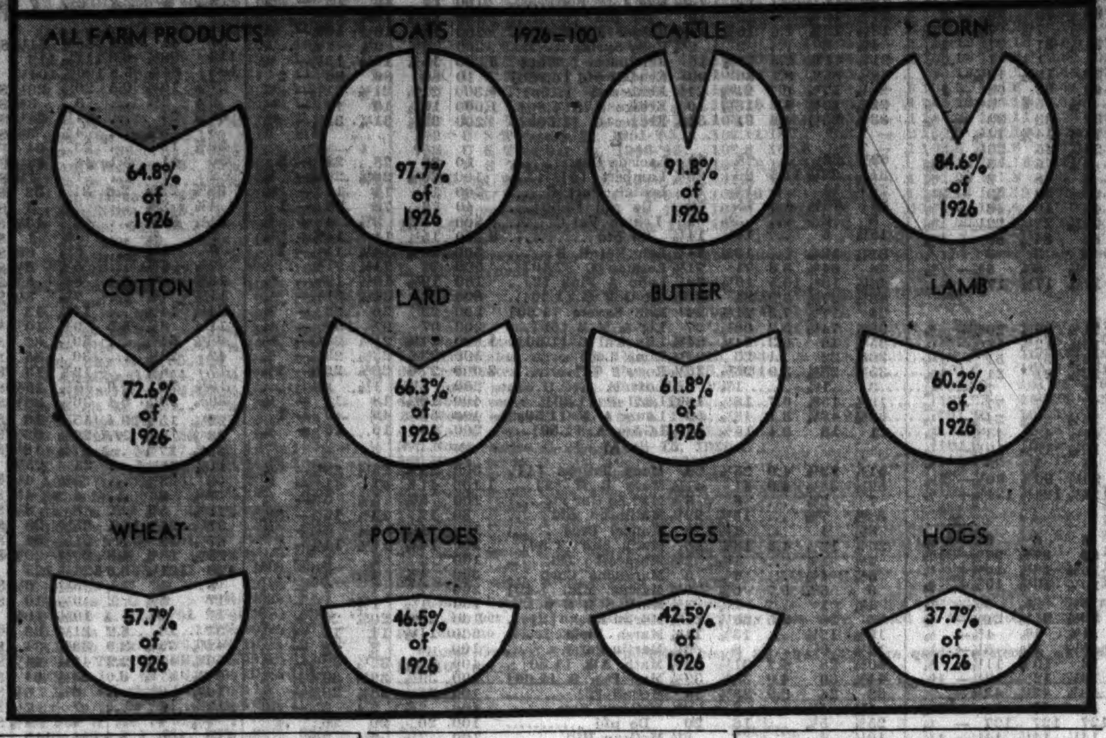
Carrying six passengers, a large seaplane flew from Oyster Bay, on Long Island, to the foot of Wall and South streets in 19 minutes.

One of the commuters, C. G. Cleveland, for whom no train has ever backed up, arrived just after the takeoff. He signaled the plane and it returned and picked him up.

German Importers Allowed Only 5% of Exchange Needs

BERLIN, July 16.—(AP)—The foreign exchange control office today announced that for August importers are allowed only 5 per cent of their normal foreign exchange requirements and 10 per cent of the usual commercial acceptances.

How Do Present Prices Compare With the Average for the Year 1926?



CANNERY TO 'FIRE' 25% OF MEN UNLESS U. S. ENDS CATTLE KILLING

A 25 per cent reduction will be made in the staf of 800 employés of the Griess-Pfleger Canning company, Waukegan, officials of the firm announced yesterday, unless Secretary of Agriculture Wallace reconsiders his plan to slaughter immediately 4,100,000 head of cattle in drouth stricken areas.

The placing of this amount on the market, officials of the company said, will seriously affect the canning and hide industries. One officer of the firm declared that possibly 50 per cent of the employés would be discharged.

The hide market, especially, would be unfavorably influenced by the huge influx of cattle if Secretary Wallace carries out his plan. Shoe manufacturers, it was said, have already ceased to purchase hides, having an ample stock on hand. The price recently dropped from 9½ cents a pound to 7½ cents, due to an overstocked market.

A committee representing the Canners' Council of America will go to Washington, probably today, to interview Secretary Wallace. The canning industry desires to have the slaughter pro rated over a period of months in an effort to steady the sagging market.

DOLLAR HIT BY FOREIGN SALES ON STRIKE NEWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—Speculative selling of the dollar abroad, on the news of the general strike in San Francisco, caused a sharp advance in the principal foreign exchanges today. Francs rose ⅞ point to 6.60⅞ cents, a movement which was equivalent to a fall of .2 cent in the dollar to 100.37 per cent of parity. Sterling was ⅛ cent higher at $5.04¼ and other important exchanges gained in dollar valuation except the German mark, which was unchanged.

Dutch Guilders rose 4 points to 67.82 cents, Belgian Belgas 4 points to 23.39 cents, Swiss Francs 9 points to 32.69 cents, Italian Lire ½ point to 8.59 cents, and Scandanavian exchanges were 1 to 4 points dearer. The Canadian dollar showed no change at 1⅛ cent premium.

Wall Street heard reports of dealings in dollars in the "Black Bourse" in Berlin at a substantial discount, reflecting efforts of German capital to flee the country in spite of the official restrictions. Such reports, however, received no confirmation in banking circles, where it was remarked that if undercover selling of German marks for foreign exchange were going on in Germany none of that business would be seen by the important banks.

Although the advance in the principal foreign exchanges revealed the presence of bear pressure abroad on the dollar there was little activity in this market. A factor in the greater strength of the gold standard exchanges was the report from Paris of a favorable reception for the new government loan.

SUE DIRECTORS OF CAPITAL BANK FOR $2,595,991

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(AP)—John J. Moran, receiver for the closed Park Savings bank, today filed suit for $2,595,991 against 28 directors for losses incurred by the institution as a result of their alleged negligence. The bank, with liabilities of $3,973,107, was closed on March 4, 1933.

Moran's petition charged a $112,000 loss from "thefts by Robert S. Stuntz of customers' notes left for collection," and a loss of $1,596,796 from "irregular transactions" of Stuntz, "to whom directors gave complete charge of the bank without supervision, investigation, or audit."

Stuntz committed suicide shortly after the bank closed.

U. S. Ready to Begin Housing Project Here

BY AL CHASE.

Coleman Woodbury, secretary of the Illinois State Housing commission, who has spent several weeks in Washington conferring with Public Works Administrator Ickes, Col. Horatio B. Hackett, head of the housing division, and other federal housing authorities, yesterday announced that an actual start toward a federal low cost housing project in Chicago was expected shortly. He made this announcement at "A Century of Progress Better Housing forum," sponsored by 500 women's organizations—city, state, and national—held at the Lumber Industries model home in the planning area at the World's Fair.

Mr. Woodbury also admitted, for the first time publicly, that Chicago's long delayed federal housing projects had been held up by two big local housing groups, which, he stated, had been in Washington for a long time "with a program of ballyhoo and misrepresentation as a smoke screen and who have stopped at nothing to further their own interests."

Says Groups Delay Program.

"Our local program for building federal housing projects has been held up by the working of several groups," continued Mr. Woodbury. "Right now, however, their activities seem to be about deflated and I believe within a very short time an official announcement of federal activity in the local housing field will be made. Washington has made a serious attempt to iron out the difficulties over the question of sites."

Mr. Woodbury said that city planners always have overlooked housing in their programs and now advocates of housing are on the brink of making the mistake of not relating housing to city planning.

"Our housing craft will flounder if attention isn't paid to this point," he said. "Many of our slum areas may not be the right place for new projects. The worst areas often are not the best places for housing.

Sees Good Sites Plentiful.

"There's plenty of land in Chicago and no need for placing a housing project up against a railroad track or beside an industrial plant. The buildings should be near transportation, schools, churches, major recreation areas, industries, etc. The areas should be large enough and so located that they can expand when needed."

Kathleen McLaughlin, woman's editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, urged her club women listeners to keep posted on housing. She pointed out that the thousands of club women in Chicago could be a tremendously potent factor in getting Chicago the right kind of housing if rightly directed.

Other speakers stressed the importance of having club women get back of a better housing movement for Chicago. Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing council, said such a program could not go through unless they backed it.

John Reed Fugard, chairman of the council, told of the work already accomplished in wrecking condemned slum dwellings. He said 260 men are now at work on demolition and this number is expected to be doubled within a month or so.

Treasury Discount Bills Sell at Former Low, 0.07%

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—The treasury announced today that its latest offering of 182 day bills was sold at an average rate of about 0.07 per cent on a discount basis, equalling the previous low record. Accepted bids ranged from 99.970, equivalent to about 0.06 per cent, to 99.963, equivalent to about 0.07 per cent. The average bid was 99.965, or close to 0.07 per cent. Subscriptions totaled $207,015,0000 of which $75,144,000 was accepted. The bills were dated July 18.

HUGE BORROWINGS ALARM THOUGHTFUL MEN, SAYS DR. BUTLER

New York, July 16.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, said today that "thoughtful men everywhere are alarmed at the stupendous borrowings which are going forward" over the world.

"Economic recovery and readjustment to new and greatly changed conditions is everywhere being held in check by violent economic nationalism which has taken possession of so many countries," he said.

Dr. Butler, returning from Europe on the Bremen, astonished interviewers on shipboard by saying he had nothing to say. For years it has been his custom to discuss world problems at length whenever he has returned from abroad.

Later from his home he sent a prepared statement to the press.

Borrowing, he said, was bothing "thoughtful men" since "some day or other these borrowings, however vast, must be met either by payment or by repudiation in whole or in part, or by nominal payment through inflated currencies."

Dr. Butler said he did "not recall having heard the word 'war' or the possibility of war mentioned by any responsible person." He presided over a meeting in Paris of the European committee of the Carnegie endowment for international peace of which he is president.

AM. TELEPHONE NET $3.32 SHARE FOR HALF YEAR

Net income of the American Telephone and Telegraph company for the six months ended June 30, amounted to $61,999,195, equivalent to $3.32 a share on capital stock. It compares with net of $66,224,134 or $3.55 a share in the corresponding period last year. The figures were reversed in a story appearing in THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

Total earnings were $112,147,109, compared with $116,192,637 in 1933 and expenses, including taxes, amounted to $37,965,538, against $37,493,369. The company was forced to dip into surplus to the extent of $21,981,042 to cover dividends declared totaling $83,980,327.

Net income of the Bell system as a whole, including the Western Electric company, equaled $3 a share for the period, compared with $2.40 a share last year, according to Walter S. Gifford, president.

AAA IS PAYING 30 MILLION MORE TO WHEAT GROWERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Payment of an additional $30,000,000 to wheat farmers was started today by the Agricultural Adjustment administration with the mailing of $1,258 to 58 farmers in Ralls county, Mo. These payments form the second instalment on bonuses for 1933 wheat crop reduction.

The second instalment is being paid at the rate of 9 cents a bushel, less expenses. It marks the closing of the first full year of the wheat curtailment program during which about 7,500,000 acres were held from production by about 577,000 farmers.

R. Hoe & Co., Press Maker, Asks Right to Reorganize

New York, July 16.—(AP)—R. Hoe and company, incorporated, printing press manufacturers, petitioned the federal district court today for permission to reorganize under the bankruptcy act. The corporation, which has been in receivership since April 21, 1932, listed current assets of $3,918,035 and current liabilities of $441,278. Total assets were placed at $9,374,676 and total liabilities at $9,271,054.

WHEAT RESISTS PRESSURE; DIPS ONLY SLIGHTLY

Corn Strong on Cut in Visible Supply.

Wheat prices stubbornly resisted selling pressure here yesterday. The market fluctuated uncertainly throughout the day, but confined its movements to a two cent range and closed fractionally lower. Volume was only moderate.

Intense heat in the southwest and a material decrease in the visible supply of corn resulted in better support for that grain, which was as much as a cent higher at the end of the day. Other grains followed wheat and finished at small losses.

At the close wheat was ¼ to ⅝ cent lower with September at 98¼ cents. Corn was ⅝ to 1 cent higher, September at 61⅝ cents. Oats were ⅛ cent higher to a half cent off, September at 44⅞ cents. Rye was unchanged to 1¼ cents under the preceding session with September at 70⅝ cents. Barley eased ¼ to ⅜ cent.

Outside Markets Strongest.

Outside markets led Chicago in strength. An accumulation of new wheat receipts at leading points resulted in heavy hedging pressure, but this was absorbed by steady buying by commission houses and local professionals.

Markets which now have the most wheat are enjoying the best demand. As a consequence Kansas City prices have gained consistently on values here during the harvest movement. Mills and elevators have been paying fancy premiums on new crop wheat, apparently anticipating difficulty in obtaining supplies from other markets later in the season. Reports from the spring wheat territory confirm a steadily growing impression that Minneapolis will have little wheat to sell when the normal movement to market commences.

Liverpool Wheat Gains.

Liverpool closed somewhat higher as gloomy European and oriental crop news flooded the British market. Winnipeg displayed strength early, but followed Chicago most of the session. Only a small export business in Canadian wheat, placed at 400,000 bushels, was reported.

Report late in the session of an increase of 9,665,000 bushels in the visible supply of wheat, bringing the total to within 30 million bushels of last year's figure at this time, momentarily resulted in a selling flurry which proved short lived. Significance of the sharp upturn is lost when it is remembered this year's harvest is unusually early and rapid and a strong demand exists for new wheat.

Reports from Kansas and Oklahoma of damage to the corn crop were offset by optimistic advices from the central belt which has been helped by recent generous rains.

Rumors of more Polish rye being shipped to the United States caused selling in the July future, but both September and December contracts attained new highs for the crop at 71⅝ and 73¼ cents, respectively, before a late reaction occurred.

DU PONT NETS 96C PER SHARE IN SECOND QUARTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. reports preliminary earnings for the June quarter equal to 96 cents a share on the common stock, including income from its investment in General Motors corporation equal to 22½ cents a share on du Pont common.

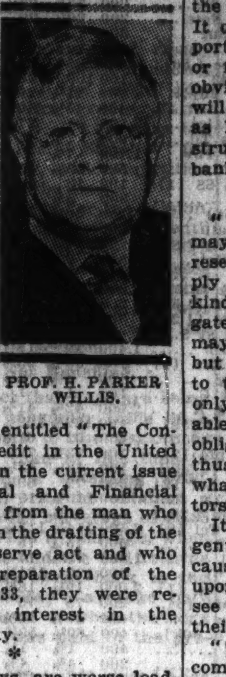
This compares with 90 cents a share on the common, including 22½ cents a share from General Motors, in the preceding quarter and 68 cents a share, including 23 cents from General Motors, in the June quarter last year.

For the first six months net income was equal to $1.86 a share on the common, including 45 cents a share from General Motors, against $1.03 a share, including 46 cents a share from General Motors, in the first six months of 1933. The figures include the company's equity in undivided profits or losses of companies not consolidated.

Banks 'Frozen' by U. S. Bonds, Former Reserve Officer Warns

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Asserting that banks of the United States today are more "frozen" than ever because of their vast holdings of United States government "deficit" securities, H. Parker Willis, former secretary of the federal reserve board and now professor of banking at Columbia university, predicts that the New Deal financial policies can lead nowhere but to disastrous inflation.



PROF. H. PARKER WILLIS.

Dr. Willis' remarks are contained in an article entitled "The Condition of Bank Credit in the United States" published in the current issue of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle. Coming from the man who was instrumental in the drafting of the original federal reserve act and who assisted in the preparation of the banking act of 1933, they were received with great interest in the financial community.

The banks, he says, are worse loaded down with government securities now than they were with corporate securities in 1929, and he adds that a disastrous decline in the value of government securities is just as possible as was the decline in the value of corporate securities in 1929.

It all depends upon public confidence, he says. For several years prior to 1929 the public was so confident of the value of corporate securities that such securities enjoyed an exceptionally strong market and prices stayed up. At present, he points out, government securities are enjoying much the same sort of popularity experienced by corporate securities in 1929. And in addition the treasury is rigging the market for government securities by using the proceeds of the gold devaluation operation and other special funds to buy back its own bonds.

"There has probably never been a time when our banks were worse 'frozen' than they are today," says Dr. Willis. "There has never been a moment when they were in less favorable position to meet their obligations in something other than government credit, if called upon to do so.

"The ability of the government to meet its maturing obligations is dependent entirely upon its capacity to induce fresh borrowers to come forward with further contributions of funds.

"It may dragoon the banks into such action for a good while, but eventually a positive check to further operations of the sort is afforded by a flight from the currency, or from the securities of the government itself. It cannot continue indefinitly to support its outlays by issuing currency or fiat credit, and when such issues obviously exceed current incomes they will lose value and eventually collapse, as has been the case with all such structures of unsound finance since banking was first initiated.

"When that time comes the banks may still be able to obtain from the reserve banks [so long as the supply of print paper lasts] the same kind of money which they are obligated to pay to their customers, and may thus continue perfectly solvent, but their solvency will be of no value to their stockholders, who will have only the empty satisfaction of being able to claim that they have met their obligations in depreciated paper, and thus to be legally free of duty to pay what they have promised their depositors."

It is, says Dr. Willis, a situation of genuine danger—the more real because financial and political leaders upon whom the public is depending to see the financial road ahead have their heads buried in the sand.

"Thus far," he adds, "the banking community shows as little consciousness of its actual position—or, at all events, as little willingness to admit the true nature of the situation—as it did before the crisis of 1929.

"False security and self-assurance that all is well, despite the warnings that never yet in financial history have proved false, are the inevitable forerunners of disaster. Precisely when, or in what exact form, the disaster will come is a matter of secondary importance—save to those who profit from such disturbances and who make their gain from the losses of the community."

The present policy of dragooning the banks into loading themselves with the federal government's deficit and gambling everything upon the ability of the treasury to continue successfully to rig the market for such paper, Dr. Willis explained, would eventually bring paper money inflation.

"The time must come, as things are now going, when individuals will become less and less willing to accept either currency or government bonds in exchange for services or wealth; and when, therefore, what is loosely called 'inflation'—in this case simply relative worthlessness of currency—will accordingly supervene," he says.

When the time comes for the government to redeem the bales of bonds that it is printing and consigning to banks, says Dr. Willis, a secure foundation can be placed beneath the nation's currency and credit only through "the infliction of correspondingly heavy taxation." Either that or repudiation or cancelation of currency, he says, will be the ultimate result.

He recalls that prices of government bonds have fallen before and that after the war they dropped as low as 82. The banks, he admits, have one "out." If bond prices drop they can cart their bonds to the federal reserve banks and hock them for federal reserve currency. Much of this sort of operation, however, would soon break down public confidence in currency as well as in government bonds, he believes, and would lead to that rush of commodity buying which would herald the beginning of public recognition of this thing called "inflation."

RAIL EARNINGS BETTER FOR MAY AND 5 MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—Improved earnings for May and the five months, after taxes and charges, were reported by a number of the principal railroads.

The Pennsylvania railroad reported May net income of $2,176,381, against $1,348,091 in the month last year. For five months the net income was $7,319,722, against $117,931 in the period last year.

The Reading company's net income in May was $640,977, against $617,421 last year; five months, $3,349,964, against $985,862.

The Delaware and Hudson railroad's May net loss was $268,171, against net loss of $419,659 in the month last year; five months' net loss, $800,215, against $2,674,757.

The Southern railway's May net loss was $457,049, against net loss of $73,371 last year; five months' net loss, $524,868, against net loss of $2,347,824 last year.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey's May net loss was $207,816, against net loss of $346,385; five months' net income, $118,681, against net loss of $731,154.

N. Y. Bank Reports Gain in Commercial Paper Total

New York, July 16.—(AP)—The New York Federal Reserve bank reports that $151,300,000 of open market commercial paper was outstanding on June 30. This compares with $141,500,000 at the end of May and $73,000,000 at the end of June, 1933.

To the Holders of Debenture Bonds of Troy Laundry Machinery Company, Inc.

and

To the Holders of Convertible 4% Debentures of American Machine and Metals, Inc.

You are notified:

One. That pursuant to the provisions of Section 1 of Article II of its Indenture dated as of May 1, 1934, to The Marine Midland Trust Company of New York, the Board of Directors of American Machine and Metals, Inc. has determined that the rate of conversion of it Convertible 4% Debentures into stock of said Corporation shall be changed, effective at close of business August 1, 1934, from 80 shares to 50 shares of stock for each $1,000 principal amount of said Debentures.

Referring to the Offers of Exchange dated May 22, 1934, from said Corporation to holders of 6½% Debentures of Troy Laundry Machinery Company, Inc., you are notified that said Board of Directors has also determined:

Two. That Offer No. 1 of said Offers of Exchange is modified, effective as at close of business August 1, 1934, so that after that time 70 shares instead of 100 shares of stock of said Corporation will be issued in exchange for each $1,000 principal amount of said 6½% Debentures deposited with all coupons attached maturing after July 1, 1934.

Three. That Offer No. 2 of said Offers of Exchange will continue unchanged except that it must be noted that it is in substance modified by the change in rate of conversion mentioned in the foregoing paragraph "One".

A copy of said Offers of Exchange together with the papers accompanying the same and together with more detailed notice of the aforesaid modifications will be furnished upon application to the Company.

Said Offers as modified will continue to be subject to termination or change of terms at any time by the Company's Board of Directors upon such notice by publication or otherwise as the Board in its discretion deems reasonable.

SECURITIES ACT CHANGES FAIL TO AID FINANCING

Contend Penalties Not Eased Enough.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(AP)—Modification of the securities act of 1933, relaxing the severe penalties it imposed upon the issuers of faulty stocks and bonds, so far has brought no increase in the volume of securities offered to the public.

JOHN J. BURNS.

Scanning preliminary figures, not yet ready for publication, federal trade commission officials today reported that, as measured by applications received, there had been a slight decline since the changes became effective.

Behind this development lies a yearlong controversy between big business organizations on the one hand and congressional liberals and the liberal advisors of the President on the other.

Declare Business Injured.

The former contended that the original bill, the purpose of which was to prevent the mulcting of the investing public by unscrupulous promoters, was operating to ham-string legitimate business. The law, they claimed, was not only keeping worthless securities off the market but good stocks and bonds as well for the reason that persons were reluctant to open themselves to the heavy liabilities contained in the act, even by inadvertence.

They argued that because of this situation the lagging heavy industries were unable to obtain the financing they needed for an expansion that would aid the general recovery program.

This contention was vigorously disputed, both in congress and out. Finally the administration agreed to modifications of the law, but spokesmen for business objected that the amendments enacted were not sufficiently broad to relieve the condition of which it complained.

May Seek Further Changes.

If the condition reported today at the trade commission continues, it undoubtedly will be made the basis of further modification drives at the next session of congress.

Final figures on June flotations will show a slight increase over May, due officials said, to a single flotation which came prior to the effective date of the securities act amendments. These became law on July 1.

Appointment of John J. Burns of the Massachusetts Superior court to be the commission's general counsel was announced today. The commission also appointed Baldwin B. Bane, now chief of the securities division of the federal trade commission, to be executive assistaant to the new commission. William O. Douglas of the Yale Law school will have charge of the division of reorganizations.

STOCKS RECEDE; FEAR SPREAD OF PACIFIC STRIKE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—The Pacific coast strike and the fear of its spread to other parts of the country cast a pall over Wall street today. Stock prices suffered a general set-back, although the losses were confined to one or two points. While the losses were moderate in size, the scope of the fall was general enough to disturb confidence. Sales continued slow and the total trading for the day again was at low ebb.

U. S. Steel, the old bellwether, slumped with the general list, despite a small increase in operations. American Telephone and Telegraph held up well, regardless of a rather poor earnings report. Automobile stocks were not helped to any appreciable extent by reports of higher shipments and other groups failed to overcome the effect of strike news.

Inflation Rumors Renewed.

Aside from strike developments, Wall street was interested in fresh rumors that some new kind of inflation is in store for the country. The reports were too indefinite, however, to have any direct effect upon stock market prices, but there was perhaps some effect upon hesitant buyers, who continued to be hesitant. "Watchful waiting" was the policy of both buyers and sellers.

Details of stock trading were even less calming than a sight of the market as a whole. The recently favored sugar shares looked a bit tired. Alcohols continued to weaken, especially commercial alcohol, National Distillers and Schenley. Those stocks only recently were being shoved up strongly, but now much is talked and written of disappointing consumption of the product and falling profits.

Rail Group Under Pressure.

The railroad issues were under the greatest pressure, due to the belief that the roads will have difficulty in obtaining sufficient additional revenue to offset additional expenses because of the recently enacted federal pension law, higher wages which will be put into effect over a period of nine months and higher prices for materials and supplies as a result of the NRA and other causes.

It is believed the interstate commerce commission will grant higher freight rates but such an increase probably will cause increased competition from other modes of transportation, particularly motor trucks.

American Can fell out of the "hundred club" in losing 2 points. Most utilities were weak. Columbia Gas retreated further.

Strength in U. S. Smelting, which touched the best price on record in the early trading, and a similar gain in Homestake, did not help other mining issues.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—Bond prices moved generally lower today in quiet trading, marking the first time in more than a week that all classifications of domestic corporation bonds weakened simultaneously. Transfers totalled only $9,198,000, par value, against $9,764,000 last Friday.

Losses for the domestic issues ranged from small fractions of 4 points. United States government long term issues closed generally lower, off 5-32ds to up 2-32ds point.

Speculative Issues Decline.

The principal losers in the domestic corporation group were speculative issues. The utilities, rails and industrials averaged lower in the order named. Market Street Railway of San Francisco, 7s due 1940, broke 2½ points on the news of stoppage of the lines on account of labor disorders.

Other losers included Western Pacific firsts 5s, Warren Bros. 6s, Southern Railway 4s, Nickel Plate 4½s, N. Y. Central convertible 6s, Louisville & Nashville uniform 4s, International Telephone 5s, Hudson Coal 5s, Erie 5s of 1975, Columbia Gas 5s, Chicago & North Western 4¾s, Chesapeake Corp. 5s, Santa Fe general 4s, American Water Works 5s, and American & Foreign Power 5s.

A Few Issues Gain.

Among the gainers were Alleghany Corp. 5s of 1944, American Telephone debenture 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s, Cleveland Union Terminal 4½s, Consolidated Coal 5s, Laclede Gas 5s, North American 5s, Reading 4½s, Sinclair Oil 7s, Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s, and U. S. Rubber 5s.

Foreign loans were irregularly higher. The German issues failed to move in unison. The Dawes Plan 7s broke 3 points and the Young Plan 5½s dropped 2⅜ points, losing all of Saturday's recovery. Other German issues finished up 1 to down 3 points. French government and United Kingdom loans were fractionally higher in light dealings. Argentine government issues were weak, although the balance of the South American list was steady.

PRICES OF HOGS POINT UPWARD ON GOOD BUYING

Top, Including Tax, $7.25—Cattle Weaken.

Hog prices yesterday ruled steady to 10 cents higer, with $7.25, including the processing tax to the federal government, paid for top grades. Farmers received $5 for such kinds, the tax amounting to $2.25. Supplies fell short for a Monday, and competition was brisk much of the time.

The general average for the session, tax included, at $6.85, compared with $6.80 on Saturday and $6.85 last Friday. Few head except inferior classes of pigs, which have been almost worthless as meat since the tax was increased to its present rate, were left at the close of the session.

Farmer Not Benefited.

Despite the fact that hogs are being moved into the consumer trade on a basis of live costs to the packer 50 per cent higher than at this time in 1933, the farmer is obtaining practically the same price he obtained a year ago. Yesterday's average of $6.85 compared with $4.55 a year ago, when there was no tax and the full returns from the hog sale went back to the farmer. Of yesterday's average only $4.60, or 67 per cent of what the hogs cost the packer, was paid to the producer.

Best grades of 180 to 350 pound hogs sold to packers at $7 to $7.25, while most of the packing sows cost $6.15 to $6.60, farmers getting $3.90 to $4.35 of the latter prices. Inferior grades of pigs including the $2.25 tax, cost $3 to $3.50.

Cattle Supply Large.

Heavy shipments of government owned cattle consigned direct to the packers to be slaughtered for the needy swelled receipts above normal here and at all of the leading market centers. The combined total at seven markets, 129,000 head, including 48,000 "governments," compared with a total of 87,000 the previous Monday, when 14,400 were governmnet owned. A year ago the run was 56,000 at the seven points, all commercial stock.

Offerings on the regular market after drouth stock had been deducted proved too heavy for the trade and prices were steady to 25 cents lower. Better grades showed losses of 15 to 25 cents, while cheaper kinds and most of the yearlings maintained a largely steady price basis. Butcher stock also sagged, cows selling weak to 25 cents lower and canners and cutters weak to 10 cents lower.

A big share of the cows being slaughtered by the government for the needy are nothing but "shells," quotable on the trade at $1.50 and less. Some would not sell above $1.00.

Calves Drop 25 Cents.

Calves slumped 25 cents, selected vealers selling on local account at $5.50, with a few for shipment up to $6.00.

Most of the beef steers going for slaughter cashed within a range of $5.75 to $9.00, one shipment of 1,340 pound averages making $9.75. Nothing eligible to sell at the $10.15 quotation carried by the trade for top grades arrived yesterday.

The disastrous break in the lamb market continued through yesterday's session and carried prices to new lows for the year. Natives were handpicked by city butchers at $7.50 and under, while packers closely sorted their selections at $7.25 and below. Top classes from the same crop were selling up to $10.00 early in June.

PRICES OF FARM PRODUCE HIGHER THAN MONTH AGO

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(AP)—A general level of farm prices somewhat higher than in mid-June was reported today by the bureau of agricultural economics. Prices of cotton, hogs, and some cattle were higher on July 15 than a month ago, while grain prices were somewhat lower.

Prices received by farmers on June 15 were 77 per cent of the pre-war level compared with 74 in May and 64 in June, 1933. Prices paid by farmers for commodities during June were 122 per cent of the 1910-1914 average compared with 121 in May and 103 in June, last year.

BASE NEW TRADE PACT WITH CUBA ON BENEFIT TO AMERICAN FARMER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Advantages the American agriculture might gain through the new commercial treaty with Cuba, now under negotiation, were discussed at a conference today between Secretary Wallace and Sumner Welles, assistant secretary of state.

The conversation hinged largely upon possible increased exports to Cuba of American lard and other pork products in return for a more favorable tarif differential on imports from that country, particularly of sugar. The entering wedge in the Cuban negotiations was held to be the concessions given the island by the United States under the Jones-Costigan sugar act in a large quota and subsequent reduction of the tarif on Cuban sugar by one half cent a pound.

Efforts of the department of agriculture in connection with the pending new treaty have been toward reviving the Cuban market for American lard which, from 1928 to 1932, averaged about $11,000,000. The value of this export was reduced by 1933 to $800,000, a loss equivalent to the output in corn from about 1,000,000 acres of land, according to agriculture officials.

Although neither of the conferees would discuss details of their conversation, they had before them figures showing a reduction in the value of United States exports to Cuba from $125,300,000 in 1929 to $24,800,000 in 1933. On the import side, the reduction was from $207,400,000 to $58,300,000. Thus, while Cuban-American trade has been traditionally "unfavorable" to this country from the standpoint of trade balance, it is even more so now.

HOLDS CASUALTY OFFICIALS LIABLE FOR $4,000,000 LOSS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 16.—A decision by Supreme Court Justice Samuel Rosenman holding five officers and directors of the defunct Equitable Casualty and Surety company liable for damages for wasting the company's assets and other alleged improper acts was announced today. Judgments for nearly $4,000,000 in the suit of George S. Van Schaick, superintendent of insurance, in his accounting action as liquidator of the surety company, were entered.

The action was brought against all the directors as one of the last steps in liquidating the company and as a result Superintendent Van Schaick expects to declare a first payment for creditors of not more than 10 per cent, payable on Oct. 1. A number of the directors settled while the case was in progress, and the trial before Justice Rosenman was continued against Harold Spielberg, former chairman of the board; Bernard Spielberg, his son, and William Herschaft, Robert J. Maloy, and Oscar F. Grab.

One of the charges of waste sustained by the court involved the purchase by the company of 50,000 shares of the Capital City Surety company from Samuel D. Friedman, nominee of Harold Spielberg for $500,000. The court held this transaction improvident and "a grossly negligent, hazardous, and ill advised method" of saving a company of which Harold Spielberg was practically the sole stockholder, and that the directors who authorized the purchase were liable.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

The major New York banking group which had planned to bid for the new issue of $7,919,000 of bonds which the city of San Francisco had scheduled for award yesterday decided not to bid. They explained that in view of the paralyzing union labor strike they could not afford at this time to offer the city a price which the bonds would ordinarily be worth.

On the other hand, the bankers pointed out, bids reflecting the present strike situation would necessarily be low and might tend to impair the city's credit standing, which has always been held to be among the best of the country.

The new bonds had originally been intended for sale to the Public Works administration at 4 per cent but had been scheduled for public sale with the expectation of a lower borrowing rate.

Further details on the issue of $2,000,000 City of St. Louis, Mo., school district bonds to be sold on July 20 were made public. The bonds will be dated Aug. 1, 1934, and will mature serially from 1940 to 1954. Bidders are asked to name the rate of interest in multiples of ¼ of 1 per cent.

Further details were also disclosed on the issue of $1,800,000 of bonds which the City of New Orleans, La., proposes to award on July 24. The bonds, issued to finance sewerage, water, and drainage construction, will be dated Aug. 1, 1934, and will mature from 1936 to 1955, the rate of interest is fixed at 4 per cent.

The state of Arizona awarded a new issue of $42,000 of refunding bonds, due in 25 years, callable after 15 years, to Ure, Pett & Morris, Inc., of Salt Lake City, Utah. The price paid was 101.65 as 3¾s.

A group including the Bankers Trust company yesterday purchased $3,552,000 of Commonwealth of Massachusetts notes dated July 20, 1933 and due Nov. 2, 1934 at .09 per cent plus a premium of $11. The second highest offer was that of the First Boston corporation—.17 per cent plus a premium of $30.

An issue of $2,962,000 state of South Carolina 4½ per cent highway certificates of indebtedness was placed on the market yesterday at prices to yield 4.30 to 4.35 per cent. The bonds, which are due serially from Aug. 1, 1944 to 1953, were issued to refund a like amount of state highway obligations.

U. S. EXTENDS ALL CORN-HOG LOANS ANOTHER MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Farmers who agreed to store their corn under government seal in return for federal loans of 45 cents a bushel are to have an additional month in which to meet their obligations, the farm administration announced today.

To give producers ample time in which to gauge the portion of stored stocks required for feeding this winter, the AAA extended the maturity date on its corn loans from Aug. 1 to Sept. 1. The precarious condition of the corn crop, it was explained, makes it now impossible for producers to ascertain the extent to which the new crop will have to be augmented by corn from stocks on hand. Damage to forage crops was one of the most severe consequences of the drouth, it was pointed out, and the feed situation is universally acute.

Won't Disturb Market.

"The extension of the maturity date of loan notes to Sept. 1 will permit many farmers who need corn under seal for feeding purposes to make necessary arrangements in the meantime for discharging the loan obligations and will permit a continuation of the orderly discharge of loan notes by farmers who are now in a position to make settlement, as well as make provisions for their own feeding requirements," the announcement stated. "The maturity date extension, therefore, will prevent any unnecessary disturbance to the corn market by providing this gradual settlement of loan notes."

Although farmers, under the corn loan program, may sell their stored corn at any time the price rises above the 45 cent loan level, and apply proceeds of the sale to the federal obligations, only about 4 per cent of the corn held under government seal has thus far been withdrawn in this manner. This 4 per cent withdrawal, AAA officials said, has occurred within the last month when corn prices on the farm have ranged several cents higher than 45 cents a bushel.

Stocks and Pledges.

In the ten states in which government corn-loans were made, officials pointed out, corn stocks on July 1 amounted to some 382,753,000 bushels. Of this total, 256,532,000 bushels is pledged and can only be withdrawn by payment.

"In Iowa, where the bulk of the loans were made," the AAA commented, "the amount of corn not under warehouse seal is only about 15 per cent of total stocks and will not be sufficient to carry feeding operations through fall months. In Illinois and Nebraska it is also apparent that a substantial percentage of the pledged stocks will be needed.

"Under the several alternatives for settlement before maturity date and in view of the extension of the loan note maturity, borrowers will be enabled to make such arrangements as will leave on the farm at least the amount of corn to be required for feeding."

In all, approximately $121,300,000 was loaned on 270 million bushels of corn. Of this amount, $6,000,000 has beeh repaid.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., July 16.—Greasy combing domestic wools in Boston are receiving some inquiries from manufacturers, but the inquiries are regarded by most wool houses as a more or less routine checkup of the new wools as they arrive. The thoroughness of the recent surveys made by manufacturers has placed them in a position to buy large quantities of wool in a very short time.

Estimated receipts of domestic wool in Boston, reported to the Boston Grain and Flour exchange [during week ending July 14], amounted to 10,304,400 lbs., compared with 6,132,900 lbs during the previous week.

UNITED PUBLIC, UTILITY UNITS' PLANS OFFERED

Call for Formation of New Companies.

New York, July 16.—A plan of reorganization has been arranged for the United Public Service company and United Public Utilities company in connection with petitions filed in the federal court at Chicago recently to reorganize under the national bankruptcy act. It calls for the formation of two new companies in New Jersey to be called United Public Service corporation and United Public Utilities corporation, respectively, to acquire the assets of the old companies.

United Public Service corporation would be vested with all assets of United Public Service company, including collateral held by the Middle West Utilities company. Also it would acquire 148,055 class B common shares of United Public Utilities corporation to be issued in exchange for the $1,792,000 demand note of United Public Utilities company and common shares of that company held by United Public Service company which would surrender and cancel all preferred stock held in United Public Utilities company, including any such preferred held by Middle West Utilities as part of the collateral securing a $5,401,000 note.

Single Class of Stock.

United Public Service corporation will have a single class of stock, to be issued in exchange for present securities of United Public Service company as follows: One share for each 100 common shares; one-half share for each share of $7 and $6 preferred stock; 1½ shares for each $100 of 6½ per cent debentures; two shares for each $100 of 6 per cent collateral trust bonds; 2½ shares for each $100 of the note held by Middle West Utilities company, allied service company's deficiency, and notes of the City Ice company of Kansas City, Southern United Gas company, and Western United Gas company. No new stock would be delivered on account of any accrued interest on old securities, and all provable claims not otherwise dealt with by the plan would be assumed by the reorganized company.

United Public Utilities corporation would be vested with the assets of the United Public Utilities company including collateral pledged under first lien bonds. The new company will issue its securities as follows in exchange for the old: For each $100 of present A, B, and C first lien bonds will be delivered $50 of new convertible collateral trust bonds, ratably secured by the same collateral as present first lien bonds, and one share of new convertible cumulative no par preferred stock and one share of voting class A common stock, represented by a voting trust certificate.

Pay Interest in Scrip.

Interest accrued on first lien bonds to date when interest began to accrue on collateral trust bonds would be paid in ten year scrip bearing 5 per cent interest.

Holders of 6 per cent [A and C] first lien bonds would receive collateral trust bonds bearing 6 per cent interest and preferred stock carrying annual dividends of $3 a share; holders of 5½ per cent [B] first lien bonds would receive new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest and preferred stock carrying dividends of $2.75 per annum.

The $470,000 demand note of United Public Utilities payable to Allied Service company would be canceled, but the $451,000 series A and C bonds securing the note would be treated as stated.

Holders of preferred stock of United Public Utilities company, excepting United Public Service company, would receive 1½ shares of class B common stock for each preferred share, regardless of the series. All provable claims not otherwise dealt with under the plan would be assumed by the new company.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Supplies of butter here yesterday were light and demand good. Prices were unchanged to ½ cent higher. Demand for eggs was heavy and supplies were small, resulting in a strong tone. Live poultry was unchanged with the exception of Plymouth Rock fryers, which dropped a cent. Potato prices were easier and trade rather moderate.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was not very active today and after showing advances of 1 to 2 points on further covering, the market reacted under increased liquidation due to the disappointing action of lard. Final prices were 3 to 4 points net lower. Sales were 38 contracts, including considerable exchanging from September to January at 30 points difference. Bleachable spot nominal: July close, 6.10c; September, 6.21c; October, 6.27c; December, 6.44c; January, 6.50c.

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES CLOSE SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Butter and egg futures gained after the opening on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday but failed to hold, losing all or part of the early advances. Butter closed unchanged to ½c higher, eggs gained ¼@⅜c.

Strength in wheat early aided the advance in butter. The movement of butter into storage totaled 68,000 lbs. less than last year.

Buying of eggs was fair at times but profit taking entered Octobers after the delivery struck 19c. July fresh firsts gained with the cash market. Octobers displayed fair strength near the close. The four markets reported 1,200 cases more in than last year. Receipts were moderate. Sales: butter, 62 cars; eggs, 38 cars. Deliveries: butter, 5 cars. Receipts: butter, 12,658 tubs; eggs, 8,686 cases. Prices follow:

COTTON PRICES RISE FIFTY TO SIXTY-FIVE CENTS A BALE

Cotton prices moved higher yesterday but late profit taking reduced a portion of the advantage. Final prices were about 50 to 65 cents a bale higher.

Southern spot sales last week were 36,362 bales, against 20,185 for the same week a year ago. Spot prices rose 15 points in New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston to 13.15, 13.05, 13.05 cents, respectively, and gained 20 points in New York to 13.25 cents.

MISS WINKLE, NOW THAT WE ARE LOCATED IN THE NORTH WOODS, WE MUST FIND A QUIET LOCATION SPOT WHERE WE CAN WORK OUT OUR STORY UNMOLESTED!
THE TOP OF THIS BIG MOUNTAIN, OUTSIDE THE LODGE, IS JUST THE PLACE !!
WELL, WE'VE GOT EVERYTHING WE NEED FOR WORK! WE'LL ASK ONE OF THE NATIVES HERE WHICH IS THE NEAREST PATH TO THAT MOUNTAIN TOP !!
WELL-ER-IT WON'T TAKE US LONG TO REACH THE TOP, WILL IT ??
NOPE - ONLY ABOUT THREE DAYS !!

NOTICE

To the Holders of the 6% sinking fund gold bonds of

TEXAS GAS UTILITIES COMPANY.

The Texas properties of Texas Gas Utilities Company are being administered in receivership through the District Court, 63d Judicial District of Texas, at Del Rio, Texas. The receiver has filed a report and a proposed plan of reorganization. A hearing will be had on said report on August 2, 1934, at the Court House in Del Rio, Val Verde County, Texas, at ten o'clock A. M. Central Standard Time, to determine the fairness of the terms and conditions of the proposed plan and whether authority will be given to submit same and to solicit the deposit of bonds thereunder for exchange; said hearing to be open to all interested parties and to all persons to whom it is proposed to issue securities in such exchange.

DIXIE DUNN,
Clerk, District Court, 63d Judicial District, Del Rio, Val Verde County, Texas.

TO HOLDERS OF SECURITIES OF AMERICAN INSURANCE UNION, COLUMBUS, O.: Please take notice that a hearing will be had before the Court of Appeals of Ohio at the Court House of Franklin County, Ohio, in the city of Columbus, Ohio, at 2:00 P. M., July 20th, 1934, upon the fairness of terms and conditions of a proposed exchange of securities of American Insurance Union, and all holders of said securities have the right to appear and be heard.

Martial Law Asked as General Strike Chokes San Francisco—$65,200 Zukor Jewels Recovered; Six Held
